GUAM, May 19 [Saturday]—(AP)—American troops ground out small local gains on the southern Okinawa front yesterday in some of the island's most intense fighting, but failed to capture either of their prime objectives, Naha or Shuri cities.

So savage was the Japanese resistance that the 6th division marines near Naha and the 77th infantry division were forced to capture two small hills twice before apparently securing them.

Adm. Nimitz said the enemy's lines were "being defended with the greatest tenacity of the entire operation" as the 10th army smashed at the strongly fortified "little Siegfried line" stretching across Okinawa from Naha on the west coast to Yonabaru on the east.

Destroy Two Battalions

He estimated that the 6th division destroyed two battalions of counter-attacking Nipponese troops in their advance from the Asa to the Asato river guarding Naha. This advance represented about one mile and required nearly a week, so bitterly did the Japanese fight back. The leathernecks repulsed a number of small but savage counter-attacks in this push.

Especially vicious was the fighting on 150 foot "Sugar Loaf" hill east of Naha, where for seven days 6th division marines repeatedly charged the natural fortification and were thrown back.

One Hour Grenade Duel

But on the ninth charge up the slopes the marines, their lines thinned by casualties, stayed on top, said Al Dopking, Associated Press front correspondent.

Dopking said that as long as the Japanese retain positions in tunnels and caves on the slopes of the hill they can make Naha untenable for the Yanks.

The most spectacular action was the one hour grenade duel in which G company of the 383d infantry finally drove counter-attacking Japanese off the crest of Conical hill, near the east coast. The company then captured the peak.

Doughboys Lose Hill

The 307th regiment of the 77th division captured a small hill three times but still was unable to hold it. The doughboys seized the hill, north of fortress Shuri, twice on Wednesday afternoon, but each time were driven off. Thursday morning they recaptured the ridge, but once more were forced to retire under heavy artillery and enemy fire.

Units of the 1st marine division captured a Japanese command post on the crest of a small hill between Dakeshi and Wana town only after overcoming strong opposition from cave-hidden Japanese.

A few enemy planes appeared over the Okinawa area late Thursday and Friday. Nimitz did not say whether they were able to reach their targets, or whether any were shot down. He reported for the first time that army fighters supported the ground action, along with escort carrier and Okinawa-based marine planes and warships.

Ground troops were supported on May 17 and 18 by heavy gunfire from ships of the fleet and by aircraft from escort carriers and from the 2d marine air craft wing and 318th army fighter group.

STOCKHOLM, May 18 (AP)—Sweden has expressed regret to soviet Russia that an article on Premier Stalin in the Swedish weekly Obs gave an unfavorable impression of the Russian leader, an authoritative source said today.

Canada to Use 30,000 Troops Against Japs

EDMONTON, Alta., May 18 (AP)—Canada will send about 30,000 soldiers, a naval force of 13,500, and an unspecified number of air force personnel into the war against Japan, Prime Minister MacKenzie King announced tonight.

Apparently in reply to opposition criticism of his announced policy that only volunteers would be sent to the Pacific, and assertions that Canada was not making an all-out effort against Japan, the prime minister disclosed Canadian plans in a special statement.

Settled at Quebec

"The broad lines of Canadian participation in the Japanese war were settled at the Quebec conference in September, 1944," he said.

The prime minister said the naval force would comprise men of all ranks and the army would send a force composed of an infantry division supported "by the appropriate armored and ancillary troops to operate with the United States army."

Special Campaign Pay

An air force also will be sent to the Pacific, altho its precise character and strength have not yet been settled, King said. The scale of "the R. C. A. F. participation will not be disproportionate to that of the other two services," he added.

He said personnel chosen for Pacific duty would be from among those who had elected service in that theater and that a special rate of campaign pay had been approved.

Yank Refuses to Go Home If His Dog Can't

WITH THE U. S. 7TH DIVISION, Okinawa, May 18—A division headquarters officer telephoned 1st Sgt. Charles J. Morey at his post in a field artillery battery in the area just north of Shuri.

"Sergeant, I've got good news for you," said the officer. "You're one of the first of 30 7th division soldiers eligible to return to the United States for discharge under the new point system."

"Do I have to take my discharge?" Sgt. Morey asked. He was told he could take a furlough, then ask for reassignment and stay in the army.

What! No Dog?

"Can I take my dog along?" the sergeant inquired. The lieutenant said he was sorry, but he didn't think the dog would be allowed on the plane flying the sergeant homeward.

"I guess I'll skip it," the sergeant said.

"It's this way," the sergeant told this correspondent. "Tojo, here [indicating a fat, homely, tan colored mongrel that snapped at the writer's outstretched hand in a spirit of friendship], he's my kind of a dog. He came to us last July at Fort Shafter and picked me out of the whole division.

"He's got attached to me, and I can't very well leave him."

Wins a Bronze Star

Sgt. Morey joined the army in Philadelphia, his birthplace, in 1921, and has been in it ever since. While garrisoned in California he met and married the former Dorothy Laycock of Monterey, the mother of two daughters by a former husband—Shirley, 8, and Theda Marie, 6. Charles Jr. was born to the couple three years ago.

Morey last said good-by to his family 22 months ago, and since has seen service on Kiska, Kwajalein, Leyte, and Okinawa. He got a bronze star in the Leyte campaign.

"Tojo joined the division in July and we left for here Sept. 8," the sergeant said. "We were on the landing ship 42 days. Tojo guarded my gear all the way.

Dog Gets Battle Fatigue

"He doesn't like people very well—above all, he hates sailors—but he doesn't want any trouble. During the Leyte campaign he dug himself a foxhole near my head.

"He didn't used to be gun shy, but now when he hears a fire mission ordered he takes cover. I guess he's getting battle fatigue. They say dogs are especially sensitive."

Efforts are being made to obtain joint ship passage for Morey and Tojo.

CONSTERNATION IN VALHALLA

DOES A DAY'S WORK IN HOUR

British M. P., 73, Shows Up Young Fellows

LONDON, May 18 [Reuters]—A cheering crowd in a courtyard of the British parliament today saw Harry Selley, 73 year old member of parliament and a knight, wield trowel and plaster like a demon to make good on his claim that he could lay 800 bricks in a day.

Perspiration pouring down his face, the white haired M. P. laid and plastered feverishly, alternately taunted and refreshed with draughts of beer by the man who took him up on his offer, George Hicks, parliamentary secretary for the ministry of works.

Off to a Fast Start

The test arose from a house of commons debate on housing on March 23. Selley asserted that the ministry of works "target" of 200 to 300 bricks a day for bricklayers was "absurdly small," and that he could lay 800 in a day of eight hours. If he failed, he said, he would give $4.50 for every brick short of the total to any nominated charity. Hicks took him up and a hospital was nominated to receive the money.

In the palace of Westminster's courtyard today, with plenty of bricks and plaster at hand, Selley made a flying start on building a wall and worked with such energy that in less than half an hour he had laid 110 bricks.

Hicks, smiling under what Americans might call a 10 gallon Stetson hat, abandoned the smile for an anxious expression as Selley increased his pace.

Hospital Gets No Cash

"I can't let him go on for more than an hour at this rate," Hicks muttered, "he'll kill himself."

The redoubtable Harry gave his derby a tug and raced right on, however.

"It looks as if the hospital will have to look elsewhere for its money," Hicks said, and so it proved.

Selley finished the first hour with a flourish. He had laid 200 bricks.

Hicks, fearful lest an eight hour shift at that pace might make Selley ill, insisted that the hour should stand token for eight hours. He led a cheer for Selley. Selley, who said he hadn't used his bricklayer's tools for 45 years, was led away by friends to have a bath—and perhaps another beer.

POLISH PATRIOTS JAILED BY REDS, GEN. BOR SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 18—Before the ill-fated Polish patriot uprising in Warsaw last August, the home army attempted to establish liaison with the Russians, but every time officers were sent to make contact they were arrested by the Reds, Lt. Gen. Tadeusz Komorowski [Gen. Bor] liberated commander of the Polish forces said today.

The general charged that whenever the Russians captured a Polish city the commanders of Polish units were arrested and their units disbanded.

"Many hundreds of Polish officers and tens of thousands of troops were involved," he said, "and thousands of my former soldiers now are filling soviet prisons and concentration camps."

The bald, one eyed soldier of two wars said he would vouch for the 16 Polish underground leaders, whom the Russians have said they arrested, as "Polish patriots, good democrats, and genuine contributors to the fight against Germany.

'FANCY PANTS' CONSULS HIT

Asks for Business Men in Foreign Posts

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 18—A hard hitting American salesman who never owned a pair of striped pants is needed in every American embassy and consulate, a senate committee studying the problems of small business in foreign trade was told today.

The speaker was F. L. Hopkinson, vice president of Willys-Overland Motors, Toledo, O., who appeared before the committee as chairman of the international trade relations division of the National Association of Manufacturers' trade policy committee.

"We need," said Hopkinson, "one man in every legation and consulate who left behind his striped trousers and frock coat—or better yet, who never owned such an outfit.

"We want men on our farthest world trade firing lines who are out morning, noon, and night, hitting hard in the interest of American business and American jobs and not scintillating at some diplomatic tea party. This has been an outstanding feature of British practice for generations and we need to copy it today."

Hopkinson also recommended the creation of a government agency for the education of small business on the opportunities of doing increased overseas business.

The United States can do no greater service to business, Hopkinson said, than to base its international economic relations program on the removal of international trade barriers such as cartels.

U.S. SEIZURE OF LINES URGED UPON TRUMAN

Police Told to Keep Goods Moving

The national war labor board sent telegraphic summonses late yesterday to officials of the independent Chicago Truck Drivers' union, the 6,500 members of which have been on strike two days, crippling food and war material shipments in the Chicago area. The union leaders were ordered to attend a meeting in Washington tomorrow. Other strike developments were:

1. Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Tuohy warned the strikers that the city police will tolerate no violence in the strike.

2. The WLB notified the strikers that their appeal, for a rehearing of a wage dispute that led to the strike, will not be considered while the strike continues.

3. The regional WLB recommended to the national board that it cancel strikers' draft deferments, and expunge an order awarding them back pay averaging about $100 each.

Nonstrikers Make Plea

The mayor and the state's attorney met with Commissioner Allman and Sheriff Mulcahey after receiving pleas for intercession from business men and nonstriking truck drivers.

Kelly and Tuohy emphasized that there must be no interference with the nonstrikers, most of whom are members of a rival union, local 705 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, an AFL affiliate, which has denounced the independents' strike as unpatriotic and illegal.

"We assure those men legitimately employed, that they will be protected," Tuohy said. "We will brook no interference with those who want to work."

"Law and order will be preserved," added Mayor Kelly. He said that, while police will not ride trucks, they will be everywhere to protect them. He was not taking sides, he said, but just determined that there be no impairment of vital cartage service.

400 Police to Keep Order

It was understood that Commissioner Allman, in line with the mayor's stand, will have 400 police squads patroling the streets and at strategic trucking centers today.

The independent union voted Wednesday night to strike in protest against a WLB award granting a basic $4.08 wage increase for a 51 hour week, plus retroactive pay to Jan. 1, 1945. The union had demanded a basic $5 boost for a 48 hour week. WLB officials charge that the strike is illegal because the drivers struck before the expiration of a 30 day cooling-off period required by federal law.

The rival I. B. T. local 705 also demands the $5, 48 hour scale, but its leaders declared a strike would be illegal. Only 100 I. B. T. members walked out in sympathy with

Vinson Tells Meat Plan; No Quick Relief

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 18—War Mobilizer Vinson tonight moved to get meat back into the retail markets of the nation thru establishment of new subsidies to slaughterers and "protected" prices to the stock grower.

Vinson, apparently President Truman's answer to the demand of the senate food investigating committee for appointment of a supreme food administrator to coördinate OPA and war food administration policies, said the subsidies and support prices are designed to "increase the feeding of beef cattle, to encourage the maximum slaughter of cattle and hogs, and to improve the distribution of meat."

Congress' Findings "Considered"

Vinson said in a statement that the recommendations of both the senate and house food investigating committees have been "carefully considered." The senate committee Tuesday demanded that OPA make drastic changes in its control of meat supplies or face revision of the price control act.

"While the new program is expected to improve distribution and to make more meat available in areas of the country where relative shortages have been most pronounced, it will take some time for the effects of the program to be felt," Vinson said. "Consumers should not expect any immediate increase in retail meat supplies as a result of the program."

The program falls into three main divisions, namely inducements to encourage feeding of beef cattle, increases in the margins for processors of meat, and improvement of distribution.

Price Protection Offered

For the cattle feeders Vinson ordered:

1. That there be no downward revision of the "overriding ceiling prices" or "in the maximum of the stabilization ranges for beef cattle, except bulls," without at least six months advance notice.

2. Effective May 19, the Commodity Credit corporation will pay to the seller 50 cents per hundred pounds on AA and A grade cattle sold for slaughter [sold for $18.25 or more per 100 pounds, Chicago basis] weighing 800 pounds or more, and which have been owned by the seller 30 days or longer.

Pork Subsidy Increased

For slaughterers, Vinson ordered:

1. That the Defense Supplies corporation increase the pork subsidy payment 40 cents per live hundredweight, retroactive to April 1, 1945, and making the total pork subsidy $1.70 per live hundredweight compared with the previous rate of $1.30. This rate will be in effect only until completion of a "thoro accounting study."

2—Subsidy payments on all grades of cattle be increased by the Defense Supplies corporation 25 cents per live hundredweight, effective June 4.

To improve distribution, Vinson said that set aside orders for government purchases of meat will be adjusted by the WFA so that a greater portion will be drawn from federally inspected plants which are slaughtering more than their normal proportion of the total slaughter.

V-3 Weapon: Guns 400 Feet Long

New York, May 18 [Special]—The British information service today disclosed details of Germany's secret V-3 weapon, to which Prime Minister Churchill referred briefly in his address of May 13.

If the weapon had been used, Churchill said, it would have left "London as shattered as Berlin."

The launching site was discovered at Mimoyecques, near Calais, France. There were two batteries of long range guns capable of hurling rocket shells at a rate of 600 an hour on London 95 miles away.

The British report said the guns were smooth-bore barrels, each 400 feet long and sunk 350 feet into the hills at an angle of 55 degrees. They had been arranged in two batteries of 25 guns each.

No ammunition was found, but it was estimated that the shells would have weighed 120 pounds, with a 40 pound explosive war head. The shells were to be carried to the site on a standard gauge railway thru a solid concrete tunnel 700 yards long, 30 feet high, and 25 feet wide.

The whole installation, covering several acres, was protected by 18 feet of concrete. Parts had been assembled for the construction of elevators. Outside the entrance was a 4,000 kilowatt electric generator, also inclosed in thick concrete.

The launching site was only one of several under construction along the French coast. Others were at Wizernes, Watten, Lottinghem, Siracourt, Sottevaast, Martinvaast, and on the Cherbourg peninsula. The construction at Wizernes suggested that it was intended for another kind of weapon.

Huge bomb craters around Mimoyecques, 30 to 50 feet deep, is the explanation why the V-3 never went into action. Constant heavy bombing so hampered the construction work that in the summer of 1944 the Germans abandoned it.

STALIN DELAYS IRK U.S.; VOW TO ACT AT PARLEY

Monday Deadline Set by Delegates

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 18—The American delegation's patience with Russian Premier Stalin, who is slowing down the work of the international security conference, reached the breaking point tonight.

Stalin is yet to make known his position on the regional peace enforcement arrangements submitted to him a week ago.

The American delegates decided tonight to move the regional arrangements amendment into consideration by a conference committee on Monday whether or not Stalin is heard from by that time.

The Big Five—American State Secretary Stettinius, British Ambassador Halifax, Russian Ambassador Gromyko, Chinese Ambassador Koo, and French Chief Delegate Paul Boncour—had met daily only to be informed by Gromyko: "I have not received my instructions." Today the Big Five did not meet, Gromyko having been requested to phone when he got his orders.

Three Weeks More

At the present rate of progress it will take about three weeks more to conclude the conference. Only one of the four commissions into which the work of the 49 nation convention is divided is ready even to report progress. For this purpose the commission on judicial organization will hold a public session tomorrow morning.

A subcommittee on judicial organization decided today to organize an entirely new world court, the membership of which will be confined to the allied nations at first. In order to keep out Fascist Franco's Spain, neutrals are to be excluded until chosen ones are admitted later.

Tempers flared and verbal fireworks exploded in a meeting of the committee on assembly powers during a discussion of the provision that the assembly be debarred from making recommendations in any matter being dealt with by the security council, which will be dominated by the big five powers.

The fiery Cuban delegate, Francisco Aguirre, labor leader, leaped to his feet gesticulating.

"Collective Dictatorship."

"The big four powers sponsoring this conference," shouted Aguirre, "want collective dictatorship. The same totalitarian doctrine that most of the world has been fighting appears to be the inspiration behind a new world league. They want to put free countries under a new system of tutelage. We have won the war and ought to build the peace along the same ideals."

Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] here entered the fracas.

"I agree entirely with my able friend that we have won the war," said Vandenberg, "and that means the United Nations. But the contribution by the big powers was more than just words. It was substantial and cannot be forgotten. The large nations had the faith and confidence of the rest of the world when they were winning battles.

"Why is it now that we are trying to win the peace that they don't enjoy the same confidence and faith? The fact is that the assembly has sufficient powers to deal with any matters except those being dealt with by the security council. This, in my opinion, is a limitation that is essential to the ability of the council to maintain peace."

After this exchange the limitation of assembly powers was approved, 42 to 0.

The principal questions at issue in the conference are:

1. Trusteeships under the new league of nations for conquered enemy territories and dependent peoples, involving the right of the United States to annex the Pacific islands wrested from the Japanese for the purpose of establishing naval and air bases for American defense.

2. Regional arrangements for peace enforcement, whereby the Monroe Doctrine would be subordinated to world peace machinery except in the event of actual aggression on a western hemisphere nation. Then the United States and other American republics could act independently of the league under the Monroe Doctrine and act of Chapultepec to repel the aggression.

3. The big nation veto power in the league's security council under which any of the Big Five permanent members—the United States, Great Britain, Russia, China, and France—could prevent action to settle by pacific means an international dispute to which it is not a party.

Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov did not leave San Francisco until he had got everything his chief, Stalin, wanted, except the seating of the Russian sponsored Polish puppet government. Among the things he did get was the only regional arrangement Russia wanted —a provision that the soviet union and its allies in Europe could act instantly against aggression by a resurgent Germany without getting the league's permission.

Bad Policy for Others

But similar exemptions in other regions appeared to the soviets to be extremely bad policy.

Under the regional compromise the United States would have to get the league's permission to act against an aggression in this hemisphere at any stage short of an actual attack, by which time it might be too late to act effectively. The Russian delegation, while awaiting instructions, has manifested opposition to this arrangement, not because of concern for the United States or the Monroe Doctrine, but because the exemption from league control in case of an actual attack would, in the Russian view, promote regionalism everywhere and cause the demise of the league from inanition.

Debate raged in the committee on trusteeships on the question of promising trusteed territories and dependent peoples generally not only self-government but eventual independence.

Want Independence Added

The combined British and American proposals, which form the "working paper" before the committee, enumerate among the objectives of the trusteeship system the promotion of self-government of the populations placed under the tutelage of the league. The Chinese and the Russians are pressing for an amendment adding independence to the objectives.

The British, the foremost colonial power and already the foremost trustee power by virtue of British mandates over former German colonies, is adamantly opposed to any mention of independence as an object of the tutelage of backward populations.

The Churchill Dictum

In the spirit of Prime Minister Churchill's dictum that "what we have we hold," Britain does not intend to permit any separations from the empire. The utmost hope the British are willing to hold out to their dependent peoples is self-government as a dominion within the empire, such as Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa.

The American delegation is supporting the British in this opposition to stating independence as an objective of the trusteeship system. This attitude is paradoxical in view of the liberation of the Philippines by the United States after 40 years of tutelage of the Filipinos in self-government. This became a banner example of the fruits of enlightened colonial administration when the Japs carried the sword of conquest to the American, British, and Dutch possessions and the Filipinos were the only native population willing to fight for the nation to which it bore allegiance.

The British Barrier

Comdr. Stassen in his arguments in the committee defended the position of the American delegation as one dictated not by principle but by expediency. The American delegation took into consideration the uncompromising opposition of the British to any suggestion of independence for dependent peoples and came to the conclusion that the British would block an agreement on a trusteeship system if the Russian and Chinese proposal were to be adopted. Consequently they sought a formula which would squint in the direction of independence without saying so outright.

Stassen returned again and again to the argument that self-government embraces the "possibility of independence."

The position of the American delegation on this question, however, became so embarrassing that Stettinius essayed to make everything clear in a public statement in which he said:

"It is and has been the unanimous position of the United States delegation as provided in the original trusteeship paper presented to the conference on May 4 that one of the basic objectives of the trusteeship system should be 'to promote the political, economic, and social advancement of the trust territories and their inhabitants and their progressive development toward self-government.' In the working paper the delegation added the phrase: 'in forms appropriate to the varying circumstances of each territory.'

"It is our understanding that this clearly includes the attainment of independence if the people of a trusteeship area so desire and are prepared and able to assume the responsibilities of independence. It also includes the right of the people to choose some status other than independence if they so desire.

"We recognize that all peoples are interdependent in the modern world and that the advance of the individual liberties and the standards of living of the peoples must be included among the basic objectives of the trusteeship system. We point to the Philippines as a concrete example of United States policy."

Iwo Flag Raisers Visit Chicago

Rehearse at Field

Three service men who participated in the historic flag raising atop Mt. Suribachi on Iwo Island had a strange reënactment of the scene—in empty Soldiers' field—yesterday. They rehearsed with three other marines for a reënactment to be staged for thousands in the lake front stadium tomorrow.

The trio, here on a national 7th war loan tour, included Pvt. Ira H. Hayes, a Pima Indian from Dapchule, Ariz.; Pharmacist's Mate John Bradley, Appleton, Wis., and Pvt. Rene Gagnon, Manchester, N. H.

Later they said that when Joe Rosenthal, Associated Press photographer, on Feb. 23 took the dramatic flag raising picture, now known the nation over, "we didn't know there was a photographer within 500 miles until somebody said, 'Look pretty, boys, you're gonna have your pitcher took.'"

FRISCO FETES REDS, BUT FEW RUSSIANS GO

Party Attracts 1,200 Soviet Admirers

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 18—All social records at the world security conference were broken tonight when the Russian delegation was feted by American admirers in the St. Francis hotel.

Four ballrooms were equipped for the party. An estimated 1,200 men and women gulped cocktails, devoured canapes, and listened to the music of a Russian orchestra.

Few Russians Present

There was just one small cloud on the happiness of the reception's sponsors: Hardly any Russians showed up.

A lone soviet admiral, Rear Adm. K. K. Rodinov, resplendent in a white uniform with gold shoulder boards, eventually appeared and was immediately inundated by ecstatic American women who introduced themselves in shrieks and besought him for autographs. He effected an early escape.

A. A. Gromyko, soviet ambassador and chairman of the Russian delegation, made a late appearance and took a place in the receiving line. He seemed unhappy.

The nonappearance of most of the Russian delegates went unexplained. The bills were being paid by the Russian war relief society.

Kaiser Among Guests

Henry J. Kaiser, the shipbuilder, was there and so was Atty. Gen. Robert Kenney of California, president of the National Lawyers guild, which has been attacked in congress as communist dominated. The hostesses included Mrs. Henry F. Grady, wife of the former assistant secretary of state; Mrs. Earl Warren, wife of the governor of California, and Mrs. Roger D. Lapham, wife of the mayor of San Francisco.

Mutual Aid to Russia Suspended by Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., May 18—Pending the drafting of a new policy Canada has suspended mutual aid to soviet Russia. Repairs on Russian ships in Canadian yards before May 9 will be charged to the Canadian mutual aid account.

STALIN INSISTS HIS POLES MUST CONTROL POLAND

Agrees to Allied Unity on That Basis Only

LONDON, May 19 [Saturday] (AP)—Premier Stalin declared today the Polish question could be solved by agreement between the allies only "if in reconstruction of the Polish provisional [Lublin-Warsaw] government the latter is recognized as the basic core of the future Polish government of national unity."

His statement, broadcast by the Moscow radio, said that the reorganization "must be in accord with the Crimea decisions," because no deviations from these decisions can be permitted." [The present provisional Polish government is Soviet sponsored.]

Stalin laid down two additional conditions under which allied unity over Poland could be achieved. They were:

"If as a result of the reconstruction a government is created in Poland which will pursue a policy of friendship with the soviet union and not a policy of 'cordon sanitaire,' against the soviet union.

"People's" Poles Must Agree

"If the question of reconstruction of the Polish government is resolved together with the Poles, who at present have ties with the Polish people, and not without them."

Stalin's statement came in reply to a letter from Ralph Parker, Moscow correspondent of the London Times, asking for a statement from the head of the soviet government on the arrest of 16 leaders in the Polish exile government.

Stalin said it was untrue that the arrested Poles were invited for negotiations with soviet authorities because "soviet authorities do not and will not conduct negotiations with those who break the law dealing with the protection of the Red army rear."

Not a Governmental Question

Stalin declared the arrest of 16 Polish leaders "with the well known diversionist Gen. Okulicki at their head" had no connection with the question of the reconstruction of the Polish provisional government.

He said "these gentlemen were arrested in accordance with the law protecting the Red army rear from diversionists, a law similar to the British defense of the realm act."

The arrest was carried out by soviet military authorities "in accordance with an agreement concluded between the Polish provisional government and the soviet military command," the soviet leader said.

TRUMAN POSES FOR A MISSOURI CAPITOL STATUE

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—President Truman spent more than an hour today getting measured for a bronze statue. Sculptress Electra Waggoner Biggs of Fort Worth, Tex., later told reporters:

"I think He's a pretty nice man. He's very patient, calm, and considerate—he's wonderful."

The sculptress appeared at the White House with a group of Missourians who are organizing a campaign to place a statue in the Missouri state capitol at Jefferson City.

REPORTS DUTCH ISLANDS ON WAY TO RULE SELVES

San Francisco, Cal., May 18 (AP)—Dr. H. J. van Mook, acting governor general of the Dutch East Indies, today disclosed steps are being taken to establish internal autonomy in the Indies and in Surinam and Curacao.

Speaking at a meeting of the Institute of Pacific Relations, Van Mook said it is proposed that a central government of the Netherlands kingdom would consist of a ministry and an assembly composed of the home land and the colonies. Van Mook is here as a delegate to the security conference.

TRUMAN TO LET FRANCE OCCUPY MORE NAZI LAND

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—The United States stands ready to yield to France a part of the American zone of occupation in Germany, President Truman today told French Foreign Minister Bidault.

Minister Bidault

In a formal statement the chief executive reported that plans to relinquish American occupied German land have been conveyed informally to the French government and are in the process of being formalized.

Mr. Truman expressed his desire to meet Gen. De Gaulle for a personal discussion of the role France will play in the settlement of European and world problems.

Zones United States Will Occupy

Altho formal zones of occupation have not been precisely defined, it was reported on high authority that the United States is to occupy Bavaria and Wurtemberg and Baden in taking territory roughly south of the line between Halle and Coblenz.

France had been scheduled to occupy the French Rhineland or the territory west of the Rhine river. It is believed the United States is preparing to yield Baden and other territory east of the Rhine in its zone of occupation.

The French also are seeking territory scheduled for British occupation. They desire portions of the Ruhr and Saarland.

Invites Aid in Pacific

Mr. Truman's statement in referring to the war on Japan said:

"The President emphasized we are faced with a still strong and deadly enemy in the far east to whose defeat the total resources of this country, both in man power and material, are pledged. He indicated such assistance as France and our other allies may bring to that struggle and which may be synchronized with operations already planned or under way, will be welcomed."

Bidault described the meeting as cordial.

FRANCE DENIES COVETING LAND ON ITALIAN LINE

Accusation of British Is Called Unjust

BY DAVID DARRAH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 18—The French today strenuously denied any territorial aims in Italy and charged that English politicians have begun a campaign unjustly accusing France of trying to annex territory along the Alpine frontier. The French declaration came just as Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, and Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, apparently got the ball rolling again for conclusion of a military alliance between the two countries.

All the French want is to rectify the frontier so that it will give the French more strategic advantage, an official declaration said. Very little territory is involved. Rectification will mean mostly getting possession of mountain crests which overlook the Italian side, the French insist. The Italians now have the advantage on the crests. The French propose to lodge claims for this frontier rectification at the peace table.

Want Eastward Extension

They want to extend their frontier eastward, especially on the lower end, adjacent to the Mediterranan and along the department of Alps Maritime. They want to control the upper basin of the Vesubie and Roya rivers.

In Savoie the French want to get possession of Little St. Bernard pass, which is on the French side of the slope but in Italian hands.

They want rectifications also in the region of Montcenis and Briancon. The attachment to France of the region of Chaberton would involve the annexation of the village of Clavieres.

Deny Bringing Pressure

The French government denied that French soldiers are bringing pressure on the inhabitants to compel them to ask for reattachment to France. The British press had charged that the French had threatened to take up ration cards of the inhabitants.

Whether the French speaking people in Aosta and in Vaud are attached to France is entirely a matter for them to decide, the French assert.

Trieste Assembly Called

TRIESTE, Italy, May 18 (AP)—The Yugoslavs called together last night the "general assembly of Trieste" elected during the last several days to "restore democracy" to the disputed port city. No mention was made publicly of the British and American notes requesting withdrawal of the Yugoslav forces.

[BBC's European service, quoted by the Associated Press, said that civil authority for Trieste had been handed over to an Italo-Slovene executive committee, which promised democratic elections as soon as possible. The broadcast was without confirmation.]

The Trieste assembly was addressed by Maj. Gen. Dusan Kveder, Yugoslav commandant of the city, who closed his speech with the words, "Long live autonomous Trieste within the federation of democratic Yugoslavia."

Take Up Purge of City

The assembly discussed formation of a people's tribunal to take up the purge of the city and drew up telegrams to send to Tito, Marshal Stalin, President Truman, and Prime Minister Churchill.

[An Associated Press dispatch from Belgrade said Marshal Tito replied to the identical notes, delivered to him Tuesday by the American and British ambassadors. Tito, it was learned, had suggested that Yugoslav troops remain in Austrian Carinthia but be commanded by British Marshal Alexander.]

Meanwhile at Gorizia, also in disputed Venezia Giulia, the Yugoslav liberation front met and elected an executive committee for that city where Partisans were reported to have suppressed an attempt by several hundred Italians to form a battalion to resist Yugoslav conscription.

For the past several nights the Yugoslavs have been seen marching large numbers of civilians out of Trieste but it is not known whether these are political prisoners or conscripts.

There are an estimated 35,000 Yugoslav Partisans here and in the surrounding countryside, equipped with a considerable amount of former German army materiel.

ATTU VETS GET REST AFTER 176 DAYS OF COMBAT

BY HAROLD SMITH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH THE U. S. 7TH INFANTRY DIVISION, Okinawa, May 11 [Delayed]—Two years ago this 7th division landed on Attu Island in the Aleutians for the first reconquest of American soil in the Pacific war. Today the division entered its first rest period since landing on Okinawa Island. Between the two operations lie 176 days of combat which is believed to be a record.

The Attu conquest took 21 days. Elements of the division took part in the bloodless landing on Kiska the next August. On Jan. 31, 1944, the division began its six day campaign on Kwajalein Island in the Marshalls group, in which it killed some 5,000 Japs at a cost of 187 American lives. Last October the 7th helped make the initial assault on the Philippines at Leyte, remaining in combat continuously for 110 days.

On April 1 it landed on Okinawa and fought 40 days without relief. Maj. Gen. Arch V. Arnold, commanding the 7th, said today that Attu was the most rugged of the division's four campaigns in point of hardships. "A few days of rest in the bracing air and sunshine of Okinawa and the pines that remind them of their homeland, and they'll be ready to resume the fight," Gen. Arnold said.

WPB AID URGES CO-OPERATION IN GLOBAL TRADE

A plea for coöperation between nations was made last night by William L. Batt, vice chairman of the war production board, in an address before the English Speaking union at its 23d annual meeting and dinner in the Blackstone hotel.

"The objectives of England and America are the same—the expansion of trade in a free world," Batt declared, adding that "the United States should understand Britain's need for an export market since that country's economic welfare is based on such a market."

Batt advocated an extension of the reciprocal trade agreements act, asserting that a large number of items now covered by the tariff act could stand substantial reduction.

Mission to Moscow Wins Order of Lenin for Davies

LONDON, May 19 [Reuters]—The Order of Lenin has been conferred upon Joseph E. Davies, former United States ambassador to the soviet union, Moscow radio reported tonight. The award was made "for his successful work which led to the strengthening of friendly soviet-American relations and the growth of mutual understanding and confidence between the peoples of the two countries."

DISCLOSE BRITON HEADS CALCUTTA ACTIVITY OF OSS

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 18—Further evidence of the domination of the office of strategic services by British intelligence was uncovered today by members of congress looking into the operations of the 125 million dollar propaganda and intelligence unit.

The officer in charge of the Calcutta office of the organization headed by Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan is Lt. Col. Lynn M. Coffey of the British army, who is on loan to OSS. He is a British citizen. His assistant is an American, Lt. Sidney Schaefer, members of congress learned.

Coffey is a recruiting officer for OSS intelligence agents thruout the China, Burma, and India theater. As such he has knowledge of the activities of all OSS agents.

Information to British

Any information that comes his way is forwarded by him to OSS and British intelligence authorities. Coffey is an expert on the Malay states and Indo-China and reportedly has many contacts among the natives.

Another key man in the OSS setup in the area is Patrick A. Meade, a British subject until 1942, when he became a naturalized American citizen. Meade served 15 years in the British army, chiefly in intelligence. He spent many years in China, Malaya, India, and Turkey. A decade ago he was in charge of issuance of visas for the British government at Shanghai.

In the early years of the war he was in charge of British ordnance purchases in this country.

Not American Citizen

Interested congressmen were informed that the chief of OSS at Cairo, known only as Guepin, was not a United States citizen, but was manager of the Shell Oil company in the middle east.

Guepin, according to information received here, was interested in securing information on American oil interests in the near east for his company and the British.

A reliable Greek source reported the British used OSS to get breaks on business deals. This report is being investigated by members of congress.

Promised Commission

A further example of the tieup between the British intelligence and OSS was disclosed in the case of William Alto, a major in the Spanish Republican army, who enlisted in the United States army at the outbreak of the war.

Because of his experience and knowledge of languages he was promised a commission in OSS. He was transferred to an OSS training school. Alto did not approve of the OSS assignment and asked to be transferred back to the army. Before this transfer came thru he was reportedly offered a job in British intelligence by OSS.

These examples of British influence in OSS were uncovered by members of congress as a result of the disclosure that Gen. Donovan proposed to set up a super-intelligence unit, which would supersede army and navy intelligence.

Denounced in Congress

The Donovan plan, which was presented to the White House, was denounced in congress as a Gestapo scheme. It also was disapproved by the combined chiefs of staff.

Defenders of OSS said it was necessary to secure British aid in building up OSS because the British have an excellent, highly trained intelligence service and the experience of the Britishers contributed much to the building of the organization.

ORDER FORMER BUND CHIEFTAIN KUHN DEPORTED

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—Fritz Kuhn, former German-American bund leader, has been ordered deported back to Germany, the justice department announced today.

Fritz Kuhn

For the 49 year old Kuhn, the order opened no prospect for renewing his activities. He has been under detention in this country as a "trouble maker."

Justice officials said Kuhn would be placed on a boat at a time to be determined by American military authorities, in Germany and that upon his arrival there he would be dealt with as the United States army sees fit.

The ouster was ordered by the board of immigration appeals, who classified him as an undesirable alien. It was the result of a series of legal proceedings involving his conviction in 1939 of larceny and forgery of bund funds and a denaturalization action taken by the government in 1942.

ALLIES MUST PROVIDE WORLD POLICE—ATTLEE

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—Clement Attlee, deputy prime minister, told the British people tonight they must be prepared to provide armed forces for the world police force.

"It is the price which must be paid in order to save the world from another world war," he said.

"We may hope that when the world grows more civilized and stable, this burden of armaments may decrease, but until that time comes we and other nations must bear our share."

CHICAGO HERO HELPS FRANKLIN TO KEEP AFLOAT

Thomas P. Harrison Wins Promotion on Spot

Thomas P. Harrison, a Chicago member of the carrier Franklin's complement, who helped perform one of the most vital of the reconditioning jobs that enabled the shattered American vessel to escape her enemies, yesterday described reluctantly his actions during the hours and days following 7 a. m. last March 19 when a Jap plane bombed the Franklin in Japanese waters.

These actions won him a spot promotion from electrician's mate 1st class to chief electrician's mate, but he insisted that the glory belonged to the 832 killed and missing members of the Franklin's crew.

Knocked Flat by Blast

Harrison, 25, nephew of Police Capt. Thomas Harrison and son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Harrison of 5224 Washington blvd., was trapped below decks when the first bomb hit.

"There was a terrific concussion that knocked us flat," he said. "The regular exits were out of commission and we had to climb thru a ventilator to the hangar deck."

From the hangar deck, Harrison and the 75 men who were with him were able to reach the flight deck by climbing a gun support.

"There were explosions and smoke and flame all over the deck," he said. "It looked as if one side of the ship had been blown away."

Reconditioning Task Begun

When the first fury of the flames had moderated, survivors began to try to get the crippled ship into navigating condition. Harrison, with three others, descended into the deep hold of the carrier to see what could be done about the steering gear.

For three hours, with nothing but buckets to work with and with no illumination but that from their pocket flashlights, they toiled at getting the hold dry. Finally it was done, and the steering gear was tested. In short order it was hooked up with the ship's electrical system.

The Franklin, which until then had been under tow, now was able to move under her own power and begin the first stage of the 13,400 mile journey which eventually got her to the navy yard in Brooklyn, N. Y., for repairs.

Chicago Survivor Injured

Another survivor of the Franklin who, like Harrison, arrived in Chicago on May 8, is Seaman 1st Class Jameson I. James, son of Mrs. Nancy B. James, 1203 E. Marquette rd. He was struck by flying shrapnel while at his gun when the Jap plane glided in unheard.

Other Chicago survivors of the Franklin now home on leave are Quartermaster 3d Class Norman Mayer, 2504 S. Pulaski rd.; Petty Officer 2d Class Donald Dickhut, 4925 N. Hamlin av., and Aerographer's Mate 2/C Emil A. Lamos, 3855 Huron st.

Comdr. Henry H. Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron H. Hale, 472 Arthur st., Gary, also survived, and is now in the east with the ship.

THANKFUL NORSE MARCH IN RAIN, FREE MEN AGAIN

BY HAL FOUST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OSLO, Norway, May 17 — [Delayed—Independence day was celebrated here today with double significance and doubled enthusiasm. It was the first time since 1939 that the national flag was paraded and the national songs sung on the anniversary of Norway's freedom.

For four and a half hours in a drizzling rain a column with flags and bands marched down the main street chanting "we are free," or shouting "long live." Historically their chant referred to freedom from Denmark, won May 17, 1814, but it was the recent freedom from five years of nazlism that put the verve in their voices.

At the end of the street, Crown Prince Olaf saluted the marchers from the balcony of his palace. He was flanked by high officers of the British naval and military occupation forces, and by officers of the Norwegian army.

Sing Beloved Song

In the palace driveway the marchers sang, "We Love It," the Norwegian national anthem. It's as sentimental and unmilitary as "Home, Sweet Home."

Heading the parade were platoons of Norwegian underground forces, tall, lean men with the rain curling the blond hair on their bare heads. A few were in ski suits. Others wore the outdoor clothes of their mountain or forest homes or their fishing villages. They carried rifles which had been parachuted to them during the war.

As a badge of honor, many men and women wore hats bearing their concentration camp name or number. Also marching were groups of Poles, Belgians, Swedes, French, and Danes whom the Germans had used as prison labor in the Norwegian lumber camps.

Women and Children March

Grown girls and women, tall, slender, and erect, marched in the rain in the uniforms of nurses or in the ski suits of the underground workers. More than 25,000 boy and girl students were in the parade.

The patriotic demonstrations were policed by Swedish trained Norwegian soldiers in gray uniforms who had returned to their country, 10,000 strong, as the new national army. The British army of occupation appropriately did not participate in the Norwegian festivity. The surrendered German army of 300,000, still armed but awaiting transport to Germany, was not to be seen.

Later tonight, even if the drizzle does not abate, there will be folk dancing in the park in the dusk that lasts until 10:30.

G I Joe in the Pacific

By ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH THE CHINA-INDIA AIR TRANSPORT COMMAND, May 12 [Delayed]—An ATC captain and two sergeants came knocking on a Chinese general's door and gave him a big bundle wrapped in a blanket.

When the general, charged with the defense of south China, had his No. 1 boy unwrap the package and discovered it contained $24,000,000, the general's monthly pay roll, he invited the captain and the sergeants in for dinner.

Sgt. Russell Nanfelt, brought up amid New England cleanliness at New Haven, Conn., wanted to say no and go back to K rations. Capt. Robert Barnes, Washington, D. C., thought they should accept. Sgt. Edward Pike, Greenville, S. C., thought it would be fun for a sergeant to eat with a general. Being democratic, the three accepted.

Long Trip Whets Appetite

For two days the three had traveled by train and truck thru the south China hills, one Chinese guard always sitting atop the three foot square bundle. There were some worries about bandits but it was decided no bandit would bother stealing a blanket wrapped bundle that was so "worthless" only one man guarded it.

The trip had been thru the high, clear, beautiful mountains, and the men were hungry.

The general with great bows directed them into a room with a long narrow table. He clapped and the dinner began. Soup, meat hash, pork chops and mushrooms, chicken and cualiflower, pudding and bananas.

Chicken heads were mixed in with chunks of chicken and since Capt. Barnes was the highest ranking guest he got a chicken head. Very politely he chewed on it. "Chicken heads," he reported later, while sitting on a curb holding his stomach, "aren't much."

On and On and On It Goes

All this had been accomplished with knives and forks. The crockery was piled up before each man, and as he finished each course the dirty plate was hauled away, baring a clean one below it. All during the meal the diners drank rum. "Gombay," the general would say, looking at one man, and the man would either have to drain his glass or insult the general.

When the captain and sergeants lay back to rest, the general led the way into another room and seated them at a round table. Here the food was oriental. Gelatin, cold beef, sweet pork, sour pork, bacon rind, raw fish with something called bich-de-mer. Stewed chicken with heads, sausages baked in pie crust, rice balls in fruit sirup, beef and gravy, soup. Then rice.

Everybody used chopsticks. The captain and Sgt. Nanfelt managed pretty well in eating out of the community bowls, but Pike didn't do so well. "He spilled all over," Nanfelt complained. "I'm left handed," Pike explained.

That night the trio wondered what upset their stomachs. That is, they wondered until Pike, always thirsting for knowledge, learned what the delicacy called bich-de-mer is. It's fish stomachs.

DISSOLVES 2D MARRIAGE; FINDS GI WASN'T KILLED

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 18 (AP)—Circuit Court Judge L. D. Miller today dissolved the marriage of a woman who had discovered that her first husband, reported killed in action, was still living.

He granted the annulment to Mrs. Lorraine Busch who asserted in her petition that she married George A. Busch in Hattiesburg, Miss., a month after she was notified in July, 1944 that her first husband, Francis Elmore, had been killed in action.

Her bill said she married Elmore in 1941 and that she had not lived with Busch since she learned several months ago that Elmore had been wounded and not killed.

TWO PRISONERS BECOME COURT WARDS

Thomas Kane, 17, of 4012 Normal av. and John Stack, 22, of 824 W. 21st st., both charged with stealing an automobile, were placed under court supervision for one year by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Felony court yesterday.

26 BULLDOGS EXECUTED FOR WOMAN'S DEATH

Miami, Fla., May 18 [Special]—Authorities today killed the entire pack of 26 pit bull terriers of which an undetermined number fatally mauled Mrs. Doretta Zinke, 39, globe-trotting explorer and writer, near here Wednesday night. Fifteen full grown dogs were shot and 11 pups were executed with gas.

Balls of human hair, which police said "unquestionably belonged to a woman," were found in the stomachs of four of the grown dogs, and in others were found pieces of leather believed to be parts of Mrs. Zinke's shoes. The woman was terribly mutilated from head to foot, denuded, and pieces of flesh and scalp torn from her body.

Consent for destruction of the dogs was granted by their owner, Joe Munn, 43, neighbor and friend of Mrs. Zinke, who is held in jail on a charge of manslaughter. On Monday he will be arraigned for a preliminary hearing, and an inquest will be held. Meantime an autopsy is to be performed on Mrs. Zinke's body.

ARMY REPORTS AMPUTATIONS IN 11,000 CASES

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—The war department reported today that 11,000 amputation cases had been treated in army hospitals in the United States up to May 1.

Approximately 5 per cent of the soldier patients have lost more than one limb, but none has completely lost both arms and legs. Six have lost three limbs and one lost part of four limbs as a result of freezing after an airplane crash.

Of the 11,000, about 4,000 have been discharged. Some expressed a desire to stay in service and have been assigned to help in the training of other amputees.

Police Hunt Robber, 23, After Attempted Rape

Police yesterday sought a robber, about 23, who Thursday night robbed Miss Esther Wagner of $20 in the vestibule of her home at 4053 Van Buren and then attempted to rape her.

TREAT GERMAN PEOPLE KINDLY, A YANK PLEADS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 18—Samuel Freiberg, of a United States army engineer battalion, writes to the official army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, a letter opposing our official attitude toward German civilians. "I am alarmed and ashamed by the attitude and policy which the army and the Stars and Stripes, and so many GIs have taken in regard to the common German people," he says. "We have forgotten that we have come here as liberators! To liberate Germany from the Nazis, just as we liberated France and the low countries.

"Instead we have conquered and condemned a nation. We are blaming the people for what the clique was responsible for. Are we behaving any better than that fascist clique that once condemned other nations? Let's have no more of this tripe that the people could have overthrown Hitler if they had wanted to.

"Let us exterminate those who were responsible, the murderous Gestapo, the Nazi party, and whosoever committed war crimes. But treat the people kindly. Educate them. Feed them. Give them a helping hand. Because, like you and they are the children of God."

PACIFIC YARDS LACK CREWS TO REPAIR FRANKLIN

Commenting yesterday on the journey of the aircraft carrier Franklin, that limped home altho seriously damaged by Jap dive bombers, Comdr. Robert J. Twyman, district civilian personnel director of the 9th naval district, deplored the fact that the carrier had to go to the Brooklyn navy yard. Proper installations on the west coast would have shortened the voyage by many miles, he pointed out.

"This took the Franklin thousands of miles away from the fleet," he said. "The only reason we could not handle the job on the Pacific coast was the lack of machinists, sheet metal workers, electricians, and other shipyard workers."

He added that the installations adequate to repair the Franklin were available at Mare Island and at Hunter's Point at San Francisco. Union wages and transportation are provided for workers who will go to these yards, Comdr. Twyman said, and low cost housing also is provided. Prospective workers may apply at the United States employment service civil service commission, 433 W. Van Buren st.

QUISLING TRIAL SPEEDED; FIND RICH ART LOOT

OSLO, Norway, May 18 (AP)—Vidkun Quisling, who ruled Norway for Adolf Hitler, will be called for a preliminary hearing within a week as a war criminal, Minister of Justice Terge Wold announced today as Norwegians uncovered a fortune of stolen paintings and art objects in his purloined mansion.

The former puppet premier, now imprisoned, is expected to be tried on charges of treason. Wold said everything possible is being done to speed the trial, which will follow the first hearing. "We have to study five years of criminal activity," he said. "But we have no intention of coddling Quisling."

Workmen began today to remove stolen art treasures and furniture from his purloined residence, "Gimle."

MANY WAR BANS ON NEWS LIFTED BY U. S. CENSORS

New Code Worked Out for Pacific Theater

'Lift News Blackout'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 19 [Saturday]—A demand that the allied military authorities lift the blackout of news now that the war in Europe has ended was made by a News Chronicle correspondent this morning in a dispatch datelined "In Germany." What goes on behind the scenes in the allied military councils in Germany and other countries is of vital concern to the allied peoples, he said, yet reporters are banned from such gatherings and denied information.

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—The office of censorship, redeploying its efforts exclusively to the Pacific war, today lifted most of its bans on military news of Europe.

It issued a new combined press-radio code defining the Pacific-Asiatic theater of operations, removing Europe from such a theater and making a score of deletions from the present code.

Director Byron Price, explaining the relaxations in the new code, summed up his views in this way:

"There are those, I believe, who think censorship in this country should continue in full force in connection with the policing of the peace in Europe. I happen to be one of those who take the opposite view. Censorship was provided for by congress and has been endured by the people for the sole purpose of winning the war—and the only war we are now engaged in is with Japan."

Can't Change Policies

He was asked at a news conference about statements that there is political censorship of news in Europe. His reply to this was: "I don't see how a civilian agency [the office of censorship] in this country can change the policies of a military agency in Europe. The commanding officer has got to control his area. Also, it would be wholly inoperable for us to try to determine something happening thousands of miles away."

The new code removes a score of restrictions concerning the publication of news about military movements of troops and high officials in Europe and lowers bars against domestic news relating to such items as production.

Here are some of the changes:

The former separate codes for press and radio are consolidated and the previous restraints on foreign language broadcasts and quiz programs are eliminated.

Weather News Affected

All weather information is publishable.

The ban on sabotage news is removed, as is the section covering air raids.

Troop movements, except those alerted for transfer to the Pacific, can be reported. This modification also applies to troops in Europe who are coming to the United States before going to the Pacific.

Soldiers can be identified as members of particular military units, except those in or going directly to the Pacific.

The number or character of ships under construction can be reported and advance information on the dates of launchings or commissioning of merchant ships — but not naval vessels — given.

Ship Movements Reportable

Movement of diplomatic exchange ships (for internees and war prisoners) can be reported.

The restrictions on movements of aircraft, except those in or bound for the Pacific-Asiatic theater, are lifted.

Also publishable is information regarding rate of production for war goods, information on exports and imports and on stockpiles of strategic materials. The new code, however, continues restriction on news of "new or secret weapons" or the identity of plants making them.

News stories regarding the travels of the President now revert to the status of pre-war days, with the long standing request that no specific information on exact time or arrival or departures or precise routes be given.

The movements of diplomatic officials can be reported.

STOP OWI, SAVE U. S. 50 MILLIONS, CONGRESS URGED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 18—Abolition of the office of war information, headed by Elmer Davis, was demanded today by Rep. Gavin [R., Pa.], who said such action "would save 50 million dollars for the taxpayers and a lot of headaches to the American people."

Rep. Gavin

The representative told the house congress has "a grand opportunity" to do a service to the people by eliminating OWI when the agency's appropriation request for the year starting July 1 is taken up next month.

Vetoed by Truman

"The last suggestion made by Elmer Davis to bar all American newspapers and magazines from occupied Germany—a proposal vetoed by President Truman and Gen. Eisenhower—is evidence enough that this 50 million dollar a year program should be blotted out," Gavin said. "OWI should be taken out of the picture.

"War propaganda should be turned over to the army and navy where it belongs, and the distribution of domestic information should be transferred from OWI back to various government departments.

"Certainly OWI is one of the wartime agencies that has outlived its usefulness and one that will never be missed.

"When this appropriation bill for OWI comes up, let's give the boys a break and take a lot of literary geniuses out of lush pasture and let them go to work."

Ploeser Joins in Demand

Rep. Ploeser [R., Mo.], member of the house naval appropriations subcommittee, also urged abolition of the OWI. He told a reporter he was "happy to see President Truman say that it cannot be used in Europe." He added:

"The OWI has not been used in the Pacific, and since the President has taken his position on its use in Europe it now has no usefulness whatever. There certainly is no need of that agency to feed propaganda to Americans here at home."

REPORTER CITED FOR CONTEMPT BY HOUSE GROUP

Refuses to Disclose Sources of News

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—A congressional committee instituted contempt proceedings today against Albert Deutsch, 39, New York newspaper man, for refusing to identify confidential sources of information.

The action, by the house veterans committee, may put the house on record for the first time on the question whether a reporter may be punished for refusing to violate a confidence placed in him by a news source.

Deutsch refused to tell the committee, investigating the veterans' administration, the names of "about five" veterans administration officials he said had given him information used in a series of articles he wrote for the newspaper PM. The articles criticized the veterans administration's medical program.

Given in Confidence

Deutsch said he could not identify the five because they gave him information with the understanding he would not use their names.

"I shall not violate that confidence," he said when Chairman Rankin [D., Miss.] asked him to identify the five.

Deutsch said he considered himself "bound by my own personal integrity and professional ethics."

Told by Rankin that the oath he took as a witness was superior to "journalistic ethics," Deutsch replied firmly:

"I stand on the freedom of the press."

"There is no freedom of the press that permits a man to go in and gather information that is destructive to the public welfare and spread it before the public," Rankin reported.

Calls Them Constructive

Deutsch insisted his news articles were constructive. Only a small part of the information on which they were based, he told the committee, came from administration employes, most of it having come from conferences with medical men and from a first hand investigation of veterans' facilities.

When Deutsch refused to budge, the committee went into executive session and voted, reportedly 11 to 9, not to cite him for contempt. It then reopened the session, recalled Deutsch and again Rankin asked him for the names.

Again Deutsch refused to reveal them and the committee went back into closed session and decided on the contempt proceedings by a vote of 13 to 5.

Among the Dissenters

Rankin refused to make public the roll call but Representatives Green [D., Pa.], Ramey [R., Ohio], and Huber [R., Ohio] told reporters they were among the five dissenters. The other two were identified by committee members as Representatives Kearney [R., N. Y.] and Scrivner [R., Kas.].

Rankin said he would notify the house formally of the committee's action probably next Tuesday and submit the customary resolution directing the speaker to certify Deutsch to the grand jury for punishment.

LAVAL AWAITS TRIP TO FRANCE; STILL IN SPAIN

BARCELONA, Spain, May 18 (AP)—Pierre Laval, former Vichy premier, spent his 16th day confined in a fortress here today, awaiting completion of negotiations on the means of transporting him to France.

[A Paris dispatch earlier quoted French official spokesmen as saying they believed he was already in France, having been taken there by an allied warship.]

The Spanish government is reported ready to deliver Laval to British and American representatives jointly or separately, but not directly to the French.

KEITEL ADDED TO CZECH WAR CRIMINAL LIST

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—Czechoslovakia has added Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, to its list of more than 500 war criminals, a source close to the Czech government said today.

Others on the list, the informant said, include Walther Funk, nazi minister of economics; SS Gen. Kurt Daluege, Hangman Reinhard Heydrich's successor as "protector" of Bohemia; Karl Hermann Frank, who held the same position in Moravia, and Prof. Albert Speer, nazi minister of production.

A Czech commission will leave for Germany shortly to help collect evidence for trials but will return in time for the conference of 16 nations represented on the war crimes commission here May 31. In the British zone of occupation, complete sets of Gestapo files have been found which can be presented as evidence against the Nazis, a staff officer of the British military government at Luneburg reported.

BRITAIN DECIDES AGAINST LETUP IN PROPAGANDA

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 18—Britain will reduce the number of British Broadcasting company broadcasts to Europe but has no intention of curtailing the activities of the British council, a propaganda agency which now operates in 38 countries exclusive of liberated Europe, a government spokesman said in the house of commons today.

The British information service in various parts of the world is to be continued, altho the future scale and control are yet to be decided, Ernest Thurtle, parliamentary secretary for the ministry of information, told the house. He said that this service had never distributed propaganda—just information—in the United States.

Broadcasts at Peak Schedule

Members of parliament warned that it would be a blunder if Britain reduced her foreign radio and propaganda services below the war time peak.

The government was accused of not correctly valuing the power of publicity and also of intensifying soviet suspicions of Britain by allowing Adm. Doenitz access to the Flensburg radio. Thurtle explained that the control of the Flensburg radio had nothing to do with the ministry of information or the British council, but was a matter for allied military control.

Need Relay Station

He said that it was too early to make a definite statement on the future of foreign broadcasts but added that the shortage of suitable wave lengths made a cut in BBC broadcasts to Europe virtually inevitable. "Unless we can get a relay station in Europe after the war the BBC European service must be on a greatly reduced scale," he said.

George Hall, undersecretary for foreign affairs, stressing the importance of the work carried out by the British council, pointed out that the government had increased the annual subsidy to the council to $14,000,000 this year, compared with $22,000 for the financial year of 1935.

Briton Gets Lash and Jail for Robbing U. S. Soldier

HOLYHEAD, England, May 18 [Reuters]—A 28 year old British soldier today was sentenced to receive six strokes with the cat o'nine tails and serve 12 months in prison for robbing an American soldier. The offense was made more serious because the convicted man, Gardner Wilkinson, attacked a soldier of one of Britain's allies, Justice Lewis said.

REDUCE SNOOPING ON U. S. BUSINESS BY CENSORSHIP OFFICE

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—The office of censorship is getting rid of a chore assigned to it early in the war, the collection of economic information gleaned from the scanning of international business communications.

Byron Price, director of the office, told a news conference today this work had been cut 90 per cent.

In government circles the system is described as "intercept." It operates somewhat in this fashion:

Cable or postal censors watch outgoing or incoming communications for information of interest to military intelligence, economic information relating to stockpiles, or other references to material of value in the war. It is relayed to various government agencies.

Complaints have been made about the use of such information, notably in the case of intercepts made in communications from Alaska and more recently by Miss Vivien Kellems, Westport, Conn., industrialist, who had correspondence with a German business man in South America. The censorship office says copies of the intercepts are highly confidential and should not find their way to public channels.

President Truman, in his recent budget recommendations, proposed a reduction of $4,800,000 in the item for censorship. Price told a news conference "substantial reductions" have been made in the corps of censors. At its peak in 1943, censorship employed 14,500 persons. On April 1 only 9,999 were on the rolls, Price said. He has requested appropriations for 6,980 employes during the next fiscal year.

HOW HILL TRIBES OF BURMA AIDED ALLIED SOLDIERS

People of Cities Were Pro-Japanese

BY ALFRED WAGG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH THE ALLIED FORCES IN BURMA, May 15 [Delayed]—For the first time since the war began it is now possible to reveal the part taken by the people of Burma in the Japanese invasion.

Unlike other allied lands invaded by the Japs where the populace was practically solid in opposition, the Burmese were divided into three groups.

First came the tribesmen of the Burmese hills, who were loyal to the British and took part in guerrilla expeditions against the invaders. Second were the communists, who lent varying degrees of support to the Americans in the north and to the British in central and western Burma. Last were the people of the main cities and the plains, who in the main collaborated with the Japs.

Hillmen Ambush Japs

With the enemy practically cleared from the country, the allies now face the problem of dealing with these groups, providing them with food and settling their status.

Clandestine groups of loyal hillmen, led for three years by American and British officers, have been ambushing Japs in the hills and conducting secret warfare against their communications with great courage and daring. Now the hillmen, especially the Kachins, Chins, Karens, and Nagas, are out hunting the Jap stragglers. Moreover, any traitor caught by the hillmen will be hanged immediately after capture.

In 1942 the Karens resisted the Japanese advance into Burma and held Toungoo for 43 hours. They were led by two British majors. A major named Seagrim stayed behind and gave himself up in order to stop the Japs from burning Karen villages and slaughtering women and children.

Aid Air Borne Troops

In 1944 the hill bands grew in size and importance as the Americans in the Kachin hills and the British further south began to take hold of the underground. Arrangements were organized for British-American air borne landings.

One officer of the Kachins penetrated the Japanese 56th division's headquarters and discovered the disposition of the enemy. Another landed in the center of the Japanese officers' mess and they made him an orderly. Still another officer sat in the headquarters of a Japanese unit and guided bombers to it.

In the past few weeks the Karens held off reinforcements for the Japanese divisions in Burma by stopping two Japanese divisions from reaching Mandalay and other points in the Rangoon valley, where they had hoped to cut off our advance on Rangoon.

Some of the Burmese anti-fascist groups are claiming that they, too, have helped get the Japs out of Burma; but such claims are doubtful.

"Father" Helps Major

The communists are called the poor man's party of Burma. But their past has been multicolored. First they were on one side in politics and then on the other. For a long time they were useful. Now they are in a debatable position.

The communists and various youth movements lent support to the allies but their help was small in comparison with that of the ignorant hillmen.

Three majors of the hillmen told their story. One major dropped by parachute into Arakan last January.

Found by Chin hillmen, the major was told that if he treated an old hillman like his father he would help him to escape.

Primitive Mathematics

Subsequently, with his native "father," Maj. "X" formed an intelligence net behind the Japanese lines. The natives' reports of figures up to a hundred usually were correct, but figures over that didn't mean much to the hillmen. A report of a thousand Japanese merely meant there were a lot of them. However, the tribesmen and Maj. "X" got along efficiently.

Another major said he had been chased over half Burma by plainsmen, but had been helped wherever he had found hill tribesmen. He lived on rice cakes and drank rice liquor. He kept constantly on the move for over 10 months. Walking up a stream, he would leave notes that he would meet certain natives some days hence at certain spots. Then he would go on, hoping that this would delay the Japs behind him in the expectation that he would return as the notes indicated.

Never trusting those who he felt were "committed" to the Japanese, he made his way, struggling under a 70 pound wireless set. He defined "committed" as describing one who was a military traitor, had jailed or shot British or Americans, or had transferred his possessions into Japanese currency.

REVEAL HANGING OF TEN FOR PLOT ON HITLER'S LIFE

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MUNICH, Germany, May 18—Fritz Elsas, former mayor of Berlin and one of the most active leaders in Germany's tiny underground, was hanged Jan. 23 in Berlin together with nine other men, including the former Bavarian diplomatic representative to Berlin and a Count Moltke. They were charged with taking part in the plot to assassinate Hitler on July 20.

Elsas was removed from office by the Nazis when they assumed power because he was a Jew. He was allowed to retain his home and part of his money as "the husband of a German Aryan and the father of three half Aryan children." His son served in the army, which gave the family a certain amount of protection until he was placed in a concentration camp a year and a half ago for expressing the belief that Germany should seek a compromise peace.

Sought to Aid Allies

Elsas devoted all his time to the secret "Staedtetag," which was an association of former mayors and administrators of German cities who were anti-Nazis. Before I left Germany in 1941 Elsas told me that he hoped his organization could help overthrow the Nazis or, if that failed, it would at least be able to provide key men necessary to help the allies run German cities and their utilities after the Nazis were beaten.

When allied military government officials occupying Germans cities failed to receive offers from certain technical men it was clear that the Nazis had smashed Elsas' underground organization. The widow of one of the men hanged after the attempt on Hitler's life cleared up the mystery when I interviewed her today. She spoke of "charming Frau Elsas' daughter," who shared a cell with her in Moabit prison at the time her husband and Elsas were hanged.

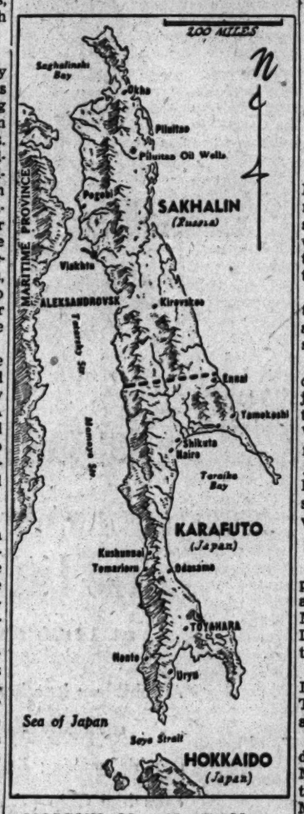
Elsas and his wife were arrested in September. When Mrs. Elsas insisted upon knowing where her mother and sister were kept, the Gestapo seized her and shipped her to the concentration camp at Ravensbrueck. They informed the mother that this move was "to punish the unseemly curiosity of her youngest child."

My informant did not know which Count Moltke was hanged, but assumed that it was Herbert, who had been sentenced to death a year ago. He was one of the leaders of Christian Science in Germany.

Warsaw Poles 'Protect' Two East Prussia Towns

New York, May 18 (AP)—The Lublin radio said today that the municipal national council of Warsaw had assumed "protection" over the east Prussian towns of Elbing and Allenstein. The broadcast said Warsaw "was the first city to take the initiative in assuming the protection of towns that are returning to Poland," and added that the municipal council also had taken a number of decisions "to help in problems of transfer and colonizing the western provinces."

Point of Friction



MOSCOW, May 18 (AP)—Moscow newspapers today prominently displayed a letter to Premier Stalin asserting that the northern, soviet half of the Russian-Japanese Pacific island of Sakhalin was "immemorably Russian land."

The letter, from the people of northern Sakhalin, took up a third of a page of every morning newspaper. It was sent on the 20th anniversary of "liberation from Japanese occupationists." "The toiling masses of Sakhalin" said they had dedicated themselves to the principle of "not for one minute lessening our efforts in the cause of further strengthening the defensive growth of the military might of our homeland and strengthening the defensive power of Sakhalin." Oil bearing Sakhalin long has been an irritating question in Japanese-Russian relations.

The soviet army newspaper, Red Star, reported a training meeting of Russian army commanders in eastern Siberia facing Japanese occupied Manchuria.

YANKS CAPTURE VITAL MANILA DAM; TRAP JAPS

Guerrillas Help in Taking Structure

MANILA, May 19 [Saturday] (AP)—Forty-third division Yanks and guerrillas captured the vital Ipo dam, source of one-third of Manila's water, and closed a trap on several thousand Japanese troops late yesterday.

Ipo dam was taken intact, altho the Japanese had the opportunity and the demolitions sufficient to destroy it.

A guerrilla force under Col. Marcus Augustin closed the northern jaw of a pincers against light opposition, but Maj. Gen. Leonard F. Wing's 43d infantry met harder fighting in slugging the southern jaw shut. The action trapped a large Japanese force but the enemy still was fighting hard and appeared well supplied.

Raided with Fire Bombs

The final assault on the dam was preceded by one of the most intense aerial fire bomb raids in this theater. More than 375 Thunderbolts and Lightnings of the 5th air force gave the area a severe two day blasting.

Capture of the dam does not bring Ipo water to Manila immediately. The Japanese still hold part of the aqueduct route.

Maj. Gen. Clarence Martin's 31st division moved six miles in central Mindanao to capture Valencia and the two adjacent airdromes, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

Near a Juncture

Two other Yank divisions, the 40th and the Americal, were moving down from the north and were only 40 miles from a juncture with the 31st. The two outfits scored a successful flanking maneuver around Japanese defenses at the Mangima river.

This was the first mention of Maj. Gen. William H. Arnold's veteran Americal division on Mindanao. This division last was invading the central Philippine Visayan islands.

Fight Hand to Hand

Substantial gains against decreasing resistance were reported in the Davao area of southeastern Mindanao, where Maj. Roscoe Woodruff's 24th division fought bitter hand-to-hand engagements after capturing Davao city.

The 24th thrust four miles northward to the edge of the Sasa airdrome.

Australian and Dutch troops reached the east coast of Tarakan Island, off Borneo. The Aussies and Dutch have all the important points on the little island, tho mopping up remains.

JAPS IN BURMA FALLING BACK ON MOULMEIN

CALCUTTA, India, May 18 (AP)—Thousands of bedraggled Japanese, large numbers in poor physical condition, fell back today toward Moulmein, which they seized early in 1942 in embarking on the conquest of Burma.

It was estimated that 44,000, many of them rear echelon troops, were involved in the general withdrawal all the way from near Thazi, 290 miles north of Rangoon, to Moulmein, which is 90 miles east of the Burmese capital across the gulf of Martaban. Near the center of this front the Japanese put up stiff resistance east of Toungoo, on the mountainous approaches to the Thailand border, but elsewhere no unified defense appeared.

West of this sector, between Toungoo and Prome, in western Burma, 12,000 more Japanese milled in a trap, trying to break out eastward.

Japanese opposition evaporated in western Burma north and east of Taungup, 185 miles northwest of Rangoon, where an estimated 5,000 enemy troops were cut off.

REDS ASK RUHR COAL, BUT WON'T SHARE SILESIA'S

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

PARIS, May 18—While asking for a share of the Ruhr coal up to 50 per cent, Russia contends that Silesian coal belongs to Poland and thus should not go into the reparations pool, it was learned here today. This is regarded here as typical of the Russian policy of closing eastern Europe to the western allies while at the same time Russia seeks to exert her influence as far west as the North sea and the Danish island she occupied recently.

This policy is expected to intensify the difficulty of the allies in deciding the political and economic organization of Germany, and some predict that within Germany, as outside of Germany, the Russians will go their own way without coördinating their action with the western powers.

It is pointed out that in Yugoslavia they have Marshal Tito as an instrument while across the frontier in Italy they have the Italian Communists and in France the French Communists at their orders.

SWEDES FEAR REDS MAY TURN BORNHOLM INTO A BALTIC MALTA

LONDON, May 18 [Reuters]—The size of soviet forces on Bornholm, Danish island off the tip of Sweden, aroused fears in Sweden today that the Russians may intend to turn the island into a Baltic Malta.

Swedish political and military circles in Stockholm stressed that soviet occupation of the island would almost completely neutralize the Swedish naval base of Karlskrona.

Telephone and postal communications between Bornholm and the outside world have been restored.

Red Chief on Isle

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 18 [Reuters]—Gen. Surtsjenko, commander of soviet forces in northwest Germany, today arrived at Roenne, on the Danish island of Bornholm, for negotiations with the Danish governor. When the discussions are ended the governor will come to Copenhagen to report.

CONSERVATIVES BACK CHURCHILL IN WAR ON JAPS

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—Britain's Conservative party today advanced a 12 point program pledging support for Prime Minister Churchill in waging war against Japan, urging coöperation with the United States and Russia to keep the peace after final victory, and calling for removal of war time controls at home as soon as possible.

Party Treasurer Marchwood, in a statement accompanying the announcement, declared that with the general election near "peace has still to be won," and added "there was never a time when it was so necessary that British foreign policy should be expounded to the world by statesmen who are trusted at home and respected abroad."

In urging vigorous development of the empire for the benefit of all its peoples, the Conservatives asked "the fullest opportunity for individual initiative," a determined policy for full employment, and recovery and extension of Britain's essential export trade.

TELLS HITLER'S DESPERATE PLOT TO SPLIT ALLIES

Orders Goebbels to Plant Story About Reds

SOUTHERN GERMANY, May 18 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's principal secretary said today the fallen fuehrer made one last desperate effort to split the allies by ordering Propaganda Minister Goebbels to plant a story that the Russians were arming 200,000 Germans to fight England.

But when the plot fizzled as front communications were broken, Hitler decided on the afternoon of April 22 that all was lost and declared he knew he would die in Berlin, said the secretary, Gerhardt Herrgesell, who believes the fuehrer lies dead somewhere in the capital.

The secretary said he left Berlin April 22 for Berchtesgaden with thousands of pages of notes on the inside story of Germany at war in the last two years. With a staff of eight, he now is in a southern German city transcribing his shorthand.

Goering in Plot

The secretary asserted that even after Hitler abandoned hope of splitting the allies, Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop and Goebbels still clung to the delusion that Britain would turn on Russia.

In ordering Goebbels and Reichsmarshal Goering to put out the story of Russians arming Germans, Hitler was paraphrased by Herrgesell as follows:

"Let's get this story planted among the British. I am sure they don't realize as we do what the Russian plans are. Maybe we can get the British to thinking the Russians are going beyond the boundaries they promised to keep behind earlier in the war.

"Really, we have something to go on. The English ought to see that the German national movement [of captured generals in Moscow] really is a danger to them, because if the Russians can organize the generals, there will be an important fighting body of Germans the Russians can turn against England."

Hoped to Pin Down Yanks

This idea long had run thru Hitler's thinking, the secretary continued, recalling the time that Hitler gathered a dozen division commanders and their aides at Berchtesgaden Dec. 12, 1944, just before the ill-fated Ardennes offensive in the west.

Herrgesell said that by this blow Hitler hoped to pin down the British and American forces, then turn on the Russians and perhaps by that time the English would come into the fight against Russia.

After the Ardennes offensive failed and American armies began chewing up German units all along the front, Hitler called a hurried conference with Field Marshal Keitel, chief of the high command, and Col. Gen. Jodl, his military adviser.

Didn't Know Lines' Location

The secretary said Hitler would ask about a certain division and would be told, "We think it is at this place, but the American radio announced it is surrounded here."

Whereupon the fuehrer would fall into a deep reflection, then break it off with a query about some other division.

Herrgesell said it became apparent from mid-February onward that Hitler, trying to direct the battle from Berlin or Berchtesgaden, was without important communications either east or west and often was unaware of where his own or the allied lines were.

Herrgesell and other men closest to Hitler insist that the fuehrer never had a double. An American officer who before the war was in Berlin and was close to a number of the Germans said most men he knew never took stock in the double theory.

Battle Savage Japanese Resistance

Strike for Paoching

CHUNGKING, China, May 18 (AP)—Chinese troops pursued enemy forces over Hunan province's 1,500 foot hills today toward the key Japanese base of Paoching, guarding the communications city of Hengyang in Japan's supply corridor across China.

Chinese soldiers were within 18 miles northwest of Paoching and 73 miles northwest of Hengyang Thursday. The Chinese high command indicated that the entire right wing of the abortive Japanese drive on the American air base at Chihkiang, 250 miles southeast of Chungking, had folded up.

The Chinese pursued these fleeing Japanese forces southeast from Yangchi, 40 miles northwest of Paoching, and battled 55 miles from the Hengyang-Kweilin railroad. Fighting continued outside Foochow, on China's east coast from which Chinese assault forces were forced to withdraw after a five day street battle.

Report Foochow Retaken

CHUNGKING, May 19 [Saturday] [Reuters]—The Chinese port city of Foochow was recaptured Friday by Chinese forces, the newspaper Takungpao said today. The report has not been officially confirmed. The Chinese withdrew from the city earlier in the week.

SOUTH FRANCE CAMP TO PASS GI'S TO PACIFIC

PARIS, May 18 (AP)—A staging area capable of processing up to 15,000 Pacific-bound American soldiers daily is being prepared in southern France. Marseille has been selected as a departure point for troops going directly to the Pacific. The staging area will receive the troops as fast as they are designated for Pacific duty in an assembly area farther back.

Col. J. Totten Miesagaes, staging area commander, said facilities for processing and equiping 90,000 soldiers simultaneously were near completion.

Units will remain no longer than one week in the area. The camp will have semi-permanent accommodations for 60,000 staged troops and 10,000 permanent personnel, as well as bivouac room for 30,000 transient troops.

FALLS TO DEATH FROM PORCH

FIND GERMANY LARGELY NATION OF WOMEN NOW

WIESBADEN, Germany, May 18 (AP)—American officers coming to grips with the task of governing Germany are somewhat startled today by the realization they have on their hands a nation which is largely feminine.

Preliminary surveys show that at the moment there are five women for every two German men in the adult productive years and this was expected to weigh heavily in the post-war behavior of the country, involving psychological considerations with which veteran officers admit they are unfamiliar.

Even the return of German prisoners will not balance the situation until today's children grow up. As a consequence hundreds of thousands of maturing German women face the prospect of a husbandless life if the nation is going to stick to monogamy.

See Spiritual Smashup Likely

The Nazi slave labor system released an extraordinarily high proportion of German men for the fronts where they became casualties or prisoners. Now the burdens of reconstruction and reparations sacrifices are to fall most heavily on women and if, in addition, it is to be a loveless life, it may lead, in the opinion of some officers, to a spiritual smashup which could have repercussions far beyond the German frontiers.

Lt. U. C. Biel, of New York City, military government officer making a study of this factor, said if even one frustrated woman was unpredictable the mass of feminine frustration which seems in store for Germany was completely outside the bounds of calculation and could bring strange unprecedented slants to the post-war mentality.

Germans Form Party

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—The allied controled Luxemburg radio said today German socialist circles had centered their activitiy on the university city of Halle and formed a party there, apparently the first under military government sanction.

The organization has taken in former Communist, German front, and Catholic party members and a trade union group and is headed by Fritz Mettich, former Communist party leader who was liberated from a concentration camp, the radio said.

The soviet controled Berlin radio announced that "Berlin self-administration has started." The broadcast said Russian military authorities had approved a "council of self-administration" with several former members of the reichstag among its members.

German Bank Deposits Rise

PARIS, May 18 (AP)—Allied headquarters disclosed today that money which German civilians hoarded during the war is coming out of hiding, now that the mark has been pegged at 10 to the dollar and confidence in the currency is returning. At Bad Godesberg, for instance, American military government officials said deposits in local banks have jumped from 3,000,000 to 7,000,000 reichsmarks since the arrival of American troops.

"The baby is the only help I have around here. He at least mops up the floor!"

BIG ALLIED FLEET OFF TO ATTACK, SAYS JAP RADIO

San Francisco, Cal., May 18 (AP)—Alerting the homeland about a "powerful allied fleet" steaming out of the Marianas which "requires rigid watch," radio Tokyo acknowledged today that American troops are fighting in the "immediate outskirts" of Shuri on Okinawa.

The broadcast said the fleet had left the Marianas last Sunday or Monday. Following exhortations by Japanese war ministers to be prepared to defend the homeland against attacks, the broadcast emphasized the possibility of such an attack momentarily.

Domei news agency claimed that Japanese flyers sank an American carrier and crippled two cruisers and an unidentified vessel around Okinawa Wednesday night.

FLEET OF B-29S BLASTS TOKYO IN DAYLIGHT SMASH

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—More than 150 Super Fortresses struck at Tokyo today [May 19 Japanese time] in a daylight raid with demolition bombs.

The 20th air force headquarters said the attack was aimed at industrial targets in the western outskirts of the capital. The announcement said a very large task force took off just before dawn from bases of Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay's 21st bomber command in the Marianas.

Radio Tokyo said 80 B-29s attacked the Kanto and Hamamato areas of Tokyo but caused slight damage.

Bomb Hamamatsu Also

GUAM, May 19 [Saturday]—(AP)—More than 300 Super Fortresses, escorted by an unidentified number of fighter planes, plastered Hamamatsu, important Japanese industrial city 60 miles southeast of Nagoya on Honshu Island, with high explosive bombs at midday today [10 p. m. Friday, Chicag war time].

B-29s have destroyed or damaged 11.3 square miles—22 per cent—of Nagoya, Japan's third largest city and key center of the empire's aircraft industry, Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay announced today.

New areas burned out or damaged in two 500 Super Fortress fire bomb raids Monday and Thursday total 5.9 square miles, complete photo reconnaissance study disclosed.

In this week's raids the B-29s dropped 2 million six pound incendiaries. Three important Nagoya plants were virtually destroyed. These were the Mizuho branch of Aichi Aircraft works, Osaka Machinery works, and Nagoya No. 3 plant of Tokai Electrode company.

In raids March 12 and 19, six industrial targets were damaged, including the Nissan Chemical plant, Tokio cotton mill, and Yamada Engineering works.

Raid 4 Formosa Cities

San Francisco, Cal., May 18 (AP)—About 80 Philippines based American bombers attacked four principal cities of Formosa and their air fields today, Domei [Japanese] news agency reported tonight.

COAST TO COAST TELEVISION SEEN WITHIN 5 YEARS

Predicts New York-to Chicago Link in 1946

BY LARRY WOLTERS

A television network linking Chicago with New York will be functioning by the end of 1946 or early 1947, and a coast to coast television chain will be ready by 1950, Paul B. Mowrey, manager of television of the American Broadcasting company, told the Executives club at a luncheon in Hotel Sherman yesterday.

Mowrey said that technically television is excellent now but that the production of television programs is lagging behind engineering. He said that post-war video receivers would cost from $75 to $1,200, and suggested that the most popular range of buying would be in the $250 to $300 class.

"Hollywood will have to produce more A pictures," he said, "and fewer B, C, and D pictures if they want to lure people away from the good television fare they will be getting at their firesides."

Production costs should run about the same as for present radio shows, he said. However, television operational costs will be higher. Mowrey estimated it would cost from $200,000 to $300,000 for transmitter, cameras, other equipment, and a plant.

Mowrey said that more than 100 sponsors already had used television. He hazarded the opinion that there would be no conflict between television, standard radio, and newspapers.

Color television holds considerable promise, he said, but declined to forecast when it will be introduced.

HEARING FOR WOMAN AND MANUFACTURER POSTPONED BY COURT

Trial of Dan Thomas, 48, president of the Canady-Otto Manufacturing company, Chicago Heights, and Miss Hazel Adams, 30, of 4025 Kenmore av., on charges of disorderly conduct was postponed until June 15 by Judge Edward P. Luczak in Chicago av. court yesterday. They were arrested in bed in room 1114 of the Lincoln hotel, 1816 N. Clark st., Thursday. They are at liberty under bonds of $200 each.

Judge Luczak issued a second warrant, charging adultery, against Thomas alone. Thomas' wife, Maude, was in court and told reporters the day was the 24th anniversary of the couple's marriage.

"This woman [Mrs. Thomas] has been bothering my client," Atty. John H. Lyle, representing Thomas and Miss Adams, told the judge. "She wants a $50,000 settlement in her divorce suit."

"We want $60,000," snapped Mrs. Thomas' attorney, Clarence M. Dunagan.

The divorce suit is scheduled to be heard Monday.

Citizens Program Gives Salute to U. of C. School

The University of Chicago Laboratory school will be saluted on the Citizens of Tomorrow program over W-G-N at 10 a. m. today. Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the university, and Warren C. Seyfert, director of the school, will be heard. Philip Maxwell of the Tribune's staff, who conducts the program, will name Harry Gibbs II., president of the student council, to the roll of honor.

Sun Brings a Wash Day and Housewives Scrub

Stores thruout the city yesterday reported big sales on wash soaps, clothes lines, and clothes pins as the first sunshine in weeks provided an ideal washday. Not taking any chances that today will be equally pleasant, many housewives helped one another wash and hang the clothes. Neighborhood back yards, with hundreds of clean, white clothes hanging out, looked like surrendering German towns. Monday was no longer the official wash day.

1,000 BOND AIDS TO BE GUESTS AT THEATER OF AIR

More than 1,000 treasury department employes, who work behind the scenes in the 7th war loan drive, will be guests during the Chicago Theater of the Air broadcast over W-G-N, WGNB, and the Mutual network from Medinah temple auditorium from 9 to 10 o'clock tonight. Rudolph Friml's "Vagabond King" will be presented, with Bruce Foote in the role of Francois Villon, Marion Claire as Katherine de Vaucelles, and Ruth Slater as Haguette. Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of The Chicago Tribune, will speak.

West Chicago Airman Liberated in Germany

OTTAWA, Ont., May 18 (AP)—The Canadian air force reported today that two of its officers, Frank Renkiewicz, son of Joseph Renkiewicz, West Chicago, Ill., and John D. Sweeney, Sturgis, Mich., had been freed from German camps.

U. S. GEN. SIMPSON PINS HIGH MEDAL ON RED GENERAL

MOSCOW, May 18 (AP)—Red Star reported today a meeting of Lt. Gen. Simpson of the United States 9th army and soviet army Gen. V. D. Tsvetaev while American planes flew low overhead forming the letters U. S. S. R. in both English and Russian.

The generals commanded armies which met on the Elbe southwest of Berlin while Germany was collapsing. Simpson pinned a high decoration on Tsvetaev and embraced him, and then gave awards to other Russian generals and officers.

Tass said the American gave a dinner for the Russians at which toasts were drunk to "the soviet high command, hero generals, and gallant soviet soldiers." A concert and entertainment by visiting American actors followed and "lasted late into the night."

American troops of Simpson's command were drawn up as honor guards and paraded in honor of the Russians.

"Man Called X" to Pinch-hit for Bob Hope

"Man Called X" is the show picked as summer pinch-hitter for Bob Hope, beginning in mid-June. This mystery play, starring Herbert Marshall as Mr. X, has been an airwave favorite for some time.

Static? Pooh! Not With These Radios!

On the fighting fronts, radio communication must cut through vast fields of static generated by the machines of modern warfare. To accomplish this, improvements have been made in radio which cancel out the interference remarkably.

The benefits of this development will be enjoyed by peacetime radio listeners. On your coming Majestic radio, broadcasts will be heard distinctly despite such static generators as electric razors, elevators, or vacuum cleaners.

Electronic filters will serve as magic sieves in your coming Majestic radio—to strain out disturbing noises. Moreover, your Majestic's speaker will "float" on special cushions which absorb vibrations. Tone purity will be protected by Frequency Modulation broadcasting, brought to you flawlessly over your Majestic's FM circuit. Your postwar Majestic radio will give you greater enjoyment, dependability, economy.

Prize From The Blue

The Lady and The Bandit

Frail and feminine Betty Arnold, heard in The Guiding Light, Today's Children and Woman in White recently routed a six-foot sneak thief. Awakened by a slight noise in her kitchen, Betty headed thataway and bumped into the intruder, who topped her by a good two feet. The mild-mannered Miss Arnold reached for the family electric iron, took aim and let fly. "Darn you, get out," she snarled like an infuriated dove. He did.

NAVY MAN TELLS HOW HE FOILED U-BOAT BLASTS

New York, May 18 (AP)—A 45 year old navy lieutenant told today how he and other members of a boarding party prevented scuttling of the German submarine U-505, first enemy war vessel captured at sea by the United States navy since 1815. The capture took place last June 4 about 400 miles off Dakar, French West Africa. The destroyer escort Pillsbury, with the carrier Guadalcanal, had forced the submarine to surface with depth charges. The undersea craft's crew members had leaped overboard.

When the Americans boarded the U-505 they found 14 delayed action demolition charges—any of which could have sunk the craft—wired to explode in nine minutes, said Lt. Albert Leroy David of Madison, Wis., who led the boarding party of eight.

"We began pulling wires from the bombs and every time I pulled one I said 'Here goes nothing,'" recounted David, who received the navy cross yesterday and has been recommended for the congressional medal of honor.

Lt. Comdr. George W. Cassleman, 4843 Kentucky av., Chicago [son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris J. Cassleman of 2414 W. Eastward av.], who commanded the Pillsbury, said one of the submarine's bow planes punctured the destroyer escort's hull below the water line, flooding four compartments. The U-boat was towed 2,000 miles to Bermuda, Cassleman said. Forty-seven survivors were picked up.

British Escort Carrier Sinks Off Scottish Isles

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—The escort carrier Dasher, whose loss was announced by the admiralty yesterday, sank in the Firth of Clyde off the Scottish Isles of Arran and Ayrshire last March 27 after a violent explosion. The ship went down in a few minutes. The number of casualties was not disclosed.

COL. STEWART NAMED HEAD OF BOMBER WING

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—Col. James Stewart, onetime film actor, has been named commander of a Liberator bomber wing, 8th air force headquarters announced today. An American bomber wing usually is made up of three or more bases having a personnel of 3,000 men. Stewart had been wing operations officer. He came to England nearly two years ago as a bomber pilot and squadron commander with the rank of a captain. He flew several of the toughest missions over Germany, including the first daylight raid on Berlin. Later he was assigned to a desk job.

The former actor replaces Col. Milton W. Arnold, Washington, D. C., who was appointed chief of staff to Brig. Gen. Walter R. Peck, commander of the United States 2d air division.

OTHER PARTIES FOR CHINA URGED BY KUOMINTANG

CHUNGKING, China, May 19 [Saturday] (AP)—China's government party approved today a resolution of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek calling for legalization of other political groups.

The sixth national Kuomintang party congress also adopted Chiang-sponsored resolutions to abolish all party headquarters in the Chinese armies within three months and ban party branches in the schools.

Londoners Jam Railroad Stations for Bank Holiday

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—Londoners lined up at railroad terminals tonight for trips to the country and seaside for the first peace time bank holiday in more than five years. No extra trains were available for the crowds which stood in line for seats in sticky, sultry weather determined just the same to relax away from home over the Whitsun week-end which extends Saturday, Sunday, and Monday.

750 KENTUCKY MINERS STRIKE FOR MORE MEAT

Pikeville, Ky., May 18 [Special]—Asserting that "we can't dig coal on vegetables," 750 Kentucky coal miners went on a strike for more meat today, forcing the closing of two large mines in this area. Daily production of 7,000 tons of coal was halted.

Tom Raney, international representative of the United Mine Workers, said the men are not able to put in a full day's work unless they have a substantial amount of meat in their diet. Representatives of the union and the Big Sandy Coal Operators' association are trying to get the federal government to divert some meat to this area.

A survey among 1,200 miners in this area showed that the men had consumed an average of only 13 ounces of meat in the last 30 days, or less than half an ounce a day per man.

More than 1,000 West Virginia coal miners went on strike yesterday because of lack of meat.

STEAL TAVERN LIQUOR AND RADIO

Seven cases of whisky, a half case of gin, and a radio, all valued at $290, and $10 were stolen Thursday night from a tavern at 1745 Division st., the owner, Paul Czerkas, told police yesterday.

STRIKES SPREAD IN FRANCE OVER FOOD SITUATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 18 — Discontent increased among French workers today and more strikes were reported. Protests against lack of ministerial action piled up in the offices of the French Confederation of Labor. Some of the strikes taking place are symbolic—staged only for an hour or so—but the general aspect is something like that of 1936.

Outstanding today was the walkout of 4,000 employes of the social insurance organization. Every pay window was closed. Reports from Lille said the strike of railway workers was extending in the north. The strike of the Cambrai region rail lines has spread to Flanders and the mining region. In addition, Marseille street car workers threaten to walk out Tuesday unless increased wage demands are met. Gas works and water works employes in Marseille also have staged symbolic strikes.

Louis Saillant, president of the National Council of Resistance and former secretary of the General Confederation of Labor, said today that the food deficiency is the crux of the present strike movement. Other labor leaders said that it is indicative of the urgency of social reforms generally.

FRENCH ARREST VICHY'S BLIND ENVOY TO NAZIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 18—Georges Scapini, blind politician who was "ambassador for prisoners" in the Vichy government, and Robert Bosquet, general secretary for police under Vichy, were arrested and submitted to a long questioning by the judiciary police today. They had been flown back from Munich. The questioning was to determine whether the two politicians will be haled before the high court on treason charges. Scapini made frequent trips to Germany in looking after prisoners during the war and was carried off by the Germans in 1943. Bosquet, tho he was a friend of Pierre Laval, refused to arrest French patriots and was arrested by the German Gestapo.

THE ATROCITY REPORT

The report on atrocities in German concentration camps submitted by 12 members of the senate and house is a shocking document, but it is factual, comprehensive, judicious, and entirely convincing. The committee of inquiry, numbering among its members Senators Barkley, Brooks, George, and Wherry, reported that there were more than 100 concentration camps for slave laborers and political prisoners in Germany. Of these, the committee was able to visit three which were representative—those at Buchenwald, Nordhausen, and Dachau.

With the same pattern running thru these different camps, the conditions prevailing could not have been accidental or merely the fault of individuals. The vast numbers of persons starved, abused, and murdered point to a systematic plan to destroy all dissentients, not only in Germany but thruout Europe, who challenged the "new order" of the Nazis.

The congressional investigators emphasized that the camps in which these methods were employed were not those in which American and other prisoners of war were held. Military prisoners suffered from insufficient food, causing losses in weight of from 15 to 55 pounds, and there were some instances of brutality. One mentioned by Sen. Barkley was a 19 day forced march, in which stragglers were prodded with bayonets and spent the last 36 hours of their journey in box cars without food or water.

But resort to widespread and systematic extermination was reserved for Europeans over whom the Hitlerites claimed dominion. These included Germans as well as the nationals of occupied countries. There were four general classifications of prisoners in the concentration camps: [1] political prisoners; [2] habitual criminals; [3] conscientious or religious prisoners; and [4] persons imprisoned for refusal to work.

Some estimate of the mentality of the gestapo and SS guards who operated these camps can be made from the fact that the habitual criminals occupied a favored status and were employed as auxiliaries of the camp police. "Generally," the report states, "a German criminal was placed in charge of each block or shed in which the prisoners slept. Periodically he would choose the one prisoner of his block who seemed the most alert or intelligent or showed the most leadership qualities. These would report to the guards' room and would never be heard from again."

It was evident that the entire program had as its object the eradication of all persons whose moral and intellectual qualifications made them potential leaders around whom opposition might rally. The investigators said: "We found that the propagation of the Nazi theories and the practices which were carried forward under those theories created within Germany a disregard for human rights and for the dignity of the individual human being which not only degraded the life of the people within the German reich, but which was inevitably calculated to bring about war between Germany and her neighbors."

It is impossible to avoid the conclusion that police terror and calculated extermination of political dissentients is inevitably part of the apparatus of the totalitarian state. Germany is not alone in the adoption of these diabolical methods. The concentration camps and purges which have enforced the communist rule in Russia are hardly less notorious than their counterparts in Hitler's reich, altho the Tibetan seclusion of Russia has discouraged any such thoro study as was made possible by the American conquest of Germany.

Concentration camps and their infamous record are indices of a sickness of the soul that afflicts the totalitarian system, no matter under what name it goes. When people surrender themselves to the state they surrender their will, their character, and their decency. When they depart from constitutions and an independent judiciary whose primary loyalty is to the law they are rendered defenseless. The tyrant's whim henceforth governs their lives. The foulest acts are perpetrated in the name of the state. All the people can hope to do is retain their skins and some little part of their reason.

There are lessons in this for Americans. Their own country has not completely escaped the spread of political intolerance and the preachments that the state must have the ascendancy over all those whom it is designed to serve. They can look to Germany and profit from the knowledge that insanity does not become sanity by virtue of being universalized.

"MAYBE I SHOULD HAVE BEEN ELECTED TO OPA"

A new congressman, particularly if he is a member of the minority, is more often seen than heard. When he is permitted to speak, it is after his seniors have spoken. When he draws committee assignments, he gets what the older congressmen have passed over.

So it was with Rep. James G. Fulton [Rep., Pa.], who is attending his first session. He was a navy lieutenant when elected, and arrived late to take his seat. They put him on the civil service committee of the house.

Mr. Fulton arose some time ago to make his maiden speech. It was at the end of the day's proceedings. Most of those who remained to hear him were also newcomers to congress.

"It amazes me," said Mr. Fulton, "that our body has permitted such a great portion of its duties to be taken over by bureaus and the burocrats, merely thru failure to use congress' own powers. I am therefore going to put life into a committee of congress, and let me hear the first to vote against it."

Mr. Fulton then submitted a resolution asking that $500,000 be appropriated to investigate the whole civil service system. He pointed out that the house committee, thru its nominal control over civil service, is charged with supervising the spending of 7 billion dollars a year and with checking up on the need for and efficiency of 2,888,900 federal employes in this country. There are another 450,000 outside the continental limits.

Yet, said Mr. Fulton, the congressional committee is attempting to do this with but seven investigators—one for each billion dollars it permits to be spent, one for each 400,000 payrollers. He said that if congress would support his inquiry he would save a billion dollars. Perhaps a billion is not so much these days—only 14 per cent or so of the tremendous present pay roll—but it's still a billion saved. In the preceding congress, continued Mr. Fulton, the committee had tried with small resources to effect some saving, but the New Deal majority had killed off the attempt at the roots.

"By this action to its own children, its own committees," said Mr. Fulton, "congress is gradually committing suicide in the eyes of the American people and the services. I was elected to the place where they make the laws, but when I, as a poor relative, look across to the rich fields of the bureaus and the burocrats and see how easily they make a sweeping law by a letter with a date at the top, and have millions of employes, maybe I should have been elected to OPA or a similar agency."

Mr. Fulton, coming fresh from the outside, sees Washington as a great many of his countrymen see it. When he said that "civil service at the present time is just a pious front for a lot of loafing," demanding that the free riders be thrown off the pay roll and that a start should be made to obtain a government career service "that is no prison for abilities and no lock step to pensions and the grave," five other freshmen congressmen got up and applauded him. They see the burocracy as the country sees it. They will have the country with them in bringing reforms.

LET'S HAVE THE FACTS

The British government has relaxed the provisions of the defense of the realm act, enacted at the time of Dunkerque, under which British subjects could be arrested and imprisoned without trial. But there is one case dating from the same period about which Americans are entitled to know more than they have ever been privileged to learn. That was the conviction of Tyler Kent, a code clerk in the American embassy in London, under the British official war secrets act. He was sentenced by a British court to seven years in prison on Nov. 8, 1940.

Kent was tried in secret. All that was ever permitted to be made known of the accusation against him was that he allegedly communicated information obtained thru his embassy connection to a woman, the daughter of a former Russian admiral, who in turn was said to have transmitted it to Germany.

The state department and former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy have both reported publicly on the case, asserting that Kent had abstracted more than 1,500 confidential reports and that the information was not only valuable in itself but may have permitted Germany to break certain codes. The British government, however, has refused to permit Kent to be interviewed during his confinement, and there has been no reply to allegations in the house of commons and United States senate that Kent might have been railroaded because of knowledge that Winston Churchill, before he became prime minister, was permitted to use the American diplomatic code in communicating with the White House.

It may be that Kent was justly convicted, but the British government is not serving its interests by continuing to keep secret the transcript of the trial. Kent was tried before this country went to war and the surrender of Germany removes the last excuse for continued suppression of the facts.

SAVE YOUR MONEY

The Republican national committee has begun to solicit funds for the 1946 congressional elections and the national campaign two years later. The party's activities are said to have been reorganized in the hope of getting "definite results." The reorganization is not very apparent. In the opinion of THE TRIBUNE the same crowd that controled the last two Republican conventions and did not want a Republican nominee is still in control.

These party manipulators chose candidates in 1940 and 1944 whose defeat would have been assured even if they were not made to run on platforms which made defeat a foregone conclusion. Indications are that the same crowd is still in the saddle and that another joker, of the order of Stassen, will be its choice to take the dive in 1948. Under these circumstances we cannot advise Republicans to spend their money to keep the party in the minority.

If Wall street runs the party, Wall street should pay for it.

THE "A. P." KEEPS FAITH

[Oakland (Cal.) Tribune]

Mr. Edward Kennedy's Associated Press dispatch reporting the unconditional surrender of Germany to the western allies and to Russia was the greatest news event of our time. . . . Millions of mothers, fathers, and other kin of our armed forces in Europe were thus given the authentic news that they had been longing and praying for and to which they were entitled.

Mr. Kennedy did his full duty and only his duty when he filed his epochal story . . . And yet an unprecedented situation of official agreement to withhold or delay for at least 24 hours this stupendous news was revealed in Washington and London.

It would have been an unforgivable affront to the people of the United States, brought up on the principle of freedom of the press, if the Associated Press had been a party to their betrayal by withholding or delaying publication for even an hour of Mr. Kennedy's dispatch . . . Fortunately, the Associated Press and Mr. Kent Cooper, champion of a free press and free access to news at its source in all nations, were faithful to their principles and to the free people this news gathering organization serves . . .

MR. PEPYS GETS WET

19th May—This week's spell of weather is called "blackberry winter" by country folk, according to my correspondent, E. O. D., who dwells in Champaign. Maybe that will make everybody feel better, but I doubt it. E. O. D. says he went out in the rain, the wind, and the cold and walked down a lane, looking for proof, and sure enough he found a wild blackberry bush with small white blossoms.

After blackberry winter, according to my own weather dope, comes "snowball winter," when the garden shrubs called snowballs come into bloom. This ought to happen in a cold wave around Decoration day, but on account of the lateness of spring the snowballs may wait until the Fourth of July.

Last Tuesday, when things were at their worst, I sallied out into the tempest and downtown with five extra pieces of gear, to-wit: Rubbers, rain pants, muffler, slicker over an ulster, and umbrella. Boasted that nothing could get me wet now, but the wind wouldn't let me open the umbrella, so pools of water formed on my hat brim and cataracts rolled down my neck.

Whenever I go to my club for dinner I ask ironically, "What new fish have you got today?" and the waiter grins and fetches out the same old lake trout, or cod, or haddock. But I saw a new species in a butcher shop—ghastly skinned objects, red as war, labeled bullheads. Can remember when housewives used to faint at the sight of bullheads when small boys brought a mess of them home after poaching in the park lagoons. Then the urchins would build a bonfire in a vacant lot and fry said bullheads for a savage feast. Under such circumstances, can testify they are good eating, especially when accompanied by potatoes roasted into charcoal balls in the same fire.

THE GREAT AMEN

Just for a moment did time stand still;
No leaf nor petal its dewdrop could spill;
A-tiptoe, each tree within the wood
Breathless in rapt attention stood;
Deep in the meadows, grasses gave Reverent heed from wave to wave.
Hushed was the earth in solemn wonder
To hear one voice of majestic thunder;
So, for a space, beleaguered men
Heard from the skies a great amen.

Wabash Av. Rialto, Old Style

Linemaster: Remember the old Globe theater at Wabash and Congress, where for a dime you climbed up to the "bridge" of Adm. Dewey's flagship, the Olympia, and gazed around at a thrilling panorama of the Battle of Manila? This was at the birth of this hectic century.

And have you forgotten the grim brick structure that originally stood behind the stone ramparts of the present Coliseum? While not a theater, it was brought here brick by brick from its home on the bank of the James river in Richmond, Va., by Charles Gunther, the candy king, and reconstructed as Libby prison. Somewhere in the public library or the historical society there must be a copy of the catalog of war horrors, to be viewed inside, which was sold for a dime—horrors which in those days were as shocking as those we have recently read about.

THE ZEALOUS ZEBRA

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

When baby zebra first is born
He's rather helpless and forlorn,
But in just three hours, more or less,
He learns to run with such success
That papa's racing in high gear
Can't lose the infant in the rear!
So, as the pace of modern years
Finds your best efforts in arrears,
Don't scold yourself with words unkind;
The reason is not hard to find—
Tho it's too late for vain regrets,
You slept too long in bassinets!

Demigods of the Mountain

The clearest guide on the trail of Barbarossa [May 11] is Bayard Taylor. In "By-Ways of Europe" he explains the origin of the myth:

"The gods of the old Teutonic mythology retreated into the heart of certain sacred mountains and there remained until the leaves began to put forth in the forests, when the people celebrated their reappearance by a spring festival, the Druid Pentecost. In time, the prominent chiefs and rulers took the place of the gods. Charlemagne sat in the Untersberg, near Salzburg. Two centuries later Otto the Great was invested with a subterranean court; then, after an equal space of time, came Barbarossa's turn."

Mrs. E. T. writes: "My husband has written that he is coming home from overseas on furlough and that he will have to return to his organization. I recently read that men sent home on rotation furlough may not be sent back overseas until they have had additional service in the United States. Why will my husband have to return overseas?"

Your husband's furlough to the United States is for the purpose of recuperation, recovery, or rehabilitation, and his military status is temporary duty in the United States. Men sent home under the rotation furlough plan are those for whom replacement has been sent overseas. No replacement is provided for those returned on a temporary duty status. Men sent home under rotation will not be sent back overseas sooner than three months unless they make request in writing.

G. T. D. writes: "When I applied to my former employer for return to my former job he said he would have to discharge the man now holding the job and that, because the man has dependents and I do not, it would be unreasonable to reëmploy me. What are my rights?"

It is your job. It may appear unreasonable to the employer to let the other man go, but selective service takes the position that as long as the job exists and you can still fill it the employer's circumstances are the same as when you left to go into service and the consequences to the third party are not involved.

FACTORS TO CONSIDER IN BEHAVIOR PROBLEMS

FEW of us were "perfect little angels," as children and many can recall some act of deviltment that had a far-reaching influence on our life at the period. Playing hooky can be listed as one of these. The teacher is likely to be consulted on such situations but occasionally the advice of a physician is sought in cases in which a behavior problem is suspected. The question of why the youngster is maladjusted and desires to absent himself must be answered.

Is the lad capable of doing the type of work that is required? In many instances, he has the ability but fails to make good use of his mental faculties. Emotional upheavals at home may be to blame. During war days, with parents moving here and there, many boys and girls change school several times. They may find it difficult to adapt themselves to new instructors and methods of teaching. Occasionally, some fundamental principle is missed which prevents full understanding of a certain subject. On the other hand, if the wherewithal is lacking, a switch to another class may be necessary. Mathematics may be impossible but manual training comes with ease. Thru present day intelligence tests we can estimate this factor and determine whether there is a defect.

Other children do excellent school work but have trouble getting along with their companions. Included in this group is the "only child" who is more at ease with adults than with those of his own age. More often than not, a standard of conduct has been acquired which is beyond his years. There is little in common between himself and his classmates.

By obeying all the rules and regulations, the well behaved pupil may be open to ridicule and ostracism by his colleagues. He may be dubbed a prig, sissy, or teacher's pet and it is little wonder that the "good" boy becomes perverse now and then in an attempt to vindicate himself. Such lapses must be considered normal and not an indication that a jailbird is in the making. The ability to let off a little steam may help to prevent psychic disturbances later.

Certain physical variations—flaming red hair, excessive fatness, or undersize may give rise to considerable teasing. Nothing is more downright than childhood frankness. Unhappiness may also occur because mother insists that unconventional clothing be worn. Much as we parents may object to the sloppy costumes which are now so popular we must remember that children don't want to be "different."

A youngster may be critical of the method of enforcing discipline or believe that his intelligence is being insulted by silly orders of the day. Punishment may lead to grievances and unpopularity. Many of these little ones can be helped by a friendly talk in which the necessity and purposes of these actions are explained. Thus a potential delinquent may be nipped in the bud.

If none of these factors is responsible it may be that the young one is a victim of fear. Because of a dread of water, he cannot face compulsory swimming. We must not overlook physical shortcomings. The tot who is unable to read what is on the blackboard or hear what is being said cannot maintain interest. At any rate, we owe it to our offspring to discover the underlying cause of refractory behavior.

CRYSTAL FORMATION

K. G. writes: What is meant by calcium oxalate crystals in the urine?

REPLY

These octahedral crystals are found frequently in the urine after eating vegetables rich in this substance. Altho seldom significant, they sometimes clump together and form kidney stones.

WEAK BONES AND APPETITE

Mrs. A. A. writes: What could be wrong with my 2 year old girl? Her bones are weak and she has no appetite.

REPLY

This may be rickets, a muscular disorder, the food she is eating, or even mother's imagination.

MAY BE TEMPER

Mrs. Y. writes: My baby turns blue when she cries. Otherwise her color is normal. Is this a sign of anything?

REPLY

Children frequently hold the breath while crying and may turn blue during this period for want of oxygen.

What Ever Happened to Ada Hunter?

If any of the descendants of Ada Hunter happen to see this, will they please get into immediate touch with this department and let us know how they happened to be her descendants? That is, just whom did Ada finally marry? The last we know of her was in the spring of 1881, when she treated a sterling gentleman named Charles Carter like the dog he was not.

Our acquaintance with Ada is confined to her letters to Mr. Carter and his to her, published in Gaskell's "Compendium of Forms," which was the Emily Post of the '80s. You will find them in the division called Letters of Love and Friendship, where Gaskell printed them as a model for all to follow. Heaven knows what effect they had on the lovers of the English speaking world, for what Ada did to Charles is shameless. We reprint them in exact sequence:

1. Charles to Ada, March 26, 1881: "My dear Miss Hunter: You cannot but have been aware for some time past that my feelings toward you have been stronger than those of mere friendship. . . . Am I presumptuous in hoping that you will consent to be my wife? Until I receive your answer, I shall remain your anxious but no less ardent suitor, Charles Carter."

2. Ada to Charles, March 27: "My dear Mr. Carter: How can I thank you for the honor you have done in asking me to be your wife? It affords me the deepest satisfaction to assure you that my sentiments toward you are most favorable, and that I shall be both proud and happy to regard you as my future husband."

[This passionate reply must have stirred the very marrow of Mr. Carter's being. But that minx, Ada, had barely let the ink dry before she sat down and wrote again.]

3. "Dear Sir [note the cold formality]: While confessing myself honored by the preference avowed for me by one whom I have every reason to respect as a gentleman, I feel it would be dishonorable in me to keep you in any suspense where the answer must be unfavorable. For some time past I have been engaged to a gentleman from whom I have every reason to expect happiness and comfort. I hope that henceforth you will regard me only in the light of a friend."

[Let us now see what that mendacious Ada did. Not only could she not make up her mind, but she was also a writing fool, for on the same day she wrote again.]

4. "Dear Charles [note the intimate approach]: To say that I do not feel pleased and flattered would be to tell a useless untruth. . . . But how are we situated? What hope of happiness with our unsettled prospects and worse than small means? Industry has doubtless never been, and never will be, wanting on your part; but the want of patronage and capital will ever hold back the efforts of the most strenuous. . . . No, my dear Charles, we must wait for better times, and not entail misery beyond calculation upon others, as well as ourselves, by a too hasty step. Let us, therefore, continue, as before, friends; and if better times come, it will then be for us to talk about matrimony. Believe me, etc.

[Not until two days later, March 29, did good Mr. Carter muster strength to reply.]

5. "Miss Hunter [note omission of all tender adjectives]: From the highest pinnacle of hope I have sunk to the lowest depths of despair. Your rejection of my passion has filled me with indescribable misery and wretchedness. I now, indeed, feel myself an isolated being, a lonely wanderer. . . . Still, whatever be my fate, wherever I may abide, one only thought will be ever uppermost in my breast, and that thought will be on your lovely self. May you ever be as happy as I am wretched, shall be the constant prayer of your ever attached, tho miserable, Charles Carter."

It is our private bet that when Ada saw this proof of her vile character reprinted in Gaskell's, she, like many another gold digger, vowed never to write another letter.

BEING COMMITTEE WOMAN MAY HELP

Chicago, May 16—So the reason for rationing food is for a fair distribution, so that Mrs. Plain Wife can buy as much for her table as Mrs. Got Rocks can? Then how come Mrs. E. S. Heller, Democratic national committee woman for California, can load her table down with whole "hams, turkeys [in the plural, mind you], and other delicacies?"

Because she was feeding the delegates of 49 nations, you say. Don't make me laugh. Why try to impress these delegates with the idea that food is in such superabundance in the United States? No wonder they go home and are disgruntled because we aren't sending them more prime beef, more butter, more sugar. Mrs. Heller fed 1,000 guests. I don't have enough to feed eight guests once a month when my husband and I decide that we're lonesome for company and would like to follow the age-old idea of American hospitality and have a few friends in for dinner.

If San Francisco hostesses and a lot more of the American "aristocrats" are given extra points that must run into the thousands so that they may put out food for the hungry horde, why not a bonus of a few extra points occasionally for the every day housewife who is pinching along on fewer clothes, less food than ever before, and at the same time is buying bonds to the extent of her purse? "All work and no play" for the Americans is getting to be taken for granted. Our vacations have been a thing unknown of for four years now because of tires and gas. Are we to sit back and leave the other nations' delegates go back to their countries and tell of the "great plenty" we Americans have while the cream of our crops and the cream of our manhood are all going across the seas to them?

"Sucker nation" is right! That's America down to the last citizen of it because we are fools enough to put men in office who condone such treatment for us.

MRS. L. M. ANDERSON

THE SAME HUNGRY LOOK

Chicago, May 15—In answer to "Russia saved America" in yesterday's paper, nobody has saved America except Americans. Everybody has heard about the "dog that bit the hand that fed it." I would continue to watch that "friendly bear." He is giving every indication of being as hungry as Mussolini, Hitler, or Japan. He may be a little more subtle, but it's the same look and bite.

FOR AMERICA FIRST

TWO TERM LIMITATION

Chicago, May 12—When is congress going to act on a matter so often suggested to it—namely: that the tenure of office of the President be limited to two terms? While congress has many matters of importance to consider at present, it seems to many that this is of sufficient significance not to be deferred.

ALICE DONOVAN

WHO SAVED WHOM?

Muncie, Ind., May 15—In his letter of May 10, Dorrance S. White applauds Russia as the savior of England and the United States.

With all respect to Russia's gallant fight, who was it who in 1942 was backed up to the gates of Moscow and Stalingrad? If I remember correctly it was our lend-lease which corrected that situation. Then, later, as our armies were hitting the beaches of France, Russia was again stalemated in Poland.

I can see only in the Yalta conference a repetition of Munich with the names of Hitler and Chamberlain exchanged for those of Stalin, Churchill, and Roosevelt, and with Poland the prize instead of Czechoslovakia.

Have our 140,000 boys who died so gloriously, given their lives to replace German imperialism with that of Russia? If so, our sons may be called upon to settle another European mess just as our fathers did in 1917 and as our generation has since 1941.

FRANCIS A. GEITH

ARE CONGRESSMEN EXCEPTIONS?

Des Moines, Ia., May 11—Congressmen, who froze wages on the 1941 level, apparently cannot "take" this law themselves. They just raised their own salaries more than $200 a month by voting themselves $2,500 a year in expenses to cover "increased costs of living." If their so-called OPA ceilings are effective, why has their cost of living advanced more than $200 a month?

They slyly made this raise not subject to taxation. Thus they also do not wish to be subject to the crushing taxes that will result from their reckless spending. In other words, congress conveys to the American taxpayer the idea that only the cost of living of members of congress has advanced; that frozen wages are only for the man who really works, and that the present high taxes should be acceptable to every one except congressmen.

FUR COAT GUARANTEE

Chicago, May 17—In March, 1944, I bought a fur coat which carried a two year guarantee from date of purchase. It has been given the best of care but the fur is faded and worn down almost to a bare skin. 1. What steps should I take to have the coat replaced? 2. Is the furrier obliged to credit me with the full amount I paid for the coat?

R. K.

1. The first step would be to ask the guarantor to make good. If he refuses, then the next step would be to employ an attorney for court proceedings.
2. The effect of the guarantee depends on its wording.

UNION LEADERS CALLED BY WLB IN TRUCK STRIKE

Seizure of Lines Urged; Police to Keep Order

the independent union, altho several thousand others were idle because, I. B. T. leaders said, they feared violence.

Stores' Stocks Diminish

The strike effect became more noticeable hourly. Chain stores, regularly supplied by the striking union, and some serviced by the I. B. T., were hardest hit. In many sections, housewives hurried to market to buy from the rapidly dwindling stocks. Fresh vegetables disappeared from many shops.

Hospitals, schools, and other institutions reported a drop in deliveries as did several hotels. Miss Millie Kalsen, chief dietitian at County hospital, said lack of supplies might modify its menus. Other hospitals reported no severe deprivations.

Freight, much of it war material earmarked for shipment to the Pacific war zones, piled up in loading stations and depots. However, some government property was moved by 50 army trucks operated by soldiers, with agreement of the striking union.

Transit Freight Speeded

Much transit freight has kept moving by an order of the office of defense transportation, which permitted accumulations to be combined, forming full car lots for rail removal to other depots. This did away with the need of trucking small lot shipments from one depot to another.

This relief, however, was described as affecting only a small part of the thousands and thousands of tons ordinarily moved by truck. The Chicago Cartage exchange, the Illinois Motor Truck Operators' association, the Wholesale Grocers' association, and other groups appealed for relief.

William Crawford, attorney for the exchange; General Manager Walter E. McCarron of the truck operators' association, and Sidney Libit, attorney for the grocers, wired President Truman urging the government to take over trucking facilities or act otherwise to end the strike.

Union Vows to Stay Out

Raymond F. Hayes, attorney for the independent union, formally notified Edgar L. Warren, regional WLB chairman, that the strike would continue. He appended a letter from Steve Slahor, union president, contending that 10 other cities have higher truck drivers' wage scales and that his members could not live on their present wages of $42 a week. Hayes also wired the NWLB in Washington requesting a rehearing of the 51 hour week award.

The national board's wired summonses to a parley in Washington tomorrow went to President Slahor, Edward Fenner, business manager, and Edward Regan, secretary.

Nonstriking Union Invited

At the same time the national board invited officials of the nonstriking I. B. T. union to come to Washington also. Today Daniel D. Carmell, I. B. T. lawyer; H. E. [Bill] Wood, secretary-treasurer, and Henry Burger, international organizer, will leave by plane for the meeting.

Earlier the teamsters' joint council met, and condemned the strike as unpatriotic, and pledged itself to combat it. Officals estimated that 95 per cent of I. B. T. men want to work, even tho they seek a higher pay award. The officials' position was that this breaks labor's no-strike pledges and is in violation of federal law.

The I. B. T. charged that the striking independents had intimidated and beaten I. B. T. drivers. Only one actual slugging was reported, but it was charged that in scores of instances nonstriking drivers were curbed and warned to quit work. The slugging victim was George Beyer, a driver for the Acorn Delivery company, who was beaten at the rear of 213 Institute pl.

Seven Arrested by Police

Other drivers menaced were Charles Pignatelli, another Acorn driver; Raymond Seigel, employed by the Brenner Casket company, and Bernard Stang, a trucker for the Litchfield Cartage company. A stone was thrown thru Stang's windshield.

Capt. George Barnes and other members of the police labor detail, arrested seven men who, they alleged, curbed trucks, and tried to force drivers to join the strike.

Three masked bandits yesterday cowed two girl employes of the McDougal and Martin currency exchange, 1166 Armitage av., battered thru a thick glass door with a sledge hammer, and escaped with $10,000.

The girls, Frances Lind, 2006 Kenmore av., and Mary Maximov, 1058 Armitage av., were sorting the money, which had just been delivered by the exchange's armored truck, when the three bandits entered. One of the men smashed the door with two powerful blows and scooped up the bills. The three fled in an automobile.

DEMOCRATS ASK REPUBLICANS TO TALK AT RALLIES

The Democratic county committee is holding ward meetings in preparation for the June 4 judicial election and invitations to speak have gone out to all candidates, including the 10 Republicans on the coalition slate of 24.

In Democratic headquarters in the Morrison hotel, Executive Secretary George F. Ross said some invitations had been declined but that most of the Republican judicial candidates were expected to speak at the Democratic ward rallies. North side wards will hold the first meetings Monday evening.

Republican candidates earlier received—and presumably accepted—invitations to contribute to Democratic campaign funds. There is no contest in the judical election, since all Republican nominations were resigned under the coalition agreement, but Mayor Kelly's organization is making a concerted effort to get out 100 votes a precinct in favor of the public traction ownership and other propositions to be voted upon then.

The ward meetings also are designed to keep the Democratic organization in shape for the 1946 campaign.

POLISH CHURCH WILL CELEBRATE 50TH BIRTHDAY

Founded in Chicago; Has 168 Parishes in U. S.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

The Polish National Catholic church, which was originated as a movement in Chicago, will celebrate its 50th anniversary tomorrow and Monday in All Saints cathedral, 2012 W. Dickens st. Announcements of the jubilee, made public by Bishop L. Grochowski, head of the Western [Chicago] diocese, speak of international growth of the church which was described as "independent" and "managed according to the democratic formula."

The movement was started by the Rev. Anthony Kozlowski on the northwest side of the city. Later Father Kozlowski was consecrated a bishop of the Old Catholic or Utrecht rite, in Berne, Switzerland. Following the building of the first church of the communion, Bishop Kozlowski died and was buried in the Polish National Catholic All Saints cemetery, Des Plaines.

Plan Public Jubilee

There are now 10 churches of the communion in Chicago, and 168 thruout the United States. The Chicago churches and pastors will participate in a public jubilee demonstration and dinner tomorrow night at Ashland Boulevard auditorium, Ashland av. and Van Buren st., with Bishop Wallace E. Conkling of the Episcopal diocese a principal speaker. The Rev. Dr. Marvin M. Deems of Chicago Theological seminary will represent the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, of which the communion is a member.

The golden jubilee pontifical mass will be offered tomorrow morning with Bishop Grochowski the celebrant. Bishop John Jasinski, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Bishop Francis Benczak, of Milwaukee, Wis., will participate in the service.

Five Bishops Head Church

Five bishops now head the church thruout the country, including Bishop Francis Hodur, of Scranton, Pa., senior bishop and one of the church's founders. Savanarola seminary, Scranton, is the principal educational institution of the communion. Services of the church are in the Polish language.

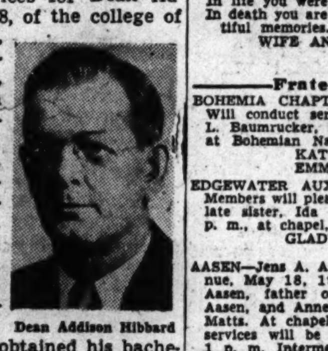
DEAN HIBBARD, 58, DIES; SERVED N.U. SINCE 1930

Memorial services for Dean Addison Hibbard, 58, of the college of liberal arts, Northwestern university, will be held in abeyance pending the arrival of a son, Lt. John B. Hibbard, from service overseas. Dean Hibbard died Thursday in his home at 1416 Hinman av., Evanston.



Dean Addison Hibbard

Dean Hibbard obtained his bachelor's and master's degrees at the University of Wisconsin.

He was named dean at Northwestern in 1930, coming there from the University of North Carolina, where he held the same position. Dean Hibbard was known for his advocacy of liberal arts education in opposition to the modernistic trend of elective education.

In addition to his son, Dean Hibbard leaves his widow, Ruth Barr Hibbard, and three daughters, Mrs. Ruth Hilker, Mrs. Jean Tevan, and Miss Sarah Hibbard.

BRISBANE'S N.Y. ESTATE VALUED AT 3 MILLIONS

New York, May 18 (AP)—Arthur Brisbane, Hearst newspaper executive and editorialist who died Dec. 25, 1936, left gross assets in New York state of $3,142,133, and a net estate of $266,042, a state tax appraisal showed today.

The appraisal did not include real estate and personal property outside the state.

Brisbane had established trust funds, directing that his widow receive at least $20,000 annually and his five children $1,000 quarterly during their mother's life and up to $10,000 quarterly after her death.

P. G. GOSSLER, COLUMBIA GAS CHAIRMAN, DIES

New York, May 18 (AP)—Philip G. Gossler, 74, chairman of the board of Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, died today at Doctors' hospital after a short illness.

A native of Columbia, Pa., he played a leading role in the 1926 merger of Columbia Gas and Electric company and Ohio Fuel corporation, two of the nation's largest natural gas systems, into the present Columbia organization. Educated at Pennsylvania State college and Columbia university, he first worked for the General Electric company at Chester, Pa.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam

GRAVES—Gertrude Mary Graves. In memory of my sister's death, May 19, 1944.
"Gone, dear sister, gone forever;
How we miss your smiling face;
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place;
A happy home we once enjoyed;
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill."
MILDRED WORKMAN.

KRANTZ—Albertina Krantz. In memory of our dear mother and grandmother, who passed away one year ago today.
LOVING CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN.

SCHROEDER—John D. Schroeder. In loving memory of our dear husband and father, who passed away 21 years ago today.
LOVING WIFE AND CHILDREN.

SYLVESTRO—Rosa Sylvestro. In fond memory of our mother and mother-in-law.
One we all loved so dear;
Our hearts still ache with loneliness.
Our eyes shed many a tear.
God only knows how much we miss you
As it ends this first sad and lonely year.
LOVING FAMILY.

WANTOCK—Adam W. Wantock. In remembrance of our beloved husband and daddy.
The greatest day of sorrow, darling,
Was when we had to part from you.
In life you were a wonderful pal,
In death you are the most cherished of beautiful memories.
WIFE AND DAUGHTER, VIOLA AND KAREN.

Lake Forest Homes Starting to Fill for Summer Months

BY JUDITH CASS

LAKE FOREST homes are starting to fill for the summer months. Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. has returned from Castle Hot Springs, Ariz., where she spent the winter. Her mother, Mrs. George H. High, is expected at the Onwentsia club June 1 to spend the summer.

Mrs. John Dorr Bradley has returned to the Deerpath Inn from the Drake hotel. Mrs. Hambleton Kirk, another Drake winter resident, has returned to the suburb. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hull Ewing have opened their Waukegan road home for the summer after a winter in Sarasota, Fla. Miss Ellen Holt and Miss Elizabeth Webster are back in the village after spending the winter in their Tryon, N. C., residence.

The Solomon B. Smiths' Lake Forest house will be occupied for the summer months by Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. William M. Collins Jr.; Mr. Collins, and their children. Mrs. Smith and her children will be in York Harbor, Me., for the warm weather months.

Here and There

The Walter S. Brewsters are back in their beautiful Lake Forest residence and have with them their grandchildren, Edward L. Brewster Jr. and Kate Hodges. Edward's mother will return soon to Baltimore, where she and her son have been living while Lt. Comdr. Brewster is in the Pacific. Kate's mother, Mrs. Duncan Hodges, will join the Brewster household June 1 from Arlington, Va., which is Col. and Mrs. Hodges' home while he is stationed in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Brewster, whose home sometimes has been the setting for Lake Forest Garden club events in the past, and other Lake Foresters are looking forward to the club's benefit, a garden mart, next Saturday in Market square. Among the intriguing items to be sold are "tussie-mussies," tiny bouquets of fragrant herbs, which Mrs. Albert D. Farwell and Mrs. Roger Bronson will start making shortly before the mart to sell in the herb shop.

These bouquets originally were sold on the streets of London at the time of plagues to ward off disease, Mrs. Farwell is telling curious friends. In the Victorian era a young gentleman presented such a bouquet to a young lady, and by the herbs included she could deduce his romantic interest. A red rose in the center indicated that he was much enamoured. Rosemary for remembrance, thyme for courage, and sweet marjoram for joy composed other sentimental messages.

Mrs. John Giles, a member of the mart committee, is in Cleveland, O., but will return in time to assist Mrs. Ronald Boardman sell birdhouses and other items in one of the attractive booths.

On the Calendar

A number of benefits are on today's calendar. The annual rummage sale of the Young Women's Christian Association of Lake Forest will be held from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. at the "Y" in that suburb. Mrs. Todd Cartwright is chairman of the sale, which annually provides a large and interesting stock of second hand items from some of the north shore's most attractive homes.

The junior auxiliary of the Oak Park and River Forest center of the Infant Welfare society will give a gala cocktail, buffet supper, and dancing party from 6 to 10 p. m. in the Racquet club. Mrs. Charles M. Hickman is chairman of the event. The proceeds will go to the St. Elizabeth Infant Welfare station.

The Hinsdale Junior center of the Infant Welfare society will give a dinner-dance tonight in the Hinsdale Golf club to raise money for the work of the society. Mrs. Chester Johnson is chairman of the benefit.

Another Infant Welfare benefit tonight is a dance at the Riverside Country club sponsored by the Riverside center, with Mrs. L. A. Hubbard and Mrs. Robert Walker as co-chairmen.

Because two performances of "Sleeping Beauty" by Burr Tillstrom's puppets, given recently in Winnetka, were so successful the Children's theater department of the Chicago Junior league will present the same show at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Girls' Latin school. Mrs. H. Leighton Hansen is chairman of the show. Ushering will be Miss Ruth Burns, Miss Nancy Cochran, Miss Eliza Merrill Hickok, Miss Betty Ward Vilas, Miss Jean Kellogg, Miss Virginia Elsood, Miss Diana Hill, and Miss Angeline Johnson.

The Knollwood club will open its tennis season today under a committee headed by James Anderson, Thomas Dean, Gilbert S. Watson, and Wilbur C. Smith. Simultaneously the club is resuming its regular luncheon and dinner service, opening the dining room every day except Monday.

Not to be outdone by their mothers and elder sisters, who are constantly working thru the Sacred Heart Alumnae association to raise money for the rehabilitation of ruined convents of the Sacred Heart in Europe, the students of the Sheridan Road convent will present a benefit circus in the school today as their contribution to the cause.

Engagements Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Scott of Greenwood av. announce the engagement and approaching marriage June 12 of their daughter, Virginia Elmore, to Lyle G. Rulon of Chenoa, Ill. Miss Scott is an assistant technician in the electrocardiograph department of the Michael Reese hospital. Mr. Rulon attended Illinois Wesleyan college and was graduated from the University of Illinois. The wedding will take place in the chapel of the Epworth Methodist church.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Henry Davis of Wilmington, Del., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Upham, to Robin Carl Buerki Jr. of New York City, son of Dr. and Mrs. Buerki of Philadelphia, Pa., formerly of Chicago. Miss Davis, a graduate of the Low-Heywood school, attends Wheaton college. Her fiance, who attended the University of Chicago, is administrative assistant to the director of St. Luke's hospital in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Lambert of Lawndale av. announce the engagement of their daughter, Muriel, to Cushman M. Jordan Jr. of the navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan of S. Winchester av. Miss Lambert, who attended Augustana college, is stationed with the WAVES at a naval hospital in San Leandro, Colo. Her fiance has completed 17 months of service in the South Pacific and has returned to sea duty.

Prom Girls Get Their Men Now as Mounties Do

BY RITA FITZPATRICK

The Northwest Mounted and the American prom girl used to have one thing in common. They always got their man. The Mounties got him by dogged search, the prom girl by merely lifting her finger. Nowadays the prom girl has to use the Mounties' technique.

Last evening the pretty seniors at Alvernia High school held their prom in the Drake hotel. Many weeks ago they planned what to wear, attended lectures on formal etiquet, and consulted an authority on how to wear flowers in the newest fashion. But there was a jarring note—dates.

"Dates still grow on trees but only in the tropic climates, I guess," declared one pert little miss who wasn't sure whether she was going to have an escort until he walked in the door of the French room. "We sure had to scurry around to find men. We finally got them tho, thru service men's centers and Catholic chaplains.

One 17 year old girl, who probably will look like a Dresden doll until she is 80, solved the problem by bringing a boy 15 years old. "I'm so small, no one knows the difference," she boasted with a flip of her long blonde hair.

Lt. Robert Skriba, 6227 Waveland av., an armament chemical officer on leave from Jefferson proving grounds, Madison, Ind., was like a fish out of water.

"Don't tell any one my age," he begged. "My kid sister got me into this. I'm kind of old to be prom trotting, but then I'm a gentleman by act of congress and you can't disappoint these swell kids."

Joyce Meyers, 4137 Leamington av., got her man, a real one, a 27 year old marine sergeant, in the Victorian fashion. "She knew my aunt and my aunt knew that I was on 30 day leave and there you are," Sgt. Edward Tulanowski, 5236 Hutchinson st., explained.

But 15 or 27, in uniform with overseas stripes or in their first tuxedos, the boys were having a wonderful time last evening. The girls? You guessed it. They were beaming!

Declares Children Are Less Educated than Grandparents

"Trivialization" and "disintegration" were words used yesterday by President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago in outlining his views of the state of American education. Speaking before the citizens' board of the university in the Chicago club, he asserted that children today are not as well educated as their grandparents.

This is the situation, he explained, despite the fact that educational requirements and the means of fulfilling them are greater than ever. But, he said, the country's policy of opening education to the masses, "which is the great glory of American education," has resulted "in obscuring the aims of education and the consequent degradation of educational standards."

"The consequences may be summed up in the word trivialization," Dr. Hutchins explained. "And this has gone so far that the American people may, perhaps, be forgiven for their tendency to confuse universities with social clubs, reform schools, body building institutions, sports arenas, and WPA projects.

"They can be set right and higher education can be saved, only if a few universities have the strength, the tradition, and the consequent independence to demonstrate what the higher learning is—even if it involves the loss of income or popularity."

The disintegration factor was described as a by-product "of admirable aspiration" to advance knowledge and elevate professions, with the result that groups fly apart due to lack of communication. An anatomist, Dr. Hutchins said, cannot communicate with another anatomist unless both are working on the same part of the human body.

White Collar GIRL

WCG Spring Song

Of the shining, silver raindrops I shall make my little rhyme,
I, who slop and splash and splutter
every morning just in time.
O, it's Heaven for the dreamer who can lie abed and sleep,
Who can snuggle down in comfort
after taking just a peep;
O, it's duck soup for the poets and their medium of song, [Even I might do some singing, but it's lasted much too long!]
Never mind the daily damage to my last good pair of hose,
Or the frequency of sneezing, or how hard I blow my nose,
While I greet the public smiling, with a washed and smiling face—
As beside the radiator, I, quite damply, take my place!

Secretarial Expectancy

Years of secretarial work whetted my interest in why some women hold their jobs after youth has flown and why some do not.

Why some girls do not hold them can be summed up as follows:

Many women, in their 40s, permit themselves to become irritated at routine tasks they have done for years. In other words, they lose the youthful attitude toward their work. They need not.

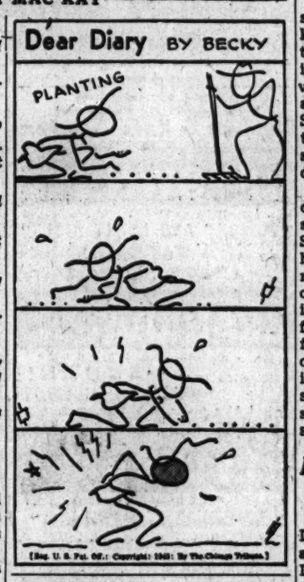
Many women develop an inferiority complex because they lose their figures. They need not lose them.

Many—and this is important—do not realize that as they grow older they must continue to bend gracefully to authority.

To look young and act young is no more important to the secretary than dignity, knowledge of her work, and a crispy not extravagant look to her clothes—plus a desire to curb that impulse to run everything the way it was run when she was young. LU

Feminine Firsts

There were several "firsts" at the Warner Brothers luncheon given Thursday for various career girls before a preview of the new career girl picture, "Roughly Speaking." Vivacious Elva McNees is the first woman reservation clerk in the traffic department at International Harvester. She eats her breakfast with a fork in one hand and a telephone in the other, to be ready on the wire when the railroad offices open. This Elva on whom employes and officials rely to "get that lower to Washington." . . . Karlena Bryant is the first woman to hold her position at Butler Brothers—head of a department which sends out 27,000 pieces of mail daily. The "lady boss" of 85 satisfied employes proves that it isn't necessary to be a man to be efficient and popular. . . . Katherine Kalwasinski of Carnegie Illinois Steel's South Works, calls herself "the first pick and shovel woman" at the plant, but she has a skin you'd envy. Five of her seven brothers are in service, so you can guess, perhaps, why she took a man's job. . . . Margaret Irwin of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe was one of the first women to do a public relations job for a railroad. . . . Maxine Young was in Hamburg when the war started, opened an Officer club abroad, later was in Iraq and Iran, and ended up in Chicago as a passenger agent for United Air Lines.



Adolescents Need a Little Independence

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

So many of the difficulties parents experience when their children suddenly—or so it seems to them—emerge into the teen years spring from the fact that they don't try to understand what takes place at this period in their child's life.

It's the attitude you adopt toward them and their needs that dictates how much or how little you can influence and guide them.

Let me quote this letter received from a mother:

"Up to now our children have behaved satisfactorily. We've been rather strict with them, it's true, but that doesn't explain the way they've broken over the traces lately. Our daughter is 15 and our son 14. They want to be out at night. If we forbid them they resort to scheming—say they'll be gone only a short while and then stay for hours.

"Punishment only makes them more secretive and determined. We don't know their friends very well, and we're afraid they might be led astray. How shall we handle the situation?"

If mutual good faith and comradeship haven't existed between parents and children up to this adolescent period it isn't an easy matter to bring them about. If you've been too severe in the past when they've made mistakes or refused to listen to explanations; if you've been suspicious—never fully trusting them; if you haven't recognized their need for a certain amount of independence and adjusted yourselves accordingly, then you have a full explanation of the state of affairs that confronts you right now.

The situation is not hopeless, however. Results probably will be slow in coming, but they will come if you use the right approach.

Begin by relaxing the "apron strings" impression and let them know you trust them to handle themselves away from home as satisfactorily as they do at home. Invite their young friends to the house and make them welcome. Arrange Sunday night suppers, perhaps. Let the children get the meal themselves. They love to do it, and it does away with any sense of strain.

Talk things over with these children. Listen to and try to understand their side of each situation. Scolding and punishment without a hearing only tend to force evasiveness. It has been said that adolescents despise being driven, but are invariably willing, even eager, to follow a capable leader. If you are friendly and treat them like the often capable, intelligent human beings they really are, they'll respect themselves and you, and respond when you have to take a firm stand now and again.

Mary Lucene Price Is Bride; Other Wedding News Given

Just a half hour before Miss Mary Lucene Price and Lt. [j. g.] Robert Abner Miller of the naval reserve were married May 5, the bridegroom's brother, Lt. Lewis Reed Miller of the marines, who was wounded in the battle of Iwo Jima, was rushed from a hospital train to the chapel to serve as best man. The ceremony took place in Bond chapel on the University of Chicago campus, with the Rev. Robert Riester of St. Paul's Episcopal church officiating.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Price of Kenwood av., was attended by her sister, Mrs. John Perry Dryden, as matron of honor and by Mrs. Lewis Miller and Miss Janet Peacock as bridesmaids. She attended MacMurray college and was graduated from the University of Chicago. Lt. Miller, son of Mrs. Walter E. Miller of Kenwood av. and the late Mr. Miller, also received his degree from the university, for which he prepared at the Harvard School for Boys. He and his bride are spending the remainder of his leave on the west coast.

Now at home in Washington, D. C., following their marriage May 12 in the chapel of Christ Methodist church in New York City are Capt. Franklin W. Jones of the army and his bride, the former Mrs. Eve G. Caswell of Washington. Capt. Jones, son of Carroll H. Jones of Evanston and of the late Mrs. Jones, and his bride have been connected with the office of strategic services in Washington for the last few years.

Lt. Carroll H. Jones Jr. went east for the ceremony, which was followed by a reception and dinner in the home of Dr. Katharine Butler, a friend of the bride. Capt. Jones took his A. B. and A. M. degrees at Harvard university and received from Northwestern university the degrees of master of business administration and doctor of philosophy in ancient history. He also studied for several years in Athens, Greece, and Rome, Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard Casselberry of Winter Park, Fla., are in Boston today for the marriage of their son, Hibbard Jr. of the coast guard reserve, and Miss Audrey Rogers, daughter of Mrs. Clement A. Rogers of Boston and Hingham, Mass. The bridegroom is a grandson of John R. Leonard of Winnetka.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Kregel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kregel of Muskegon, Mich., and Ensign Warren J. Claussen of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Claussen of Riverdale, will take place at 3 p. m. today in the First Christian Reformed church in Muskegon. Ensign Claussen, who recently returned from the South Pacific after 14 months of duty, was a senior at the University of Michigan at the time of his enlistment. He and his bride will live in San Francisco until he receives further orders.

Miss Kathryn Crowley has set next Saturday as the date on which she will become the bride of Capt. Alan Donald Cameron of the marine corps reserve, son of Mrs. Ossian Cameron of Winnetka and the late Mr. Cameron. The ceremony will take place in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver A. Williams, in Glencoe, where Miss Crowley has lived for the last nine years. She is a graduate of Marywood academy and Barat college. Capt. Cameron attended Beloit college and the University of New Mexico and studied law at the University of Chicago. He now is on leave following his return from 27 months of duty in the South Pacific.

Miss Cora Louise Hanna, daughter of the John Clark Hannas of Evanston, and Wendell S. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips of Chicago, will be married at 8 p. m. next Saturday in the First Congregational church of Evanston, with the reception following in the Chicago Athletic association. Miss Hanna attended the University of Illinois. Mr. Phillips is a signalman 1st class in the navy and has been overseas for 29 months. He now is stationed at Great Lakes.

Folklore in Music to Be Topic for Woman's Club

The Chicago Woman's club will hear Libushka Bartusek [Mrs. Harry L. Brown], singer, dancer, and actress, tell of folklore in music and art at a meeting Wednesday afternoon in Curtiss hall. The newly elected president, Mrs. Albion L. Headburg, will preside and introduce the speaker.

'Midsummer Nightmare' . . . . By Christopher Hale

(Copyright: 1945: By Mrs. Frances Stephens)

INSTALMENT XXIV.

I. O. U. FOUND

Altho Winnie dressed for a bout with the lie detector nobody came near the cottage next morning during breakfast.

It was 10 o'clock before a man approached the garden gate.

"It's Kim." Winnie flew to let him in. "Are they looking for me?"

"Don't be so conceited."

Miss Warburton asked, "Are we wanted up at the house? We thought the rain might let up if we waited."

"No. Mr. Jennesma sent down this batch of stuff for you to look over."

"Where's Lt. French?" Winnie demanded.

He waggled his hands. "Get away. He has your boy friend in the library up there and he's giving him what-for, so I'm told."

"Dirk? Why?"

"The way I heered it, the cops lay low last night after advertising that the Paradine house would be empty. They expected Dirk to be interested in that idea."

Winnie began to redden. "O . . . O . . . I see."

"Maybe I'm not supposed to tell all this. Mr. Jennesma broke down and confided in me. The police found an I. O. U. in the Paradine house yesterday. It was in a book of pomes in Hildy's boodwar. It was for a mere five thousand bucks and was signed by your little pal, Dirk Adams."

"O, O yes," Winnie mumbled dazedly, "that's where he said it would be. O! How horribly sneaking and mean of the police! What a dirty trick."

"Yes, they're like that," Kim agreed. "Cads. But Dirk was smart. He didn't go near the place. Now all he needs to do is keep on saying no enough times and . . . hey . . . what's the matter?"

Two scalding tears streamed out of Winnie's wide open eyes. She ran out of the room and upstairs.

Kim turned to Miss Warburton. "Say, she doesn't love that mutt that much, does she?"

Miss Warburton shook her head. Her face was as red as Winnie's. In a few well frosted words she enlightened him. Kim's expression hardened and set.

"The poor little dummy," he groaned. "I hope I get a chance to . . ." he turned and went out without finishing.

The rain continued steadily the rest of the morning.

Winnie had just finished making a pan of biscuits to go with a large, lush salad for lunch, when the senator swam in out of the liquid garden. He got himself invited to partake.

"It's only salad," Winnie said.

"Only!" North echoed. "What better food is there. And I haven't seen biscuits like that for 20 years."

Miss Warburton sighed. It had seemed so easy to dislike him at first. Now she had to hunt diligently and remind herself of his faults.

It was a very pleasant little meal on a card table before a rain-washed window.

Miss Warburton wondered what was on the senator's mind. He was just a bit too brisk and cheery. But it was not until lunch was over that he gave his news.

"What I came down to tell you, is this. Dirk Adams has been arrested."

"O, no." Winnie looked sick.

"Well, it may not be a technical arrest, but he's being held. I can't see much difference but the police seem to think so. They questioned him in the library for a long time and then took him over to the Paradine house and finally took him away to be talked to some more."

"But why didn't any one tell me?" Winnie almost wept.

"My dear child. What could you have done?"

"I could have . . . told him I believed in him and explained it wasn't my fault about last night. I really didn't tell the police a thing . . . they guessed it."

Sen. North raised his eyebrows at Miss Warburton, who explained the contretemps of last night. As he listened, the senator's face grew much too expressive. He opened his mouth and Miss Warburton closed it with a complicated grimace and gesture.

He said, gently, "I think the best thing for you to do, Winnie, is to go home. I can't think why your father hasn't heard of this. Perhaps Philadelphia papers don't carry Michigan news. But you are getting into much deeper water than . . ."

"No! I am not going!"

"But my dear, be sensible. Dirk can't account for the $5,000 he got from Mrs. Paradine as a loan, and there is an unidentifiable $5,000 in Tillie's bank account. Somebody paid the woman to lie about Miss Warburton. It all smells very, very bad. And it did not help matters for him to try to get you to get the I. O. U. for him."

Winnie blushed pink, a bewildered look in her eyes. "I was supposed not to tell any one, but every one seems to know all about it, so I guess it's no use keeping still any longer. Dirk said Mrs. Paradine just stuck the paper he signed into a copy of Sara Teasdale's 'Rivers to the Sea' in her sitting room upstairs."

How did Dirk know about all that? How did he happen to be in Mrs. Paradine's boudoir? Why had she lent him the money, in the first place? Miss Warburton felt each question was a step leading down to worse depths. The senator, too, was wondering these things but hesitated to talk in front of Winnie.

He said, "Yes, that's where it was found yesterday when they did not find her will. A queer place to leave a valuable paper."

"But you don't understand." Winnie spoke in the high, tense voice. "The paper wasn't valuable any more. Dirk repaid the money to her but she said she couldn't find the I. O. U. to destroy or to give him. She said it would be all right, he could trust her to tear it up when she did find it. But Dirk remembered after she was killed, that she had put it in that book of poetry. He had to get it and tear it up."

The senator gave her a piercing stare, "He's right there, all right. Do you honestly believe he repaid that money, Winnie?"

"Yes, I do."

After a pause he said, "And why didn't Dirk take the risks and dangers of hunting for it last night?"

"Because they've started to follow him. The police. Already they suspect him. He said it would have been fatal for him to be caught in that house last night. He said he'd die if I didn't try to help him. I had to."

The senator met Miss Warburton's eye. She said:

"Why did Dirk borrow the money, Winnie dear?"

"Why . . uh . . . I'm not sure but I think he said he had made a little investment with it. But he paid it back, so I don't see why it should matter what he did with it."

A new leaflet on the use of dried eggs has come to my desk. Published by the Poultry and Egg National board, the recipes describe a type of cookery new to the average homemaker. Dried eggs play a large part in our war time food program, for they're a compact, easy way to carry nutritious eggs to service men. There aren't many dried eggs available for American civilians, but probably there will be in the near future, and it's well to know something about how to prepare them.

I have experimented considerably with dried egg powders and find them a convenience in baking. Two tablespoons of dried whole egg, plus two tablespoons of water, approximate a fresh egg in cooking.

In muffin making and in other recipes which call for sifting dry ingredients together, the egg powder is sifted along with flour and leavening. For other recipes it is mixed with water first.

If you have a supply of dried eggs in your possession, be certain to keep it in a cool place, and tightly covered, for the egg powder does deteriorate in time and, like fresh eggs, may absorb flavors from other foods kept near it.

Dried egg powder is most useful, I think, in thickening casserole dishes and meat loaves, and in muffins, cornbreads, other quick breads and yeast breads and rolls which call for the use of eggs. Fresh whole eggs still are without a rival at breakfast time.

There's a great deal of interest in the "quick mix" and "mix easy" type of cake these days. Homemakers take to anything that saves them time and seems to produce consistently good results. When you can beat all the cake ingredients together in one bowl, pour the batter into the pan, and bake a good cake, you've got something, many women declare.

This is how devil's food is made the new way.

Devil's Food Cake
[9 inch square pan]

1½ cups sifted cake flour
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon soda
1¼ cups sugar
⅓ cup softened vegetable shortening
2 squares unsweetened chocolate melted in ⅔ cup hot water
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 unbeaten eggs

Measure flour, salt, soda, and sugar into sifter. Stir softened shortening in mixing bowl; sift in dry ingredients. Add half of the chocolate and water mixture, the vanilla, and unbeaten eggs. Mix until all flour is dampened, then beat for one minute. Add remaining chocolate mixture, blend, and beat two minutes longer. [Use 100 strokes per minute if beating by hand.] Turn batter into greased, wax paper lined pan and bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes, or until done. Cake may be baked in two 8 inch layers.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES!

Play Clothes

What could be more comfortable for gardening, and yet more feminine, than a sun back frock with halter neckline? This model, buttoned down the side for easy wearing and laundering, has a companion bolero. The other pattern makes a child's play suit with ruffling around heart bodice and pockets. Style No. 3777 is designed for sizes 10 to 20. Size 16 requires 2½ yards of 35 inch material for dress; 1¼ yards for bolero. Style No. 3837 is designed for sizes 1, 2, 3, and 4. Size 2 requires ¾ yard of 35 inch fabric with 1 yard of ruffling.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The summer fashion book, on sale at Tribune Public Service offices, is 15 cents; 12 cents if ordered by mail with a pattern.

Kitchen Pointers

BY MARY MEADE

"I've been making popovers for years and always have had great success with them. Recently, however, they have not been 'popping' as they should and the insides have been moist instead of dry. Do you know the reason for my difficulty?"

We checked with this caller the recipe being used and the exact steps being followed in mixing and baking. Upon learning the ingredients were in right proportion and the popovers were being combined and baked properly, we suggested the oven regulator might be out of order and the oven temperature running too high or too low. The lady insisted her oven was in good working order because other baked products had been satisfactory. However, still feeling certain the oven was responsible, we stuck to our theory. The next morning the grateful lady called to say she had had her oven regulator checked and that the temperature had been running 100 degrees low. This experience may serve as a guide to others who consistently have baking failures. An off-temperature will show up most readily in baking such sensitive products as popovers and angel food cakes, which depend for success as much on correct oven temperature as on any other factor.

"I wonder if you would reprint your prize winning recipe for chocolate pudding cookies. I liked them so much and the recipe is a good sugar saver."

We're happy to reprint the recipe, as follows: Cream ⅓ cup shortening and gradually add ½ cup sugar and 1 package chocolate prepared pudding powder. Add 1 beaten egg and mix until light and fluffy. Measure 1 cup sifted flour, then resift with ½ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Add to first mixture and blend well. Stir in 1 cup rolled oats. Roll mixture into balls the size of walnuts. Place on ungreased cooky sheet and press flat with wet fork. Bake at 350 degrees 12 to 15 minutes. Do not overbake. Makes about 36 cookies.

Just Be Pal to the Boys, Girl, 15, Told

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

Q.—"Several months ago I began to date my brother's boy friend and then he went into the army. He writes to me every day and I write to him about twice a week. I am 15 and now I have found another boy whom I like very much and he wants me to go steady. My father said that if I break up with the soldier he will not permit me to go with any boys or wear makeup until I am 18. . . ."

on the SOLID side

A.—Your father is probably afraid you may turn into a one-girl USO. Don't "break up" with the soldier; keep up your bi-weekly letters—and don't "go steady" with the other joe, either—just see him occasionally. At 15 you're too young to go steady or even to consider either friendship seriously. Explain the situation calmly to your father, tell him that you don't wish to be tied to any boy just yet and he'll probably take back his no man, no makeup edict and if he doesn't, well—just let things ride. The first time he sees you moping about the house on a Friday night, pallid and peaked, without lipstick, he'll probably change his mind.

Q.—"I'm 14, attractive, and I've always gotten along well with boys and girls until lately. You see, I have always been the type to get talked about because boys seem attracted to me and girls are jealous of my popularity and attractiveness. I have always gone with boys two or three years older than myself because I am more mature than most girls my age. The other day I went to a party with a boy whom I like very much but he hasn't taken me out since because his boy friends teased him about robbing the cradle. . . ."

A.—No doubt you were queen of the kindergarten a few years ago because you were friendly, fun to play with, and stayed on your own side of the sand-box. But that was before you looked in the mirror, counted the curls in your hair, and decided you were the greatest thing since coca-cola. A self-centered attitude, the lack of social coöperation, is a certain indication that a gal still isn't old enough to be out after nine o'clock at night. No wonder the boys think you too young; your lop-sided ego is rocking the cradle!

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

Emily H., Chicago—If you've had a pair of leather gloves dry cleaned, don't try to wash them later. Even tho they were washable in the beginning, the cleaning solvent will have destroyed that "washability."

Mrs. Fred A., Evanston—Here's a tip to remember when the weather grows cold again: If your clothes ever freeze on the line, don't take them down until they are entirely dry. Sometimes they will split if you try to fold them when they are frozen.

Jane M., Aurora—If you have any thin, tin warm air pipes in your basement take them down in the summer to avoid rusting, clean them, and store them in a dry place. If moisture is picked up and held by dust collecting on the inside of such pipes, they can rust thru in a single summer.

Black, Suntan, and Gray Day's Best Colors

BY REA SEEGER

There has been a growing appreciation of three very different basic colors for spring and summer clothes, especially the play clothes—the casuals for town and country wear that double for spectator sports events. The three colors to watch are black, gray, and a most subtle tint called suntan.

The popularity of dull black is already sensational. Slim, young looking jumper dresses, play suits, separate blouses, and separate cotton wrap-around skirts to wear over brilliantly colored play suits offer plenty with which to play the black magic theme.

The gray is a striking dark tone, strictly neutral, without any overtones of blue, pink, or yellow—the smartest half and half combination of black and white threads woven to produce the perfect gray tone. This is the gray that points up a rich glowing sun tan to perfection. It has unusual contrast, is sophisticated and super smooth. Blonde, brunette, or copper-top wear it with amazingly dramatic results. It is used for button-on day time dresses, for slim tailored two-piece summer suits, for striped house coats, for play clothes, and for swim suits. Cotton, rayon weaves, linen, and the few silk shantungs come in this stunning gray shade.

The subtle suntan shade, as near to a real skin sun tan as possible, is one of the coming successful summer colors. You'll see it in beautiful silk shantung dresses for afternoon and party wear; also in soft thin wool jersey, in town dresses, and in smooth cottons such as gingham and chambray. Some of the effective eyelet embroidered cottons are also of this charming neutral shade. This color, too, is universally becoming to all. White summer accessories are perfect with all three of these high fashion summer colors.

Another Movie About Doctors in Typical Style

"BETWEEN TWO WOMEN"

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, directed by Willis Goldbeck, featuring Van Johnson, Lionel Barrymore, Gloria De Haven, Keenan Wynn, Marilyn Maxwell, Alma Kruger, Marie Blake, Keye Luke, Nell Craig, Edna Holland, Lorraine Miller, Walter Kingsford, Tom Trout, and Shirley Patterson. Presented at the Chicago.

By Mae Tinée

If the title of this movie leads you to believe it's about some helpless male torn between two jealous women, or something similar, better change your ideas. There are a lot of women in it, but it's really about surgery and psychiatry as practiced in big, lavish Blair hospital.

Dr. Adams [Van Johnson] is one of those young M. D.s who varies between boyishness and pomposity, the pet of all the ladies, and the protege of old Dr. Gillespie. As the latter, Lionel Barrymore gives out with the usual mixture of jokes and philosophy. There are two principal patients.

One is Gloria De Haven, a chorine who passes out while the young medic is in a night club refusing to be kissed publicly by a blonde who'll buy $100,000 worth of bonds for the privilege. By taking the plump cheeked lass' pulse and looking at her eyes, the doc decides she suffers from malnutrition. After rushing her to the hospital, he probes into her past, and, first thing you know, she's offering to eat a three inch steak—raw.

The second patient is the hospital's switchboard operator, homely but likable, just a working girl to whom illness is a financial as well as a physical threat. She's also sick but won't admit all her symptoms, and when X-rays show her condition is serious, she turns down the services of a specialist and insists that the surgery be performed by the young favorite.

Marie Blake is appealing in her role, and does the best acting in the film. Keenan Wynn helps to relieve the operating room atmosphere with his small part as a bond selling m. c. in the night club, and every one is healthy and happy at the end, even old Dr. Gillespie, who buys war bonds like crazy.

If you like seeing operating room technique, starched nurses, and talk of respirations, pulses, etc., you may find some mild entertainment in this typical and not at all unusual "doctor" drama.

Old Yarn Still Lively

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

Produced by United Artists, directed by Allan Dwan, featuring Dennis O'Keefe, Helen Walker, Eddie [Rochester] Anderson, June Havoc, Gail Patrick, Mischa Auer, Joe Sawyer, Nana Bryant, John Litel, Herbert Rudley, Thurston Hall, Neil Hamilton, Bryon Foulger, Barbara Pepper, and Joseph Crehan. Presented at the Oriental.

This latest version of George Barr McCutcheon's novel proves there's still life in the old yarn. It's been good movie material several times since the days when Roscoe Arbuckle played Monte Brewster, and here we go again!

The lad who learns how tough it is to spend a million dollars has just been released from the army and, after many months in a foxhole, spending said dough sounds like duck soup to him, but it develops into a long and wearisome job.

For the sake of members of the younger generation who may not know the story, Dennis O'Keefe is the Brewster who inherits some 8 million dollars from an eccentric uncle, collectable only if he spends the first million within 60 days, without explanations to any one and ending that period without a single asset, not even a wife. This causes numerous complications, naturally, and the lad has quite a hectic time. Even the horses and the stock market treat him gently and prove that money makes money.

It's light fare, but the film has been well cast, with Rochester, Mischa Auer, and Joe Sawyer helping things along. You may get a bit tired of the complicated addition and subtraction, and I think the film would have been better if shortened, but it may help convince you that you really don't want that million you'll probably never have.

Inquiring Camera Girl

By Maryon Zylstra

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Pauline Gregory, 209 5th st., Traverse City, Mich.]

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED

Blackstone hotel.

THE ANSWERS

Mrs. I. Wimpy Lederer, Shoreland hotel — The city offers much in scenic value. For a general picture, I'd take my guest for a ride down Outer dr.; then to the top of a high building—such as The Tribune Tower observatory. I'd want to show them museums, art galleries, and night clubs.

Jim Stern, engineer, Blackstone hotel—This is Chicago's most interesting tour to me: A ride along the shoreline, a shopping trip in the loop in the large department stores, an afternoon at the race track or a baseball game—then dinner. Some of the better known night clubs are places worth seeing.

Harry Cohn, business executive, 600 S. Michigan av.—First I'd take them on the lake in my boat to get a good picture of the skyline; then to the stock yards, a place many Chicagoans haven't visited. Our parks are one of the nicest features, so I wouldn't miss taking them there. At night—well, there's a number of clubs.

Thelma Detweiler, general office work, 1628 S. 13th st., Maywood—Places of interest to me are the planetarium, museums, Brookfield zoo, and the Art Institute. In the evening, I think a guest would enjoy a good stage play or a visit to some of our interesting night spots, of which there are plenty to choose from.

Forrest Becker, railroad sales, 4728 Ellis av.—The places I'd take my guests would be the Adler Planetarium, the Rosenwald museum, Chicago Museum of Natural History, and the Art Institute. I'd take them there because I know they're really worth seeing and I've never gotten around to seeing them myself.

Mrs. E. R. Swanson, housewife, 401 Fullerton pkwy.—If my guest were a woman I'd take her on a shopping trip to State st.; then a bus ride thru our parks and along the lake. Chicago at night is beautiful, and I think anyone would enjoy a stage show or a round of the best places to dine and dance.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 18—Howard Hawks sold out his interest in Baby [Lauren Bacall], also his interest in Baby's and Humphrey Bogart's two pictures, when they became too hot to handle. They started telling Hawks what to do. He's a peace loving citizen. He only makes them great—lets those who can control them. . . . David O. Selznick claims he stopped "Duel in the Sun" because of the movie strike, but rumor has it that the picture won't be finished. A certain young lady's performance was not what her producer thought it should have been. So Gregory Peck is already doing another, and King Vidor, director on "Duel," has another story set for him at Metro. . . . I'll wager Maria Montez will be chewing her fingernails when she sees what Travis Banton has done for Yvonne De Carlo, who's playing the gold rush picture Montez refused. Banton's made her look like a cross between Marlene Dietrich and Mae West. Is that bad? . . . That "don't get me wrong—I love Hollywood" guy, Sid Skolsky, sure does. Why, he even came to call on me!

Sure Enough, It's Coming

Remember Roark Bradford's story, "How Come Christmas"? George Pal bought it for his puppetoons. . . . Fred MacMurray isn't letting any grass grow under his feet. He's bought another story—this one by Lou Breslow, titled "For Others They Sing." It's about a witness who languishes in jail while gangsters go free, but it has its comic moments. . . . Ava Gardner is the only one who has heard Artie Shaw's national anthem for the Arabians, and she ain't tellin' what she thinks of it. . . . Comdr. John Ford returns to the navy as soon as "They Were Expendable" is in the can. He's missing his navy pals in the South Pacific.

Making His Papa Proud

Neil Hamilton co-stars with Libby Holman in "Over 21" for Gus Schirmer Jr. in Stamford, Conn., June 11. Young Gus is making his pappy proud. He's getting stars. . . . Doris Leroy will file for divorce sooner than anybody expected. . . . Wonder why Mervyn Leroy is taking so long to get into production of "The Robe"? All this malarky about trying to find the right people! I was asked whether I'd start a contest on the radio. My answer was no. "The Robe" is a fine story. It's been read by millions. We need that kind of uplift now, so let's stop all the monkey business and get it on the screen. What say, Mervyn? . . . Linda Darnell gave her co-workers at 20th Century quite a turn. They went to the coffee shop for an early cup, and there was Linda slinging hash. That's what she does in "Fallen Angel," and Otto Preminger told her she didn't know much about it, so she decided to learn right on the lot.

Two Sopranos Simplify Life for Reviewer

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG

Walking into Kimball hall unprepared last night you might have thought you were seeing double, for there on the stage, instead of the usual one soprano, were two—Nicole Scott and Carlotta Vannes. The idea had some merit. It permitted the varying of the customary recital ritual by the singing of duets, and it allowed reviewers to do up in one evening what would otherwise have taken two. Not a bad idea at all.

The two singers have much in common. Both are young and good looking, both have good, healthy voices, their training shares the same virtues and defects, and neither of them has a very clear conception of what it is that really makes music.

In this respect Miss Vannes is ahead of her colleague. She at least makes groping efforts now and then to color her voice with some degree of personal expression and to vary the outpouring of vocal tone with those nuances and subtleties that define the meaning of music. Tho not recommended as a musical composition, she captured something of the quality of an arrangement of Chopin's E major etude called "Tristesse Eternelle", and did better than average justice to the inevitable "Ah, fors' é lui" from "La Traviata," even while innocent of the knowledge that upper tones can be beautiful as well as brilliant, and that a thrill should be more than a spasm of the throat muscles.

Miss Scott did best by that clever Puccini imitation, Marietta's aria from "Die todte Stadt," which floated on a well sustained line that thereupon bowed out for the rest of the evening. The more serious business of "D' amor sull' all rosee" from "Il Trovatore" suffered from a wabbly production and shrieky upper tones. And Miss Scott just shouldn't sing spirituals.

As for the duos, they started out beautifully with the letter duet from "The Marriage of Figaro," went foul with two prime slices of tripe called "Spring Wind" and "Go, Pretty Rose," and made a recovery with the melting thirds of Saint-Saens' "El Desdichado."

Thru the Looking Glass

Feeling rather low in spirit and dissatisfied with yourself and the world in general? If so, you're not exactly alone—the cheating kind of spring we've been having has been enough to make any one begin to droop. Rainy, dark days have a way of getting us down, and a gal needs some sort of antidote to help her perk up.

One of the best formulas we can think of is a trip to a beauty parlor for a little self-pampering. Perhaps you'd like to have a facial treatment, and along about this time of the year almost any woman could do with one. You'll find yourself relaxing as the operator cleanses and creams the face and gently massages it. The fragrant lotions and astringents used and the operator's soothing ministrations will make you think you're in the lap of luxury, and you'll begin to feel content and practically like a new person. When you take a peek into the mirror after the treatment you'll have a nice sense of satisfaction and be pleased with the complexion's clearer and brighter look.

If a facial treatment doesn't appeal to you, try having the hair restyled. You're probably tired of the way you've been wearing it anyhow, and now is an excellent time to experiment with a new coiffure. Put yourself in the hands of an expert stylist who will work out something that is becoming and practical for every day wear. Often a new hairstyle works wonders for the personality as well as the appearance, and you might find yourself having an entirely fresh and new outlook on life because you know you look your best.

Maybe you'll want to spend the whole day at the beauty shop having a series of treatments, and if so you'll discover that it will pay in general spirits. LOUISE DOOLEY.

MAYOR CHARGES 'GROUCH' CAUSED SCHOOL ATTACK

There's Answer to Each N. E. A. Point, He Says

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that a subcommittee of the National Education association, which issued a report Thursday after a five month investigation of the board of education, was brought into Chicago "by a couple of organizations with a grouch on" and was biased before it began the inquiry.

There are answers to all the questions raised in the report, Mayor Kelly said, adding that he was "sure the school board will be glad to give the answers." The mayor said he intended to read the full report and discuss it with the school board.

Divided Responsibility

"There are politics in educational organizations as well as everywhere else," the mayor said. "As far as school affairs go, I know that the superintendent always runs the educational end of the schools and the board runs the business matters."

Gov. Green, urged in the report to make an investigation of the Chicago school system, said the report had not been called to his attention and he could take no action until it was given him with a formal request for a state inquiry.

James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, stood pat on a statement he made Thursday and said he would have nothing more to say about the report, which charged the board with destroying teacher morale, a lack of integrity in school management, and financial irregularities.

Won't Consider Charges

"We are making a report to the people of Chicago in our centennial pamphlet which will be issued soon," McCahey said. He said he intended to ignore the N. E. A. report and would not consider any charges made against the school administration.

The report on the investigation was being studied yesterday by Ira S. Turley, president of the Chicago Teachers' union. One section of the report said teachers' organizations in the past had a reputation "for vigor and fearlessness" and expressed surprise at an alleged state of fear it said existed.

The teachers' union is affiliated with the American Federation of Teachers, whose executive secretary, Irvin R. Kuenzli, has charged that some educators were using the school investigation to undermine the union and win a larger membership for the N. E. A.

TRANSIT PLAN INDORSED BY COUNTY G. O. P.

Indorsement of the metropolitan transit authority proposition that will be placed before Chicago voters June 4 was voted at the meeting of the Republican county central committee in the La Salle hotel yesterday. County Chairman George M. Fisher announced the transit proposition had been approved with only one dissenting vote.

Chairman Fisher said the committee took no action on the various bond issues because they concern Chicago alone, and that the county committee membership included township committeemen. He pointed out that, while Chicago votes on June 4 on the transit authority, suburban areas will be called upon to vote for or against it at later dates.

While no general or sectional meetings are planned for the judicial campaign, Fisher said ward meetings will be held and Republican voters will be urged to support the transit plan as well as the coalition slate of 24 Circuit and Superior court candidates.

TERRY

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BEN MARKLAND

May 18, 1945.

THIS month's weather is forcing corn belt farmers to demonstrate the patience which is characteristic of men who work the land. While city folk fret about the rainy season and worry about the effects of cool, wet weather on their back yard vegetable gardens, farmers with hundreds of acres to be planted show little outward concern about the unfavorable season.

When we visited the men on the Fox River farm yesterday, they talked about the delay in corn planting necessitated by the May rains and agreed that some of the oats may be damaged in low fields, but they also pointed out that the heavy rains will have several beneficial effects to offset partly the delayed field schedule.

Reduces Insect Loss

For example, alfalfa stands are lush and strong as a result of the abundant rainfall; all fields and pastures have a reserve supply of moisture which will have a beneficial effect in case of summer drouth; the May rains should serve to reduce the number of chinch bugs that will damage corn and small grains, and the late planting of field corn and sweet corn undoubtedly will reduce damage by corn borers, which always menace early plantings.

The men on the Fox River farm like to make first plantings of field corn around May 15, but corn planted as late as June 15 usually will mature before frost time. The Fox River farmers have all their corn land plowed, and 90 acres is completely fitted for planting, so they are patiently standing by until the weather man produces enough sunshine and wind to dry their topsoil. Like their fathers and grandfathers, they know that no fretting can change the weather, so they get their regular quota of sleep and hope for clearing skies.

Lucky Time for Pigs

The men on the Fox River farm have been thanking fortune for their choice of farrowing seasons. Their hogs were bred two months earlier than usual last fall, so the sows farrowed in March instead of May this year. Luckily, March weather was dry and mild, so there were almost no farrowing losses. Farmers who bred for late April and May farrowing have been having extra work in saving pigs arriving during the cool, wet weather.

★The GARDEN★

PAPER wrappings on the stems of cabbage, pepper, and other transplanted vegetables [described yesterday in this space] provide almost certain protection against cutworms. The same sort of paper collars may be used on tomato transplants, and many gardeners are cutting paper milk cartons for use as shields against the same insect.

A milk carton, either quart or pint size, will make three protectors. The top and bottom of the container should be cut off and the carton cut into three lengths. When transplanting tomatoes, merely place one of the cardboard sections over the stem and press it about an inch into the ground. Thus is provided a "fence" which the cutworms cannot penetrate.

"The Gardener's Diary," 58-page book published by The Tribune, contains information on combating all common garden insects. It is available from The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and 435 N. Michigan av., for 15 cents over the counter, 18 cents in stamps or coin by mail.

FIND FIREMAN'S FATAL FALL WAS IN LINE OF DUTY

A verdict of accidental death in the performance of his duty was returned yesterday at an inquest into the death of Harry Reid, 51, of 1849 Grand av., a fireman who died of a skull fracture suffered in a fall while fighting a fire Thursday night at the Marvel Products company, 1474 Milwaukee av. Reid was overcome by smoke, revived on the scene, and then fell from the pump cart to the sidewalk. He is survived by his widow and six children, two of whom are in the army.

U. S. INJUNCTION HITS TIE-IN SALES BY LIQUOR FIRM

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday issued a preliminary injunction restraining the Royal Wine and Liquor company, Inc., from forcing liquor dealers to take so-called tie-in sales.

Francis Zimmerman, office of price administration attorney, said the wholesale liquor firm is accused of forcing dealers to buy other commodities in addition to the ones they want.

Zimmerman also accused the company of charging overceiling prices.

BUS LINES OPEN FIGHT TO SERVE I-M SUPER-ROAD

Commission to Hold Hearing May 29

As an offshoot of the proposal to construct a modern super-highway along the old Illinois and Michigan canal, a quarrel developed yesterday among several transportation companies for the privilege of operating buses along the route. Officials of the Illinois Commerce commission said a hearing was scheduled for May 29.

"The fact that there is competition for commercial business on a route that is still in the blueprint stage should be sufficient evidence that there is merit in the super-highway program," said Rep. Finucane [R., Chicago], a member of a legislative commission on the I. & M. canal route, which is no longer used as a waterway.

Applies for Certificate

The controversy started recently when Bluebird Coach Lines, Inc., applied for a certificate of convenience and necessity to operate as a motor carrier over the I. & M. route from Chicago to Joliet. Its petition said "there is a growing need" for an improved express highway along the canal.

Protests were quickly filed by other companies, including Illinois Greyhound Lines, Inc., and Chicago and West Towns Railways, Inc., operating in the same region. They argued that the matter should be held open until the canal route is ready to be placed into operation.

The Illinois and Michigan canal extended from S. Ashland av., thru Summit, Willow Springs, Lemont, Lockport, Joliet, and on to Peru. The proposed super-highway would connect with the municipal airport from Cicero av. and would provide a fast, safe, and economical artery across Chicago's southwest side to a connection with U. S. 66, the main highway into downstate Illinois.

Chicago-Joliet Route Cut

Highway engineers say the canal super-highway should extend as far as Summit before connecting with U. S. 66, Illinois 4-A, and other downstate highways. A state survey, however, is looking into the possibility of early construction as far as Willow Springs or Lemont, but in any event the super-highway would shorten driving time between Joliet and Chicago. Portions of the canal not used for the super-highway would be utilized for parkway and recreational projects.

Sen. Daley [D., Chicago] and Rep. J. Ward Smith [R., Ottawa] are drafting a bill to make permanent the legislative commission which is acting to straighten out legal preliminaries to reconversion of the canal. The present commission will expire June 30 unless additional legislation is passed. Smith is chairman of the group.

BRADWELL BOYS, GIRLS GIVE $1,000 FOR GI CENTERS

Chicago's service men's centers were further enriched yesterday by $1,000, presented to Mayor Kelly by pupils of the Bradwell school, who sold more than 100 tons of scrap paper to raise the money. A delegation of pupils, accompanied by the assistant principal of the school, Mrs. Laverne Cleary, visited the mayor's office, where Buddy Dinges, 13, of 7618 Essex av., "mayor" of the school, proudly handed the check to the city official. The check brought to $2,100 the money the school has donated to the service men's centers. The delegation included the king and queen of the scrap drive, William Cofel and Carolyn Croft, both 13.

TERMINAL AUTHORITY PROPOSAL IS DROPPED BY KELLY AND GREEN

Mayor Kelly yielded yesterday to the protests of railroad officials and announced that he is abandoning the Chicago terminal or port authority bill now before the state senate. As a substitute, the mayor said a new bill would ask creation of a special commission to study the city's railroad, truck, and bus line facilities.

His announcement followed a conference with Fred G. Gurley, president of the Santa Fe railroad, and Holly Stover, president of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, a subcommittee representing executives of the rail lines serving Chicago. They told the mayor they were opposed to the proposal for a governmental agency to control terminals.

"I concur in the decision to delay action," Gov. Green said in a statement. "I also heard from President Gurley and feel that if private enterprise can solve these problems it should be given every opportunity to do so. I trust that any commission to study the problem will include members of the general assembly."

TIRES AND TOOLS STOLEN

Karil Karafchik, 4419 N. Springfield av., owner of the gasoline station at 1147 N. California av., told police yesterday that burglars forced open the door Thursday night and took four tires and tools valued at $495.

COURT DECIDES WHEN DICE TABLE ISN'T DICE TABLE

The Appellate court yesterday held that there is no such thing as gambling paraphernalia that could of itself be considered such and be deemed contraband.

The decision, written by Justice Joseph Burke and concurred in by Justices Roger J. Kiley and John J. Lupe, was handed down in an appeal by the state's attorney from a decision by Judge Rudolph Desort of roulette, dice, and poker tables seized in a raid, later held illegal, at the Rock Gardens, a notorious gambling house at 4730 Cermak rd., Cicero.

The Appellate court's decision held gambling paraphernalia cannot be defined as such unless it is shown that "money was staked, wagered, won or lost" upon the equipment. This left authorities still in possession of the equipment and facing a civil suit for its return.

True Bills Name Store Aid in $55,000 Forgery Case

The grand jury was reported yesterday to have voted two true bills charging forgery of credit slips and vouchers against Kenneth E. Rolfe, 33, who confessed he took $55,000 from Mandel Brothers department store while assistant manager of the furniture contract department. Bond was set at $25,000 on each true bill.

STILL NO MEAT, NOW NO EGGS, N. Y. EATS FISH

New York, May 18 (AP)—Meatless New Yorkers asked for eggs today and couldn't get them, so they bought fish in unprecedented quantities.

The fish supply—900,000 to 1,000,000 pounds of the salt water variety per day—was 300,000 pounds above normal and was about the only bright spot in an otherwise dark food picture.

Meat continued virtually unobtainable and poultry receipts hit an all-time low of 6,000 pounds.

A "terrific demand" for eggs has developed, trade sources said, altho the supply is off 20 per cent.

The city invoked priorities for the first time to get eggs for hospitals but was able to purchase less than half the normal weekly supply.

Independence Drives to Be Closed for Repair

The south and west drives of Independence square and the west drive of Independence blvd. south of 13th st. will be closed to traffic next week for resurfacing work.

THEFT OF $660 IS CHARGED TO BAR HOSTESSES

Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Felony court yesterday deferred until Tuesday hearing of grand larceny charges against three hostesses of the Owl club, a tavern at 27[illegible] Madison st., who were accused of having stolen $660 from Donald Rieck, 30, of 422 N. Waller av., a customer, on Tuesday.

The hostesses are Lorraine Stack, 19, of 2709 Washington blvd.; Mrs. Babe Reed, 21, and Mrs. Lucille Collins, 24, both of 111 S. Sacramento blvd., from whom police said they recovered $570.

Mrs. Collins' husband, William, and James Spurlock, 34, of 2800 Washington blvd., a bartender, also were arrested on larceny charges. Reed J. Carson, 42, owner of the tavern, was charged with selling liquor after closing hour.

BY EDWARD BURNS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 18—Paul Erickson, who trained privately this spring while driving a Rogers Park milk wagon; Ray Prim, who trained privately near his home in Los Angeles; Jorge Comellas, who prepared near his home in Havana, Cuba, and Hy Vandenberg, who trained privately in the University of Minnesota fieldhouse, Cub pitchers all, made quite a show of themselves tonight before 31,334, largest Brooklyn crowd of the season. The final score, Dodgers 15, Cubs 12, will give you some idea of the way the Cubs frittered away power in absorbing a sixth straight whipping.

Ironically enough, Comellas, who did the best pitching of the quartet, and had only one hit, a homer by Goody Rosen, made off him, was the losing pitcher.

This Gets Worse and Worse!

After the Cubs had scored four runs in the first inning, including a homer by Andy Pafko off Leroy Pfund, Wheaton [Ill.] college football and basketball coach, Erickson started to protect the lead, making his first competitive pitch of the year. He loaded the bases with none out, and tho the three runners scored on a homer by Luis Olmo off Prim, the three of the four runs were charged to Paul's account.

The Cubs gave a 6 to 4 lead to Prim with two markers in the second inning, in which they knocked out Pfund and brought on Ben Chapman. Prim pitched a homer to Bill Hart in the third to shorten the lead to 6 to 5. Then he loaded the bases with none out in the fifth and pitched a triple to Olmo, after which Olmo scored to make the score 9 to 6 for the Dodgers.

Nicholson Ties Score

Bill Nicholson tied the score at 9 to 9 with a three run homer off Chapman with two out in the sixth. Comellas pitched the home sixth, struck out Chapman, threw out Eddie Stanky, pitched that homer to Rosen, then threw out Augie Galan to conclude his chore for the inning.

Vandenberg pitched the last two innings and was hammered for five runs, the Dodgers starting off against him by filling the bases with none out for the third time in the game.

The Cubs, after failing to score after loading the bases in the seventh, when they were only one run behind, made three runs in the ninth off Vic Lombardi, when it was much too late to mean anything.

Hack Gets Four Hits

The Cubs, in contrast with their six-single showing in which they were shut out by the Giants in their first lamp game night before last, made 14 hits tonight, including a double, three singles also a walk by Stan Hack, a double and a single by Don Johnson, that homer, a single, and a walk by Nicholson, two singles and two walks by Phil Cavarretta and a homer and a single by Pafko, who also got on base when he was hit by a pitched ball.

11,000 Turn Out for Final Golf Classes

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

The 13th free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE and the Illinos section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America came to a happy and climatically healthy conclusion last night on the four courses of the Chicago park district. An enrollment of 11,000 turned out to get the benefit of the free lessons by the Illinois P. G. A. members, raising the 13 year aggregate of instructions to 485,000.

The peroration to this oldest and largest system of group teaching in the fundamentals of golf will transpire on Monday, when the members of the Illinois P. G. A. will journey to Shoreacres to a special clinic and tournament for the hospitalized service men at the Great Lakes hospital. The event will feature presentation by Alex Cunningham of North Shore, president of the Illinois section, of a large number of golf balls to the veterans. Similar presentations will be made in clinics to be held later at Vaughan and Gardiner General hospitals.

Eddie Bush, pro at Oak Park Country club, gives Rita Loeffler pointers on correct stance and grip at Columbus park class last night.

Columbus Park Leads

Columbus park, cradle for many west side golfers, produced the largest crowd of the final lesson, which was devoted to a resume of every angle of the game at all four courses. It also brought out the largest faculty. Bill Gordon of Tam o' Shanter introduced two stars in Ralph Guldahl of Medinah, winner of of the 1937 and 1938 National Open titles and three time Western Open winner, and Eddie Bush of Oak Park, Illinois section secretary-treasurer, who hit several shots for the Columbus class. So also did Harry Adams of St. Charles.

Joining them in giving tips to the west siders were Pete Wilcox of Riverside; his assistant, Orville Broker, who proved that the loss of a leg and an eye with the marines at Saipan are no deterrents to walloping a ball; Pete Thomas of Chicago Golf, Pat McDonald of Rob Roy, Jim Foulis of La Grange, Lou Strong of Park Ridge, Ed Phelan of Oak Park, Jim Gourlay of Glencoe, and Johnny Holtz and John Chovonec of Tam o' Shanter.

The brothers Walsh, Tom of Westgate Valley and Marty of Hickory Hills, and the indefatigable Red Dennison of Midlothian, comprised the Marquette park faculty, and were hard pressed to satisfy the questions put to them by their pupils after they had given a practical shotmaking demonstration from A to Z. They were aided by Joe Wisowaty, the manager of the southwest side course, in their concluding lesson.

Talent and More Talent

Elmer Schacht of Ridge wound up his debut as the interlocutor at Jackson park with the busiest evening he had experienced, the old guard which has made the south side course one of the finest public layouts in the land rallying with enthusiasm. While Elmer handled the introductory chores, Byron Harcke of Twin Orchard, where an outstanding pro-amateur rehabilitation event will be held on June 17; Charley Penna of Beverly, Johnny Bird and Bob Shires of South Shore, and Julian Strud of Brookwood gave lessons in the game's rudiments. Harcke and Penna both hit a full repertoire of shots.

The Diversey classroom saw demonstrations by Johnny Revolta of Evanston, former National P. G. A. and Western Open champion, and Jimmy Hines, National P. G. A. tournament chairman, who now is residing in Chicago. The north side students also had expert instruction from President Cunningham and his able assistants, Bill Brown and Art Fladoos, Joe Paletti of Sunset Ridge, George Smith of Onwentsia, the Illinois P. G. A. champion; Norman Cameron of Green Acres, and Lew Waldron of Lloyd Voorhees practice range. Jerry Glynn of Knollwood, who manned the microphone, introduced Lillian Townsend in a special shotmaking demonstration.

Two P's or Not Two P's

If the war continues long enough
With its news from the battle scenes,
The day may come when my struggle is won
And I'll know how to spell Philippines.

Now is it two l's or is it two p's?
Each time that I go to write it
I have to consult a news sheet

East St. Louis	4	Lane	2
Rock Island	4	New Trier	1
Geneva	3	Peoria Normal	1

Champaign, Ill., May 18 [Special]—The promised battle between Oak Park and New Trier for the 51st state high school track championship lived up to expectations today and the two teams headed into tomorrow's final stage well fortified.

In today's preliminaries, conducted before 2,000 spectators at Illinois Memorial stadium, Oak Park set the pace with seven qualifiers and New Trier was next with six.

Warren Ely of New Trier led his team's path to the finals by setting a new shotput record of 54 feet 6 inches. This is 1½ inches over the former mark, set in 1943 by Martin Haufe of York. Ely will have four more chances in the finals tomorrow to extend his mark.

Ely Fifth in Discus

Two final events were held today, and at least one of them may affect the final result of the meet. In the discus, Ely, who had made 140 feet the last week, attained only 137 feet 4¼ inches today to finish fifth. New Trier had hoped he might get a third to enhance its chances against Oak Park.

The winner of the event, Bob Williams of Galesburg, was a surprise since he threw it 147 feet 8½ inches, or 15 feet better than his district throw a week ago. Jim Fuchs of Hyde Park, the pre-meet favorite, was fourth at 140 feet ½ inch.

The broad jump final was won by Bob Meanary of Evanston, who made 22 feet 1 inch on his last try to beat out Dick Ogleboy of Rock Island by one-half inch.

Warfield Leads Hurdlers

In today's preliminaries, both New Trier and Oak Park gained in unexpected quarters. New Trier helped its stock by qualifying Jim Kearney in the quarter mile and Littrell Clark in the 220 yard dash.

Other qualifiers for the big team from Winnetka were Dick Warfield, whose times of :15 and :22.4 set the pace in both hurdle events and Jim Smith, who ran :22.5 for the second best low hurdle mark.

Oak Park's surprise came in the shotput. Al Wahl, whose district effort was only seventh in the statewide compilation, made his first put today the best of his life, 50 feet. Going into the final tomorrow, he ranks third behind Ely and Jim Byler of Hyde Park.

Callinan Takes It Easy

Joe Angner of Oak Park who paced the half milers in 1:58.8, was pressed by Dick Kalish of Morton [Cicero], whereas Tom Callinan of Wheaton, the favorite, loped to an easy victory in 2:01.3. Remaining Oak Park qualifiers were Don Hoover and Don Brandeau in the high hurdles; Chet Hosinger, low hurdles, and Pierre Peloquin and Ed Ulvestad, pole vault.

Predictions that the 100 yard dash would produce the most exciting final were sustained by today's preliminaries. Jim Fuchs of Hyde Park set the pace in :09.9 but three others—Lindsay Bradley, Phillips; Chuck Peters, Blue Island, and Dick Feistal, Lane—were timed in :10 flat.

One Champion Dethroned

One defending champion was ousted. Bill Augustine of Aurora East, trying for another half mile crown, ran third in his preliminary heat behind Jim Gallatin of Carlyle and Wellesly Goodwin of Wethersfield.

The two defending champions who survived were Kendall Free-

MOVIE STARS TO JOIN BOND DRIVE AT SPORTSMAN'S

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Hollywood celebrities will join forces with the Illinois racing board at Sportsman's Park this afternoon to stimulate the sale of 7th war loan bonds. Pat O'Brien, Humphrey Bogart, Laren Bacall, Ida Lupino, and Sophie Tucker will be introduced from the judges' stand after the running of the $2,500 Cicero handicap, the featured sixth race.

Frank E. Mandel, a member of the racing board who has spent the entire week obtaining bids in war bonds for choice box seats for today's program, will announce the results. In addition to the racing board, other box holders who have relinquished their finish line positions are John L. Keeshin, president of the track; Charles W. Bidwill, vice president; Ald. James B. Bowler, Sam Ruby, Al Horan, and State Sen. William J. Connors.

Keeshin announced yesterday that he had sold his box for today to Fred Klein of the Klein Bros. Textile Co., New York, for Mr. Klein's purchase of $200,000 worth of war bonds.

Seven to Run in Feature

The Cicero will be run today as the Pat O'Brien purse and has drawn a field of seven including the Happy Hour farm's Rosy Brand, A. S. Higgins' Quizzle, and J. M. Hutchins' Valdina Malden. Amalka, Tough Target, Van Flag, and Ibex complete the list.

Apprentice Billy Nichols, who scored a triple Thursday and went into the lead for riding honors, opened yesterday's card with his eighth victory, booting home A. S. Higgins' Jubilate Boy a length in front of Mrs. B. Harbutt's Cloe-Flight. Mill Pomp, the odds-on favorite, was third. The winner paid $12.20 and with E. Waltz's Whyso in the second provided a $41.80 daily double.

Nichols came across with his ninth triumph in the third race aboard Mrs. Monte Weil's Minta H in a five furlong affair for 3 year olds and upward. Happy Hour farm's Sibley was second and Kay and Lamps' Bleecher third.

Mrs. T. M. Priett's Conscript, another odds on favorite, accounted for the fourth race, easing past H. W. Ostle's Epizar as they hit the stretch and winning easily.

Lovely Trace Wins

Two $1,100 purses topped the bill, Mrs. L. Lapuyade's Lovely Trace, ridden by Sylvester Haynes, taking the Brookfield, sixth on the card as J. Simons' favored Winter Song had to be content with third. Ci Light, owned by M. G. Farnsworth, was second. The winner returned $5.40 for a $2 ticket.

The favorite, Mrs. R. Freeman's Ibex, got out in front in the co-feature and never was headed, winning by two lengths under a good ride by Aullie Carr. B. C. Kelly's Van Flag was second and H. P. Christiansen's Chance Taker got the show.

Yesterday's attendance was 7,452 and the mutuel handle $515,943.

Big Ten Track Teams in Last Tuneup Today

Western conference track teams will participate in dual meets today as their final tune-ups for next Saturday's Big Ten carnival at the University of Illinois.

Illinois' invasion of Notre Dame heads the list of encounters. Coach Leo Johnson will use Bob Kelley, conference 440 yard champion, in the 880 and mile in a final test to determine whether he can get into shape for next Saturday's meet. Johnson's main problem with the Illini squad has been the loss of Kelley and Bill Buster, the latter in the sprints, because of leg injuries. Buster has been working out since pulling a muscle in the Drake relays but it is still problematical whether he will be ready for the Big Ten meet.

Bray Joins Squad

His absence in the sprints has forced Johnson to employ Captain Marce Gonzalez, who is better at 220 and 440, in the 100 yard dash. This week, however, Quarter-miler Joe Johnson was transferred from the V-12 unit to active duty and Gonzalez will compete in the two longer runs. Illinois' main hope in the century will be George Walker, who also will run the low and high hurdles.

Eddie Bray, more widely known for his football feats, has joined the Illini squad in an effort to help settle the sprint problem but he will not be ready for today's meet.

Kelly Is Irish Star

Notre Dame, which last week upset the favorite, Purdue, to capture the Indiana state collegiate crown, is not expected to have sufficient all-around strength to offset Illinois' team balance. Joe Kelly, Irish weight star, probably will win the shot put and discus. Kelly incidentally will compete against another Illini football player who has just joined the squad, End Lou Agase, in the discus.

The 120 yard high hurdle race between Walker and Notre Dame's W. E. O'Neil may develop into the best duel of the day.

Purdue Invades Michigan

Michigan's defending Big Ten championship team, which is a prohibitive choice to win its third consecutive team title and its 21st since the games were inaugurated, will be host to Purdue's Boilermakers. The Wolverines naturally rate the favorite position today altho several good individual duels are in prospect.

Wisconsin's better power in the distance races and the field events should give the Badgers a victory today over Minnesota whom the Badgers defeated last week in a triangular meet which also included Northwestern. Today's event will be held in Minneapolis.

Indiana will compete in its only dual meet of the season as host to Michigan State's 13 man squad in the first outdoor meet between the two schools.

Western Michigan will compete on the Ohio campus of Miami university where the host school should emerge triumphant, and Illinois Tech's best squad in history will close its dual season against Lawrence college on the latter's field.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The White Sox met up yesterday with Dave Ferriss, late of the army air forces, and after looking him over decided he was all, if not a bit more, than they had been reading about. Corp. Dave, now wearing a Red Sox uniform, added nine more runless innings to his freshman account by picking off Jim Dykes' boys, 2 to 0, in the series opener in Comiskey park. It was the Mississippian's third whitewash job in four starts, his total run yield in the 36 innings being a miserly two.

Joe Haynes, who worked against the 23 year old army dischargee, was a pretty good workman in his own name, surrendering five hits to four by the Boston expert.

Chicagoans Have One Lapse

But Haynes had troubles besides those caused by the enemy bats. From this combination blossomed the lone runs of the matinee. He held his own against Ferriss for seven innings but a fielder's choice failed to work in the eighth and a moment later Guy Curtright experienced staggers, or something, to convert an ordinary fly into a double with two men on bases.

The White Sox attack was so gentle that only 29 men were officially at bat, altho five reached base. Three of these were erased in double plays. The Chicago Sox didn't even come up with their first hit until the fourth when Curtright, who had previously walked, led off with a single to center. There wasn't another hit until Johnny Dickshot singled with two gone in the seventh. He moved to second on a single by Bill Nagel and it developed that he was the only Chicagoan to get beyond first base. The only Sox to survive in the last two innings was Roy Schalk, who singled in the eighth and wos doubled a moment later.

Ferriss Starts Winning Rally

Along with his pitching, Ferriss furnished something important on attack by singling to open the eighth. Skeeter Newsome bunted and Nagel heaved the ball to second too late and both runners were safe. Haynes retired the next two men on pop ups and this brought up Bob Johnson who early in the debate had doubled. He also doubled this time but it was the ball Curtright permitted to sail over his head, the two runs scoring.

The first of Johnson's doubles came at the start of the second inning and Haynes got out of this mixup by holding the three subsequent hitters to infield rollers. He ran into another slight flurry in the third when, with two out, Cass Michaels erred on two successive plays. This situation was relieved when George Metkovich flied to Dickshot.

From this point until Ferriss' single in the eighth only two Boston fellows reached base.

GREEN DEFEATS TERRY FOR 24TH VICTORY IN ROW

New York, May 18 (AP)—Harold Green, Brooklyn welterweight, extended his current undefeated streak to 24 bouts by gaining an unanimous decision over tough Frankie Terry, also of Brooklyn, in a bruising 10 rounder at St. Nicholas arena tonight.

A crowd of 2,936, gross gate $7,674, saw Green, 152½, put on a savage rally in the last two rounds to win decisively. Terry weighed 155½.

WEST. MICHIGAN NINE WINS OVER NOTRE DAME, 13-6

Notre Dame, Ind., May 18 [Special].—Settling down after a shaky start, Charley Maxwell pitched Western Michigan college to a 13 to 6 baseball victory over Notre Dame this afternoon, as the teams opened a two game series. The victory enabled the Broncos to gain revenge for the 26 to 10 defeat handed them by the Irish two weeks ago.

The winners scored five runs on one hit, John Mudie's double, in the second inning, three Irish errors and a wild pitch by Jack Stewart, first Notre Dame pitcher, helping the cause. Score:

Western Michigan 150 001 312—13 13 2
Notre Dame ......010 100 004— 6 9 7
Batteries—Maxwell and Marks; Stewart, Gehring, Tracey and Murphy.

EAST ROCKFORD GOLFERS LEAD IN STATE TOURNEY

Urbana, Ill., May 18 [Special]—Chuck Lindgren of East Rockford took the lead in the first 18 holes of the state high school golf meet today with a six-over-par 78. Second place was a tie between a teammate, Hiram Loveland, and Lyle Licht of Urbana, each with 79. Sharing fourth place with 80s were Pete Fletcher of Champaign and Koteff of Thorntown township [Harvey].

East Rockford took a 15 stroke lead over New Trier, its closest rival for the team championship, with a four man aggregate of 324. East is seeking its fourth straight title.

Souchek of Taft shot the best score of any golfer from the Chicago City league, an 81, which tied for sixth. The final 18 holes will be played tomorrow.

Following are the team scores in today's play: East Rockford, 324; New Trier, 339; Glenbard, 341; Moline, 344; Taft, 354; Peoria Central, 357; Champaign, 358; Centralia, 362; West Frankfort, 363, and Tilden, 380.

ANNUAL MIDWEST PREP MEET WILL BE HELD TODAY

The 19th annual Midwest Prep conference track meet will be held at Elgin academy today. Athletic Director Frank Limacher of the host school is in charge of the meet.

St. John's Military academy broke the four year reign of Culver as champion by taking the meet last year, scoring a total of 60 6-10 points, while Culver finished second with 36 4-10.

Other schools entered in the meet are Park of Indianapolis, Ind.; Lake Forest academy, and Pullman Tech. Pullman was the third place team last year. There will be a total of 12 events, and an 880 yard relay, with preliminaries being held in the morning, and finals starting at 1:30 o'clock.

PHILS GET WEST

Bradenton, Fla., May 18 (AP)—Lewis West, Bradenton High's all-south Florida conference pitching star, was en route to Philadelphia today to spend the rest of the season with the Phillies, his father, Frank West, said today.

OPEN 2 DAY PREP CATHOLIC MEET THIS AFTERNOON

The annual Catholic High School league junior outdoor track meet will be held today and tomorrow afternoon at Key Branch stadium, Roosevelt rd. and Central av.

After winning the meet for three consecutive years, St. Ignatius placed second last year with 30¾ points, while Loyola academy finished on top with 37¾ points. Leo was third with 17¾. Other schools entered—St. George, De Paul academy, Mt. Carmel, St. Rita, Fenwick, St. Mel, and St. Philip will be represented for the first time.

John [Hicks] Connolly of Loyola has two men back from the team which won the title last year. They are Joe Lahart who won the pole vault, and John Maloney, another pole vaulter.

St. Ignatius probably will be the favorite to regain its title because of recent victories in the sixth Loyola relays and in the first annual junior relay carnival.

Events include the 100 and 220 yard dashes, 660 yard run, 120 yard low hurdles, ¾ mile run, eight pound shot put, pole vault, high jump, broad jump, and ½ mile relay.

N. U. Golfers Win from Chanute; Play Illini Today

Chanute Field, Ill., May 18 [Special]—The Northwestern university golf team defeated Chanute field, 10 to 0, today for its eighth victory in nine matches this season. The Wildcats will play Illinois in Champaign tomorrow.

HURLERS SHINE AS SUN BLESSES PREP BASEBALL

Chicagoland prep baseball teams, many games behind schedule and seeking to squeeze in a game whenever the weather man allows, yestoday played off a heavy schedule in the first action of the week.

Proviso High school, defending state champions, passed hurdle No. 1 by defeating Arlington Heights, 2 to 0, in the Franklin park district. The Proviso team will play Niles today in the finals, with the winner competing in the Oak Park sectional meet next Saturday.

Oak Park Defeats Argo.

In the Oak Park district the Villagers beat Argo, 1 to 0, as Gene Hoffman held the losers to one hit.

Harrison High school was dropped from the undefeated list in the Chicago City league as Farragut won, 2 to 1, in Douglas park. It was the first loss in seven for Harrison.

Jim Pacenka of Tilden hurled one hit ball as Tilden shut out Lindblom, 9 to 0, in Fuller park, while Steinmetz defeated Austin, 4 to 2, in eight innings in Columbus park to take first place in the west section.

Fenger Beats Hirsch

Fenger won its sixth victory in the south section by blanking Hirsch, 10 to 0, in West Pullman park, while Taft's north section leaders won their fifth in a row by defeating Amundsen, 5 to 3.

Concordia remained in first place in the Private School league by defeating Chicago Latin, 10 to 0, in Concordia. Line scores:

Wildcats Lose to Buckeye Nine, 4 to 2

Ohio State defeated Northwestern, 4 to 2, yesterday in Evanston as eight Wildcat errors marred a promising pitchers' duel between Don Grate of the Buckeyes and Dick Bokelman of the Wildcats. The two teams finish their Big Nine series this afternoon at 2 p. m.

Bokelman outpitched Grate during his seven inning tenure. The Wildcat hurler yielded only two hits and one walk while striking out six. Grate gave up five hits in nine innings, ganned 11, but issued eight bases on balls.

FOREIGN TRADE VIEWED AS KEY TO PEACE GAINS

Market Abroad Can Take Surpluses

Foreign trade can be the "shock absorber to smooth out the bumps" of post-war progress, Eric A. Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said yesterday in Washington, D. C. His statement was issued in recognition of the war time national foreign trade week which starts tomorrow.

"Before the war we suffered from a surfeit of surpluses," he said. "After the war we will have more workers, more plants, more machinery, and greater skills than we ever had before. This increase in productivity can be a curse or a blessing.

"The war has left a world hungry for goods. If we, in the exuberance of our return to peace time production, produce too many automobiles, or too much wheat, or a surplus of machine tools, there should be an immediate market for many of these things overseas."

Must Work Both Ways

Johnston cautioned, however, that foreign trade cannot move in a single direction and that unless the United States intends to give its surpluses away, either outright or in the "disguised form" of uncollectible loans, it must accept foreign goods and services in return.

"We must abandon the unreasoning belief that it is virtuous to export, but immoral to import," he said. "No nation raises its standards of living by merely increasing its exports—it is by increasing our volume of both exports and imports that we will obtain more goods to consume and, therefore, higher levels of prosperity.

"Reconversion of our industry to the ways of peace will not be easy. It will be doubly difficult if we turn our eyes inward and strive futilely for an economic self-sufficiency which is unworkable and unnecessary. On the other hand, it will be facilitated if goods are free to flow internationally and thus relieve economic pressures."

"Private Responsibility"

Secretary of State Stettinius in a statement said private enterprise would have the responsibility for conducting foreign trade in peace time. He asserted that private persons, not government, would decide what was to be bought and sold and in what quantities and at what prices.

Secretary of Commerce Wallace said he hoped for annual exports valued at "well over" 10 billion dollars with employment at the 60 million goal set for peace time. He said exports at this level would be double those of 1929 and in terms of employment would mean about 5 million jobs against fewer than 2½ million before the war.

Pay Gain Far Exceeds Store Sales Rise

Steel, Motor Stocks Push Prices Higher

New York, May 18 (AP)—Buying of steels, motors, and other stocks with favorable post-war prospects today pushed the market higher for the third successive session.

Extension of the upswing started at the opening and the largest advances were of 2 or more points. Rails turned uneven and other highs were reduced by profit cashing at the close. Dealings quickened at intervals and transfers of 1,430,000 shares were largest since May 10.

Bidding again was based on the belief that cutbacks would not be extensive, that governmental restrictions on industry would rapidly be removed and that pent-up consumer purchasing power would provide substantial earnings for companies returning to normal production. Board rooms remained cautious when reported Japanese peace feelers emphasized the economic unsettlement which may follow surrender.

RAILROAD BONDS ADVANCE

New York, May 18 (AP)—Railroad bonds were generally higher today, altho scattered issues declined fractionally. Interest centered in a few carrier groups and sales were $9,740,000, compared with $10,150,000 yesterday.

Baltimore and Ohio obligations advanced fractions to more than 2 points. Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh 1957 stamped were up 1¼, Northern Pacific 4½ rose 2⅛, and Minneapolis and St. Louis 4s advanced 1⅛.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER

Prices extended the rise in increased turnover of 51,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Volume leaders included Central and South West Utilities, up ⅜; Cherry-Burrell, up ½; and Peabody Coal, Asbestos Manufacturing, and Commonwealth Edison, all unchanged.

People and Events

Lt. Herman Buckley, recently retired from the army, has returned to Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., as director and merchandise manager of the food divisions, the company said yesterday. Buckley served two and a half years in the army, including 18 months in the African, Sicilian, and Italian campaigns.

Lt. Herman Buckley

Maj. Spencer W. Franc, on military leave since June, 1942, has returned to Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc., as an art director. He was with the maintenance division at Wright field, Dayton, O., as publications officer at headquarters, air technical service command.

Appointment of W. R. Bellows as midwestern regional manager for the Packard Motor Car company, with headquarters in Chicago, was announced yesterday by L. W. Slack, vice president and general sales manager. The region includes Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee, St. Louis, and Minneapolis. Bellows will continue as vice president and general manager of the Packard Motor Car Company of Chicago. C. E. Stube was named Chicago zone manager and R. C. Quinlevan was made Milwaukee zone manager.

W. R. Bellows

George R. Manz has been appointed assistant to the treasurer of Abbott Laboratories. Manz has been with the company since 1918.

George R. Manz

Leroy J. Taylor, general manager of Libby, McNeill & Libby's California fruits division, was elected a director of the company to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of William A. Gellersen.

Offices of the Central Motor Freight association and the Central States Motor Freight bureau today will be moved from 616 S. Michigan av. to the 15th floor of the Heyworth building, 29 E. Madison st., Chester G. Moore, chairman of both groups, said.

Accuse China Bank Aids in Gold Scandal

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—At least two Chungking banking officials, and possibly 18 more, face impeachment proceedings in connection with China's multi-million dollar "gold scandal," Chinese press reports said today.

News of the speculative buying wave which hit the Chungking gold market March 28, involving some gold loaned by the United States, is coming to light in Washington thru tight Chinese censorship.

Punishment Is Promised

Just before leaving Washington last night to return to the San Francisco conference, Foreign Minister T. V. Soong of China said the guilty persons behind an official leak which caused the speculative wave will be punished drastically.

An investigation which he ordered before he left Chungking is still in progress.

News leaked out prematurely that the official price of gold was to be raised from 20,000 Chinese dollars to 35,000 per ounce. Quick fortunes were made by those who got wind of the rise in time to buy gold at the old price.

Today it was ascertained that a Chungking business daily, Shang Wu Jih Pao, reported on April 25 that the Control Yuan had instituted impeachment proceedings following an investigation.

Bank Hours Extended

The paper said that the Central Bank of China, its subsidiary, Central Trust, the bank of communications, and the bureau of postal savings and remittance all extended their office hours on March 28 from 5 to 9 p. m. to facilitate gold transactions.

This extension could not have been ordered by underlings, said the paper, and must have involved the consent of several higher officers. It said some such officers "have been put under the category of impeachment."

Some of the gold involved was flown into China by American planes as part of a loan to enable the Chinese government to stabilize its inflated currency by buying surplus notes.

Speculation precipitated by the leak at least doubled a normal day's business, and black market gold transactions leaped sympathetically in volume and price.

EUROPE'S FAITH IN CARTEL HELD BARRIER TO BAN

British Have Many, Senators Told

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—The cartel idea is entrenched so firmly in Great Britain and Europe that a proposed international agreement banning cartels faces many obstacles, Allen C. Phelps, director of export for the federal trade commission, today told two senate committees studying curbs on cartels.

Phelps testified at hearings on a bill that would require public filing of all foreign contracts in an effort to halt transactions alleged to restrict commerce and establish monopolies.

British Lead in Field

"The idea of permitting, encouraging or sponsoring combinations in restraint of trade is rather well entrenched in many countries, in Europe particularly," Phelps said. "For example, in 1914, Great Britain had about 350 trade associations, apparently encouraged by the government, devoted to collective marketing of British exports."

In addition, Russia may become a great exporter and, with all its foreign trade conducted by the soviet government, "provide formidable competition to American exporters in many markets."

Wendell Berge, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, urged passage of the legislation as a step toward eliminating cartels. He told of cases in which he said American and foreign companies agreed to divide markets in restraint of trade. In one instance, Berge said, the result was that I. G. Farbenindustrie of Germany was able to control output of American magnesium. He said Standard Oil of New Jersey agreed to stay out of the chemical industry in exchange for an agreement by I. G. Farben to stay out of petroleum.

Agreement Is Defended

Orville Harden, vice president of Standard, said that transaction made in 1929 benefited the country. By it, Standard obtained access to certain German technical developments which he said were far ahead of American research on the same subjects. It led directly, he contended, to United States development of high octane aviation fuel, synthetic toluene for the TNT in more than half the country's explosives, and the technique for making synthetic rubber, especially from oil.

Harden said his company paid 35 million dollars for the patents and know-how and "the only way we could get them [I. G. Farben] to sell this new technology to us was to agree to use it only in the oil business—not in the chemical business outside of oil. This wasn't difficult for us to agree to because we had never been and had no plans to be in the chemical business unrelated to oil."

Civilians to Get More Lumber; Butter Allotment Unchanged

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—The war production board today estimated that 13 per cent more lumber for civilian construction will be available in July, August, and September than in the current quarter.

Proposed third quarter allotments and reserves for construction, maintenance, and repair total 1,546,114,000 board feet, said WPB, and may be increased 300 to 400 million feet "when the full effects of recent cutbacks in military programs are felt by industrial users of lumber."

Supply Remains Tight

J. Philip Boyd, director of the WPB lumber division, predicted lumber would remain in tight supply for at least four or five months despite the increased allotments.

Civilian supplies of butter during June and July will remain at the present monthly rate of about 80 million pounds, the war food administration announced. Likewise, June supplies of cheese will hold at about the same level as in recent months—36 million pounds.

Set Aside Figures Released

WFA said manufacturers will be required to set aside 55 per cent of their June and 50 per cent of their July output of butter for war needs, the same as in May. The government will take 70 per cent of June cheddar cheese production compared with 65 per cent this month.

The government is following a policy of obtaining the bulk of its yearly military and lend-lease requirements of dairy products during the spring and summer months of heavy milk production.

Grain Futures Turn Higher; Trade Active

Grain futures turned higher yesterday in active trading on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat futures closed ⅜ to ½ cent a bushel higher, oats ⅜ to ¾, rye ⅜ to 1⅛, barley 1⅛ to 2⅛, and corn unchanged to ⅛ higher. Heavy trading in May futures resulted from evening up operations.

More favorable weather over the wheat and corn belts had little effect on prices. Commission houses and professional traders were on both sides of the deferred deliveries of wheat. Cash wheat held at ceiling prices in leading markets, but 325,000 bushels were purchased by Chicago handlers in the southwest in the last few days, presumed to be for delivery on May contracts.

Corn Reserves Short

Altho the United States harvested a record crop of corn last year a government program to pile up a reserve of 50 million bushels has fallen far short of the goal, officials announced. Only 21 million bushels were purchased up to April 30 for stock pile purposes, and European countries were reported forced to turn to Argentina for supplies. England has bought corn from Argentina recently, and additional business is pending.

Cash corn remained in active demand at ceiling prices. The country sold 265,000 bushels yesterday for deferred shipment. Less cash corn was reported held in country elevators in Iowa than was expected.

Lack Barley Offerings

Congestion has developed in barley and short covering and scattered commission house buying disclosed a lack of offerings. Feed dealers were reported heavy holders of May barley futures and wish delivery of the cash grain.

Australia was said to be inquiring for supplies of American malting barley because of its near crop failure. Argentine barley prices were 1¼ cents higher and have advanced about 14 cents a bushel since April 30 reflecting an enlarged demand from Europe.

STATE HOUSE VAULT PROPOSED TO GUARD SECURITIES, CUT COST

BY GEORGE TAGGE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., May 18 — State Treasurer Becker today told of his plan to save at least $30,000 a year by constructing a vault under the state house.

Becker will have a bill introduced in the legislature next week to appropriate $160,000 for the vault. He said this sum can be made up in about five years because Illinois is paying Chicago banks $30,000 a year to protect state investment securities valued at about 65 million dollars and collateral held against deposits of about 120 million in banks thruout the state. After that the vault would save money indefinitely, he said. If the vault is built, the state may decide to obtain a further saving and discontinue paying a premium of $4,000 a year for insurance on the securities.

Blue prints are ready for the vault which would be under the basement of the state house and extend under the grounds to the west. Because the grounds are lighted brightly all night and the treasurer's office is well protected, Becker believes the valuables would be even safer than in Chicago bank vaults. Gov. Green was said to have approved the plan.

PACKARD TESTS FOREMEN'S UNIT FOR BARGAINING

Detroit, Mich., May 18 (AP)—The Packard Motor Car company today challenged the legality of the national labor relations board's certification of the Foreman's Association of America as bargaining agent for Packard foremen.

George T. Christopher, Packard president and general manager, said he told Robert H. Keys, FAA president, that "to effectuate this legal procedure" the company "had to state its refusal to meet with the FAA for collective bargaining." He asked union coöperation in testing the point.

After Packard foremen voted about a month ago to be represented by FAA, Christopher said the company would continue to oppose such representation by all proper and legal means.

PROPOSE EARLY MARKETING OF CATTLE SUPPLY

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—The agricultural adjustment agency today called upon cattlemen to plan earlier than normal marketing of beef cattle this summer to help avoid late market congestion. The AAA said shortages in transportation and slaughter facilities easily could cause cattle to pile up unless the flow is regulated.

ASK CONGRESS RETAIN VETO ON SURPLUS SALES

House Naval Group Seeks Control

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—A veto power for congress on proposed sales of certain surplus federal property was urged today by the house naval committee.

"Too broad an unreviewed responsibility has been delegated to the executive department," it said in making a favorable report on a bill which would provide for a veto on disposition of major naval facilities.

Broader Power Proposed

Chairman Vinson [D., Ga.] told a reporter such authority "ought to be extended to other branches of the service and to all major surplus war goods." He said the bill could be amended to include all war facilities.

"We have heard a lot of talk recently about reorganizing congress," Vinson commented. "Well, one of the main things we must do is to give it back the power it was intended to have."

The committee report asserted the bill "would restore the constitutional system of checks and balances between the executive and legislative branches of the government by providing congress opportunity to exercise an effective veto voice."

"Under the surplus property act of 1944, excepting only the major units of the fighting fleet, congress virtually relinquished control of large areas of vital navy units and made it possible for the fighting strength of the post-war navy to be seriously impaired by dispositions concerning which the congress may know nothing until the ship or facility has passed from the ownership of the United States," said the committee.

The measure would require the navy to notify congress 60 days before any proposed sale of major facilities, such as drydocks, ships of 1,000 or more tons, navy yards, air fields, navy plants, or installations. If congress did not ban the sale during the 60 day period the navy would be free to proceed.

UNIONS DEMAND ALL OF BUILDING WORK—OR NONE

Detroit, Mich., May 18 (AP)—AFL building and construction trade union leaders warned Detroit industry today that unless AFL construction workers perform all construction work and make all original installations of equipment, they will refuse to work on any structure.

If a Detroit company with plants thruout the country violated the policy the AFL unions could refuse to work on construction and installation jobs in the company's other plants.

Herbert Rivers, secretary of the national AFL building and construction trades department, said the union would adhere to the policy "because in excess of 2 million building and construction workers depend upon this industry for their livelihood."

Chicagoan Submits Offer for California Properties

Charles H. Kaplan of Turner, Kaplan, Turner & Fasman, attorneys, yesterday said he had submitted an offer of 20 million dollars for all remaining assets other than cash of the Pacific States Savings and Loan company, San Francisco. The assets include several hotels in San Francisco and other California cities and 100 commercial and ranch properties. The offer was accepted by the state building and loan commissioner subject to a court hearing.

WPB APPROVES ILLINOIS UTILITY POWER STATION

Springfield, Ill., May 18 (AP)—Construction of a new Central Illinois Public Service company power station at Meredosia, Morgan county, has been approved by WPB, E. F. Kelly, company vice president, said today. Work will begin immediately.

Also approved was installation of the first 50,000 kilowatt turbine and a 138,000 volt transmission line to interconnect the new station with the company's Hutsonville power station in Crawford county on the Wabash river.

Kelly estimated construction cost at 10 million dollars and said the first unit will be in operation by the summer of 1947. A second unit of the same size is to be completed in 1949.

TRUCK OUTPUT TO START SOON AT STUDEBAKER

South Bend, Ind., May 18 (AP) — Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker corporation today announced that manufacture of civilian trucks will be resumed soon on a limited scale. Hoffman said authorization has been received from the government for production of a few new vehicles of one medium type. Production will be carried out on an assembly line formerly used for passenger cars.

HARD COAL PACT STALLS ON POINT OF PORTAL PAY

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP)—Questions concerning legal application of the portal-to-portal pay principle in the anthracite industry posed obstacles today in contract negotiations between United Mine Works and operators.

Subcommittees of both groups, agreeing tentatively to give the Pennsylvania anthracite miners a pay increase of $1.37½ cents a day, ran into a snag in reducing it to writing. The miners have been idle since May 1, when their old contract expired. The pay increase figure was suggested by Solid Fuel Administrator Ickes.

Technical language of the proposed contract, which would allow the anthracite miners underground travel time pay for the first time, was the stumbling block.

HOLABIRD & ROOT AID IN DESIGNING HOTEL IN BRAZIL

Rio de Janerio, Brazil, is looking to Chicago for ideas on hotel planning. Dr. Arnaldo Gladosch, Brazilian architect, yesterday arrived in Chicago and commissioned Holabird & Root to assist in designing what he said will be Rio's finest hotel, a 17 story reinforced concrete building to be owned by the Mesbla company.

It will be Rio's largest hotel, with 280 rooms. [Chicago's Stevens has 3,000.] Brazilians like large hotel rooms and bathrooms, John Root said. On the 17th floor the hotel will have a restaurant, winter garden, ballroom, and bar overlooking Rio's harbor.

Chicago Yellow Cab Co. Quarter Earnings Slip

Chicago Yellow Cab company yesterday reported March quarter net earnings declined to $71,984, or 28 cents a share, from $93,855, or 36 cents a share, in the first 1944 quarter. Tax provisions were $33,233, against $122,222 a year ago.

CATTLE PRICES STEADY ALTHO RECEIPTS FALL

Cattle buyers at the Chicago stock yards yesterday remained cautious to avoid an advance of prices which recently have declined despite low receipts. Only 1,200 head arrived, but prices held steady.

Hog arrivals again were lower. Only 9,000 head were received and buyers bought without regard for quality, weight, or sorting in their eagerness to obtain hogs. All sold at ceiling prices.

Lambs were in fair demand at steady prices when supplies fell again. Top grades sold at $15.85 a hundred pounds.

BENDIX AVIATION

I should like information on Bendix Aviation corporation's war time earnings and post-war outlook—W. F.

Most of Bendix Aviation's peace time products or their war time adaptations are employed so extensively in war equipment on land and sea, and in the air, that the company's increase in sales since 1939 has been among the most notable among American industries.

To its varied automobile, aircraft, and ship equipment lines the company has added new products. Among these are an air position indicator for planes, an aircraft compass, gasoline flow meter, direct fuel injection systems, and an electronic automatic pilot. Bendix is currently producing more than 100 types of radio, radar, and other communications and detection equipment.

Sales and other operating income mounted from $41,726,000 in 1939 to $869,663,000 in the fiscal year ended last Sept. 30. Net income a share in the same interval rose from $2.14 to $7.22. Average earnings for the five years ended with 1944 were about $6 a share. As a result of retained earnings, book value per share advanced from $14 in 1939 to $37.75 in 1944. The present dividend rate is $3 a share a year.

After the war, sales to the aviation and marine industries will decrease, but a good automobile equipment business is in sight. Some forecasts are that the company's profits will hold above the pre-war level. For the three years ended with 1939 they averaged only $1.09 a share.

4 MORE MINES ARE CLOSED BY BOSSES' STRIKE

Fairmont, W. Va., May 18 (AP)—Four more northern West Virginia coal mines employing 2,300 men and producing 14,100 tons daily suspended operations today because of mine bosses' demands for union recognition.

New shutdowns in Marion county increased to 7,700 the total number of workers idle in six Marion and 18 Monongahela county operations which turn out 60,000 tons per day.

Stop Wing Output

Scranton, Pa., May 18 (AP)—A work stoppage of 900 employes today tied up production at the bomber wing plant of the Murray Corporation of America. The regional war labor board in Philadelphia quoted union officials as saying, "It is an outlaw strike," resulting from a disagreement over payment for V-E day.

7,000 Return to Jobs

Detroit, Mich., May 18 (AP)—Some 7,000 Continental Motors corporation employes returned to their jobs today after ratifying a strike settlement agreement between the company and representatives of local 280, CIO United Automobile Workers.

OREGON UTILITY PLANS TO ISSUE 34 MILLION LOAN

Portland [Ore.] General Electric company yesterday asked securities and exchange commission authority to issue and sell under competitive bidding 34 million dollars of first mortgage bonds, due 1975. Proceeds and other funds which will be borrowed will be used to retire outstanding bonds.

Union Electric company of Missouri filed a proposal to issue 9 million dollars of 1⅛ per cent promissory notes, maturing Dec. 28, to be issued to 44 banks in exchange for 9 million dollars of 1⅛ per cent notes due June 28.

Stockholders authorized Joy Manufacturing company to borrow up to 5 million dollars, of which about 1⅛ million will be used to buy 53,800 shares of Sullivan Machinery company from Adams Express company. This purchase, plus 66,000 Sullivan shares already owned, will give Joy control of Sullivan and its subsidiaries.

SEASONAL GOODS INCREASE RETAIL SALES VOLUME

New York, May 18 (AP)—Retail trade volume rose slightly this week, aided by heavy purchases of Mother's day items and summer clothes and equipment, Dun & Bradstreet said today in its weekly business review. Consumers clamored for cottons, but accepted rayons when cottons were difficult to obtain, the review said.
